In a well-played and hard fought football game yesterday, between teams from West Kent School and the Hillsborough Consolidated School, the former were victorious by a score of 5 to 0. The West Kent team is the best one they have had for some time and their victory over the Consolidated School was unexpected. The standing of the two teams is now as follows—West Kent have won two and lost none; Consolidated School have won none and lost two. West Kent has made a score of eight to the Consolidated School's nothing, and there is yet one game to play.

LORD BERSFORD SPEAKS.
 LONDON, Nov. 4.—Speaking at the Royal Colonial Institute, Lord Bessford said that the future of Great Britain looked black and that we would only hold our own by keeping supremacy at sea.

The navies of the Empire should be interchangeable, and should have the same discipline and uniform signals.

He had found Canadians strong, healthy, cheery and energetic, the best specimen of the British race he had ever seen.

Canadian loyalty was unbounded their energy was splendid and they could very well have sat still on the question of defence, for they could shelter themselves behind the Monroe Doctrine. They were too proud to do that—they had decided to defend their trade routes.

Having alluded to the excellent feeling between Canada and the United States, Lord Bessford declared, "We should not talk of having a fleet that could win battles, we should rather aim at having an Empire fleet that nobody could attack at all."

Peary landing at Sydney and Cook at Capenhogen will be shown at New Wonderland to-night. 11-5d11

There was a splendid program at the Bijou last evening. The Old Kentucky, a great war scene, was sub-urbi and portrayed the love of country in its strongest sense. There was a sufficient comedy in a Case of Seltzer, quite a distance below. Pantomime was very badly hurt, an arm and a leg being broken, besides other less serious bruises. At a late hour last night he was doing as well as could be expected under the circumstances, though suffering much pain. Mr Macdonald was not so seriously injured as was at first supposed, and after a short time he resumed duties, but later went to his home and will lay off for a day or two.
