

DAILY SELECTIONS FOR GUARDIAN READERS

Published by W. R. Lawson

AT MY BEST.

Some day, while standing on the shores of time, Thoughtless and careless of another clime, If God should take the life I call my own, And summon me before the great "White Throne," Some lasting token I would leave behind, To tell I died in peace with all mankind.

It may be while some heart I love the best, Yet broods upon some idle word or jest, Oh mine; while tender eyes with tears are wet, My life star may in sudden darkness set, And pallid lids and hands be powerless, To give the loving word or fond caress.

Oh, loving friends, wherever you may be, Upon the land or on the trackless sea— If you should hear my life bark sail— ed away, Warmlessly, at the break or close of day, I love you always! Heed my last behest, Forget my faults—think of me at my best!

"SUPERIOR FOX PELTS.—Proof of the superiority of the breeding stock at the Upton Ranch is shown in the fact that one of the foxes is a descendant of a pure-bred Island fox whose pelt sold for $489 at the London sales. There is another fox owned by the company in the ranch, whose grand sire's pelt brought $480 at the London sales. 2541-11-7M6i.

RESIGNS JOB ON HUDSON BAY RY.

OTTAWA, November 11.—J. H. Armstrong, chief engineer of the Hudson Bay railway, has tendered his resignation to the minister of railways and canals, and it has been accepted. Mr. Armstrong proposes engaging in the contracting business and for this reason is leaving the government employ. He has been connected with this work since its commencement. He will be succeeded by J. Porter, who is on Major Leonard's staff in the construction of the National Transcontinental. It is also understood that the head offices of the Hudson Bay railway construction department will be moved from Winnipeg to Le-Pas. With the offices at Le-Pas the work of construction will be considerably expedited, as Winnipeg is too far from the scene of the work.

WELL KNOWN ARMY OFFICER TO RETIRE

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 12.—Col. Alexander O. Brodie, one of the best known officers in the army will be placed on the retired list tomorrow on account of age. Until recently Col. Brodie filled the post of adjutant general of the Western department with headquarters at San Francisco. His career in the army has been a most distinguished and eventful one. After his graduation from West Point in 1870 he was assigned to the First Cavalry, with which regiment he remained until he resigned from the army in 1877. During these seven years he was an active participant in the Indian wars in the West. After his resignation Col. Brodie engaged in civil engineering, mining and cattle raising until 1898, when he joined Col. Roosevelt's Rough Riders. He was lieutenant colonel of that organization and took part in its service in Cuba until he was seriously wounded at Las Guasimas and returned to New York. He was governor of Arizona from 1902 to 1905, and was then appointed a major in the regular army. He spent two years in the Philippines and four years as adjutant general of the department of Dakota. In 1911 he was transferred to San Francisco as adjutant general of the Western division.

Fortunately no one was hurt.

A WORTHY INCIDENT.—In the report appearing in yesterday's Guardian of the particularly interesting lecture on "Washington" delivered by United States Consul Wesley Frost in the Hearts Memorial Hall on Tuesday night, it was inadvertently omitted to make mention of a pleasing and worthy incident, that formed part of the proceedings. At the conclusion of the third phase of his address, Mr. Frost requested the audience to rise and sing the National Anthem, a request which was, of course, readily and heartily complied with.

NATIONAL GRANGE IN SESSION.

MANCHESTER, N. H., Nov. 12.—Sturdy American farmers with their wives and daughters were the honored guests of Manchester today on the occasion of the opening of the forty-seventh annual meeting of the National Grange, Patrons of Husbandry in whose ranks are enrolled more than 8,000,000 of the most practical agricultural experts in the world.

State and city officials and many of the representative citizens of New England are gathered to do honor to the visitors whose work for the elevation of the American farmer has been recognized and paid tribute by leading statesmen and industrial men of the United States.

This morning was devoted to the organization of the convention. At the afternoon session Oliver Wilson of Peoria, Ill., national master, delivered his annual address and reports were presented by the other officers. The remainder of the week will be given over largely to the conferring of degrees.

The business sessions will last ten days or two weeks. The relations of the currency bill to the farmer will be a leading topic of discussion. The effects of the new tariff law also will be considered. The principal social function of the convention will be a banquet next week in honor of the officers and delegates. Several speakers of national prominence will be heard at the banquet.
