STOCKHOLM, Feb. 8.—Playing in brilliant sunshine before a crowd of 6000 people, the Victoria Hockey Club of Montreal defeated a local hockey team here Saturday, 17 goals to one.

held last May under the auspices of the Canadian Tuberculosis Association. At this meeting arrangements were made for the distribution of the gift of $45,000 from the Association of Life Insurance Companies of Canada, supplemented by Government grants, to be spent on an Educational Campaign throughout the Maritime Provinces over a period of three years.

The Committee will supply and pay the salary of a chest specialist who will hold clinics twice a year in about fourteen different centres in the province; will pay $600 a year towards the nurse's salary and for the upkeep of a car. As yet no nurse has been appointed to the staff in accordance with this contract.

Dr. G. J. Wherrett, the specialist assigned for the clinic work held the first clinics in October and November, and will return to the Island again for May and June.

Report of Chest Clinics Carried on in Co-operation with Red Cross From October 12th to November 6th, 1926

Places visited: O'Leary, Alberton, Tignish, Tyne Valley, Summerside, Kensington, Stanley Bridge, Hunter River, Crapaud, Mont St. Peter, St. John's, Cardigan, Montague, Murray River, Elton, Charlottetown.

Personal contact was made with some forty doctors of the province. The clinics on the average were well attended. It was felt that the medical men of the Province appreciate the seriousness of the problem and the work they are doing in early diagnosis and prompt systematic treatment of individual cases cannot be over-estimated.

While institutional treatment of Tuberculosis is at present considered the most valuable way, there are a large number that can be treated successfully at home, and hospitalization or all cases is impractical and too costly.

These were cases in which there were families of small children, and under home treatment infection of these innocent victims is inevitable if something is not done to provide treatment beds. Among this class are those in which home conditions make it impossible for these patients to have a chance of recovery.

At present the only ones who are able to obtain Sanatorium treatment, must do so at great expense to themselves by seeking admission to Sanatoria in New Brunswick and Nova Scotia (who already find it hard to provide beds for their own unfortunate patients complain bitterly of the negligence of the Province in not providing them a chance for their own life or safeguarding the health of their family.

Number of cases found urgently requiring institutional treatment—24.

Thanks are due to the Provincial Red Cross for their excellent work in organizing the clinics, the Medical men for their hearty good will and co-operation and the Premier for interest and encouragement.

The Division is greatly indebted to the Prince Edward Island Government for their donation of $3,500, for which the Division extends their great appreciation and thanks. The thanks of the Division for handsome donations received are due the Royal Edward Chapter, I. O. O. F., for their gift of $100 and the Rotarians for their gift of $500 for the Junior Red Cross Fund for Crippled Children.

During the past year we were unfortunate in losing the services of Miss McClintock—a very efficient nurse; later in the year Miss Gillan of Charlottetown was appointed to fill her place.

REPORT OF THE RED CROSS PUBLIC HEALTH NURSING SERVICE

January 1st, To December 31st, 1926.

I beg to submit the following report of the Red Cross Nursing Service for the year ending December 31st, 1926.

School Health Work

The inspection conducted in rural schools during the year were in ones which previously had been visited four years ago, as our present staff of three nurses scarcely permits of more than one inspection of a rural school in four years. In this period of time a number of children examined in the first inspection leave school so that the checking up of corrected defects is not entirely complete.

One of the most effective ways of teaching the Health game to school children is by means of the Junior Red Cross. Every child who becomes a Junior member promises to try to keep the daily health rules, and as this is a matter of honor it is a great stimulus in helping the children to remember the rules, and "remembering" and "doing" eventually are going to establish good habits.

Our 60 branches and 666 members are keenly enthusiastic about rendering service to those less fortunate. The 25 ct. annual membership fee which the children must save or save themselves makes up the fund for crippled children. During the year "Marie's" treatment was completed and she returned to the Island after spending 22 months in hospital. Her hospital fees, which amounted to almost $900.00, were paid from the Junior Red Cross Fund. One crippled child was given a crutch, and four children with defective vision were provided with glasses.

per cent of them were 10 per cent or more under average weight.

The number of unvaccinated children attending the country schools is alarmingly high. In the schools inspected last year it was found that 81 per cent of the children were unvaccinated. This year the number is not quite so high, 80 1/2 per cent, but this is due to the fact that the schools in and around Tignish were inspected, and as the people there experienced an epidemic of smallpox only a few years ago they know something of the horrors of this loathsome disease and have protected their children against it.

Following each school inspection since the early spring a publication was sent home to the parents of every unvaccinated child, pointing out the dangers of neglect in this matter and urging vaccination. It is hoped that parents will fully appreciate what a menace and danger the unvaccinated population is to the province and take steps to reduce and eliminate it.

The Division issued a pamphlet on "Recommendations for the building, equipment and cleaning of Public Schools" which was given the approval of the Chief Superintendent of Education. This was sent to all school inspectors, trustees and Women's Institutes in the province. The Department of Education does not issue anything of this kind, and as so often the nurses find that sums of money have been expended "improvements without these being to the benefit of the children," it was felt that some definite information was needed with regard to the improving of the condition of school buildings.

In making second inspection in the schools we noted coolers, individual drinking cups, wash basins, towels, equipment for hot school lunch, etc., have made their appearance following suggestions made by the nurse on her first visit. There is however, further need for the changing of cross lighting to all one side lighting, for single adjustable desks, and hypoleptic blackboards.

At the Convention of the Women's Institutes a model of a women school was exhibited, which demonstrated to a large number of women the value of good school buildings. Too much cannot be said in praise of the splendid equipment given to the schools by the Institutes, the active interest taken by the women in improving school conditions.

Home Follow-Up Work

The nurses made 1168 home follow-up visits during the year with regard to school children, pre-school children, infants, pre-natal and tuberculosis cases, and general visits including those to new British settlers. The appreciation shown by the mothers of a visit from one of the Red Cross Nurses, T. B. Acker, orthopedic specialist of Halifax, the clinics were widely advertised and as a result many more crippled children than we know of came for examination.

Visits To The Office

Our office is becoming an increasingly popular place for the school children mothers with tiny tots and infants, college students and many others who daily come in to be weighed and receive health advice. There is an increase of 1450 over last year's record, the total number of visits to the office this year being 4605.

Dental Clinics

One of the outstanding physical defects found among the school children is the condition of the teeth. Particularly in the country where the children are usually many miles from a dentist the teeth are sadly neglected, it is a recognized fact that decayed teeth are the focus of infection for many a mouth badly ill and that good mouth hygiene and sound teeth are necessary for health.

Home Follow-Up Work

Early in the year the funds in the Junior account were exhausted but thanks to many friends who gave donations, and particularly to the Royal Edward Chapter of the I. O. O. F., for their generous gift of $100.00 we were able to continue giving help to handicapped little ones.

The children's interest does not stop with the gift of their 25c fee to help others, but they have given concerts, bazaars, rummage sales, have had school "Mime Boxes," Cent a Week Funds, sold Junior Red Cross Christmas seals and calendars, and in many other ways have helped to raise money for the Fund. Particularly at the Christmas season do the Junior experience the joy of giving. Their gifts to the Dispensary, the Allas Santa Claus Fund, the Orphanages, and the dinners and toys packed and delivered to needy families by the children themselves have warmed many hearts and brought happiness and good cheer to a number of homes.

An Essay competition was held, the essay being about the Island, and the prize for this was awarded to a member in Victoria School. Several of the branches have elected Circulation Managers who carry on a brisk business selling the monthly magazine "The Canadian Red Cross Junior." By means of this instructive publication the children are kept in touch with the Juniors in the other provinces, and through the medium of a monthly "News Letter" issued here they know of the activities of the various Island branches. Junior Red Cross interest is wider than this however, and an exchange of ideas in the form of portfolios and letters may be arranged with Juniors in almost any part of the world.

Portfolios have been received this year from New Idaho, Japan, and New Zealand, and excellent ones have been prepared by the Island Juniors and sent to New Zealand, Porto Rico, and Idaho.

Mr. Lloyd Shaw, in speaking to the Teachers at their annual convention last spring, said "I have a splendid method of teaching which is doing so much at the present time, to humanize the work of our public schools."

Clinics For Crippled Children

Three clinics for crippled children have been held, two in Charlottetown and one in Summerside, for which we were fortunate enough to secure the services of Dr. T. B. Acker, orthopedic specialist of Halifax. The clinics were widely advertised and as a result many more crippled children than we know of came for examination.

Home Nursing Classes

During the year four Home Nursing Classes have been completed, three in Charlottetown, one of which was given in connection with the Short Course conducted by the Women's Institute, and one in Summerside. In these classes 62 women were enrolled and 50 of them attended at least 75 per cent of the lessons. Since the inauguration of these classes in 1924 up to the end of 1926, twelve classes have been completed in the Island and cards of acknowledgement for 75 per cent attendance issued to 162 women.

Exhibits

At the Provincial Exhibition the Red Cross Booth was devoted to wall posters showing the incidence of Tuberculosis in this province, and stressing the necessity for action being taken to combat the disease. Many people remarked on the high death rate for P. E. I., and seemed impressed with the seriousness of existing conditions in this regard.

Co-operation

In conclusion, we desire to express our grateful thanks and appreciation of the continued co-operation of the doctors, dentists, and optometrists who have devoted so much time to our work. Our thanks are also due the hospitals, school trustees, Women's Institutes, the Press, for the assistance rendered in connection with publicity, and to all those who have helped the Society in many other ways. Respectfully submitted, Mona G. Wilson Chief-Red Cross Public Health Nurse.
