In Memoriam

MR. GEORGE A. POOLE

The high esteem in which the late Mr. George A. Poole, the well known merchant of Lower Montague was held throughout his native district and other parts of the province was shown by the large attendance at his funeral at Lower Montague Monday afternoon.

The service in the United Church was simple yet impressive and was conducted by the pastor Rev. S. E. Hayward of Montague assisted by Rev. John Stirling of Georgetown.

The familiar hymns "Jesus Lover of My Soul", and "Art Thou Weary, Heavy Laden", were sung, the latter being the last selection which the late Mr. Poole, who was for many years a member of the choir, had sung in public.

The solo, "Sometime We'll Understand" was sung by Allison MacLean of Montague, Miss Agnes Annear being the accompanist.

Rev. Mr. Hayward in the course of his address stated that the death of the late Mr. Poole had touched many lives in the community where every organization for the uplift of the people had the benefit of his generous assistance and wise counsel. He was a true and loyal friend, whose loss will be felt keenly and who has left a place which will be exceedingly hard to fill.

To the bereaved widow ,son and brothers, Mr. Hayward spoke words of comfort and consolation.

Though they had lost a loved one they sorrow not as those who have no hope. Death is a universal experience. It is not in itself a calamity imposed upon mankind, for wrong doing. It is an essential part of the Divine plan. There is the mystery of birth by which we came into the world and the mystery of death by which we pass out. Through death we enter into a fuller land and a more abundant life.

To the sorrowing ones he commended the words of Christ who just before the hour of departure from this life said to the disciples, "Do not let your heart be troubled, do not be disturbed."

At death we must leave behind our personal possessions but we take with us our intellectual and moral qualities as we enter into the life beyond the vale.

After the church service the Masonic service was conducted at the grave side by Worshipful Master Ewart Keeping of St. Andrew's Lodge of which the late Mr. Poole had been a member for more than half a century.

Members of St. George's Lodge, Georgetown were present with their Montague brethren in paying the last tributes of respect.

The honorary pallbearers were Hon. Senator John A. MacDonald, Messrs Maynard MacDonald, Murdock McGowan, L. H. Poole, Warren W. Lord, George M. Moore, and the active pallbearers were Messrs. John Annear, Charles Llewellyn, Harvey Ross, Hector Schermer, Louis Wright and Robert Machon.

Christmas Carols Through the Ages

JOY TO THE WORLD!

"Joy to the world! the Lord is come;
Let earth receive her King."

Words to this spirited carol were paraphrased by Isaac Watts from the 98th Psalm in 1719. The original psalm-tune was later replaced by an adaptation of parts of Handel's "Messiah." Watts, frail and in ill health from overwork, composed many of his numerous hymns while writhing in pain on a sickbed.

MRS. MARY MACNAB DIED IN HALIFAX

Mrs. Mary E. Mcnab, widely known welfare worker and writer, died at her home, 321 South street Tuesday after a period of ill health extending back three years. She was 85 years old on Thursday.

For more than 40 years she was editor of The Message, a publication of the Women's Missionary Society of the Presbyterian church in the Maritimes. Poor health forced her to give up the post two years ago.

As a worker for the welfare of the unfortunate and less privileged she was tireless. Particularly during the First Great War her efforts on behalf of the men of the fighting forces made her days almost a ceaseless round of welfare activity.

Macnab of Armdale: a stepson, Hugh Macnab; a stepdaughter, Mrs. Miller McConnell, Montreal; two sisters, Miss Alice Braden and Mrs. Robert Taylor of Detroit Lakes, Minn., and a brother, Arthur Braden of Minneapolis, Minn. — Halifax Herald.

44 High Speed Warplanes Sold To Finland

WASHINGTON, Dec. 19 —(CP)—The first tangible American military aid to beleagured Finland — sale of 44 high speed fighting planes originally intended for the navy — was officially disclosed today.

Presumably with President Roosevelt's sanction, the navy agreed to let the manufacturer, the Brewster Aeronautical company, Long Island, N. Y., divert the planes to Finnish government buyers to help repel the Russian invasion.

Airmen described the craft as more than a match individually for the bombers which the Red army has been sending over Finland in overwhelming numbers.

Finland, meanwhile, is negotiating in the United States for guns, machine guns and small arms ammunition.

A survey indicated that the navy fighters were the only United States planes available for quick delivery. Major manufacturing plants are jammed with orders from the army and navy and with prior contracts from Great Britain, France and other belligerents.

The sale of the pursuit planes was approved by the joint army-navy aeronautical board. The navy had advised the board that the ships were not needed immediately for service aboard aircraft carriers, and that delay in filling an original order of 54 would permit development of an improved model. Ten already have been delivered to the navy.
