CHAPTER X Continued.

"Could 'a' killed 'im with a club," said he, snickering. "Guess he must 'a' looked purty tall didn't he?"

"Why?" I asked. "Cos ye aimed into the sky," said he. "Mebbe ye thought he was a bird."

"My hand trembled a little," said I. "Minds the of Bill Barber," he said in a half whisper as he worked his paddle, chuckling with amusement.

"Nothin' safe but the thing he shoots at," said he. "Terrible bad shot. Kills a cow every time he goes huntin'."

Uncle Eb was stirring the fire when we came whispering into camp, and Gerald lay asleep under the blankets.

"Willie couldn't hit the broadside of a barn," said Tip. "He don't take to it nat'ral."

"Killin' an' book learnin' don't often go together," said Uncle Eb.

I turned in by the side of Gerald, and Uncle Eb went off with Tip for another trip in the dugout. The night was chilly, but the fire flooded our shanty with its warm glow.

That evening in camp was one to be remembered. Ab Thomas, the guide who tended the reservoirs, came over and sat beside our fire until bedtime.

"More plenty 'n human bein's," he answered, puffing lazily at his pipe with a dead calm in his voice and manner that I have never seen equaled except in a tropic sea.

"See 'em often?" I asked. He emptied his pipe, striking it on his palm until the bowl rang, without answering. Then he blew into the stem with great violence.

"Ever git sassy?" Uncle Eb asked. He whipped a coal out of the ashes then and lifted it in his fingers to the bowl of his pipe.

"Never real sassy," he said between vigorous puffs. "One stole a ham off my pyraz las' summer. At Fildel brought 't in fer me one day—smell good too! I kep' savin' uv it, thinkin' "

The hand of the doctor swept the bald peak of benevolence at the top of his head.

I'd enjoy it all the more when I did hev it. One day I went off cuttin' timber an' stayed till mos' night. Comin' home I got t' thinkin' o' thet ham, an' made up my mind I'd hev some fer supper. The more I thought uv it the faster I hurried, an' when I got hum I was hungrier 'n I'd been fer a year.

"Kill 'im!" Uncle Eb asked. "Ticked 'im," he said. "Ticked 'im," he repeated, chuckling. "Went into his cave with a sled stak an' whated 'im—waled 'im till he run fer his life."

Whether it was true or not I have never been sure even to this day, but Ab's manner, was at once modest and convincing.

"Should 'a' thought he'd 'a' rassed with ye," Uncle Eb remarked. "Didn't give 'im time," said Ab as he took out his knife and began slowly to sharpen a stick.

Chamberlain's COLIC, CHOLERA AND Diarrhoea Remedy

A few doses of this remedy will invariably cure an ordinary attack of diarrhoea.

It has been used in nine epidemics of dysentery with perfect success.

It can always be depended upon, even in the more severe attacks of cramp colic and cholera morbus.

It is equally successful for summer diarrhoea and cholera infantum in children, and is the means of saving the lives of many children each year.

When reduced with water and sweetened it is pleasant to take.

Every man of a family should keep this remedy in his home. Buy it now. It may save life.

Good Complexion When Pimples and Blisters Disfigure the Skin

It means bad blood, bad digestion or constipation. First two are the result of the last. FRUIT-A-LIVES cure all three.

When the bowels don't move regularly, poisonous matter remains in the intestines. Instead of the blood taking up wholesome nourishment to build up the system, it absorbs part of this poisonous matter which causes pimples and blotches on the skin.

Cases are formed by this matter, which get into the stomach, upset digestion, coat the tongue, and taint the breath.

Fruit-a-lives purify the blood—correct digestion—and clear the complexion—because they cure constipation.

M. A. N. FRASER, Provincial Manager. The Mutual Life Insurance Co. of New York. May 20, 1905.

Dear Sir:—I acknowledge with thanks the receipt of your Company's cheque for $700.00 on Bank of Montreal, also Annuity Policy No. 11725 which provides—That on May 1, 1905 and each year for life, I will receive three hundred dollars ($300) in settlement of my Matured $5000. 15-year endowment, 15-year Distribution Policy No. 401,652 with Deferred Annuity, in THE MUTUAL LIFE INSURANCE CO. OF NEW YORK.

This I consider a splendid result, as to buy an Annuity of $300 at my age would cost $3,408, so that drawing $700.00 and getting an Annuity of $300, I am getting practically a cash value of $4,400.00.

I also carry another policy in your company, in which I have all confidence. Yours very truly, SIMON W. CRABBE.
