JOHN BEATON

There entered into that heavenly rest that remaineth for the people of God on Oct. 26th, 1933, the spirit of Mr. John Beaton, Hunter River, P. E. I. He was a true and devoted Christian of exemplary character, and one who will be greatly missed in the community and home as a devoted husband, father, brother and neighbour, and everyone, and a man that was always upholding that "high ideal of Christianity as exemplified in his life, from early manhood, a name rather to be chosen than great riches. He was in his usual health up to within ten days, before his demise, but notwithstanding all that medical skill, and loving hands could do, he passed away with that silent and sacred prayer on his lips, "Not my will, Lord, but thine be done." His funeral was held on Sunday the 29th from his late residence and was very largely attended. The service was conducted at the house by the Rev. Evangelist Crabtree of St. John, N. B., assisted by the Rev. F. E. Boothroyd of the United Church, Hunter River and attended by the Rev. G. W. Quigley of New Glasgow, Rev. Mr. Crabtree and Mr. Gordon Carew rendered a very consoling duet, "Safe in the Arms of Jesus," a favorite selection of the deceased, after which the former took for his parting message of consolation and hope the text found in the 10th chapter of Isaiah and the 10th verse, "Say ye to the righteous that it shall be well with him," also Rev. 21st chapter, verses two and three.

There are left to mourn his loss a sorrowing and devoted wife, three sons, namely, John E. of Pembroke, Ontario, Ernest of New York City, N. Y., and James H. at home, and six daughters, namely, Mrs. Brian C. Briscoe, Prince George, B. C.; Mrs. Joseph A. Stafford, Moose Jaw, Sask.; Mrs. Katie Wohlrahe, New York City, N. Y.; Mrs. Joseph A. Dowling, New York; Mrs. Clyde C. Rimmer, New York, N. Y., and Mrs. Claude S. MacMillan, Charlottetown, P. E. I., also two brothers, Malcolm Beaton, Moose Jaw, Sask., and Samuel Beaton, Bonshaw, P. E. I., also two sisters, Mrs. Mary Smith, Mt. Vernon, N. H., and Mrs. James Patterson, Hunter River, P. E. I. The remains were laid to rest in the People's Cemetery, Hunter River.

The pains of death are past, labor and sorrow cease, and life's long warfare closed at last.

His soul is found in peace. Soldier of Christ, well done, praise be thy new employ, and while eternal ages run Rest in thy Saviour's joy.

schedule, an additional one, naval authorities say, will spring from the Navy Department.

While the army and navy are being put in shape for any eventualities, an attempt has been made by diplomacy to strengthen the admittedly weak straits.

The French proposal at Geneva to internationalize all commercial air craft was meant, officials say, to make it impossible for any country to convert commercial planes into bombers. French have expressed that the superior German commercial fleet might suddenly be transformed into a formidable war armada.

Spurred by being sacrificed in the new fleet for heavier armament. Speed was the first immediately after the war, but this has been replaced for greater protection in the Dunkerque and in a series of cruises of the Argie type built in 1930. The Dunkerque will be three knots faster, however, than the German "pocket battleships" and will have guns 30mm. larger than those used in the Deutschland.

Famous Horse Is Purchased By Islander

HIGHEST CLASS THOROUGH-BRED STALLION BRED IN KING'S STABLES ADDED TO ISLAND HORSEFLESH.

Horse enthusiasts in all sections of the province will be interested to know that an outstanding thoroughbred stallion has been purchased at the Royal Winter Fair by Walker R. Shaw, Live Stock Superintendent, on behalf of Mr. Raoul Raymond of Southport and a group of members of the Charlottetown Riding Club.

This horse, St. Sylvestre was bred in the stables of his Majesty the King and was imported to Canada by the Canadian Hunter and Light Horse Improvement Society of Toronto. He was later purchased by Amelius Jarvis, famous turfman, where he stood for two years in the stud. He is sixteen and one-half hands high and weighs thirteen hundred pounds, he is recognized as one of the best horses on the continent today and has been graded in the premium class, the highest grade granted under federal and provincial policies.

St. Sylvestre will prove a valuable acquisition to the live stock industry of this Province and in view of the enthusiasm that has developed regarding saddle horses and the breeding of a suitable type of horse for saddle, farm work and general purpose where style and action is desired along with plenty of size, bone and muscle, his appearance here will be hailed with considerable interest.

U. S. ATTITUDE

Present Attitude

"The time has come, however, when we can no longer afford to lead in disarmament by example. Other powers have not followed our example, with the result that the United States now finds its relative naval strength seriously impaired."

The Secretary said that of the signatories to the 1911 treaties the United States alone had not undertaken an orderly building program designed to bring the navy to the full force permitted by agreements.

"Our weakened position does not serve the cause of peace," he said. "It jeopardizes the balance of power and the peace of the world. It is an aid to peace and justice, whereas undue weakness invites aggressive, war-breeding violation of one's rights."

Express Approval

Swanson expressed his approval of the existing rates of 5-5-3 between Great Britain, the United States and Japan under the Washington Naval Treaty and approximately 5-5-3.5 under the London pact.

"There are two methods by which these rates may be attained; first, by reduction of naval strength on the part of other nations to our level or, second, by our building up to full treaty strength," he said. "Inasmuch as the first method has been tried and has failed, only the second remains open to us."

He recommended a progressive plan of ship construction to provide for building a specified number of vessels each year to bring the navy to allowed strength and provision for replacement of obsolete vessels.

MARKETING LEGISLATION IS DESIRED

Agricultural Leaders Discuss Need of Organizing the Marketing of Farm Products.

Mr. J. W. Boulter, Deputy Minister of Agriculture, returned last Friday from Toronto where he was in attendance at the annual meeting of the Canadian Exhibitions Association held Nov. 23rd, 24th, and on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday of last week at the Dominion Marketing meetings.

Mr. Boulter, interviewed, said he missed Mr. Paton, who in other years was also present at the Exhibition meetings. The President and the meeting generally made reference to his absence and wished to be remembered to him. The meetings were full of interest and were addressed by both Dr. Barton, Federal Deputy Minister of Agriculture and by Mr. Rothwell, Live Stock Commissioner. Both made it very clear that any changes effected in the prize list were made solely in the interests of the live stock industry and that the advice of breeders and exhibitors would be given every consideration. It was quite evident from the reports of delegates from all over Canada that the holding of exhibitions is not without its financial difficulties and Mr. Boulter felt that our own provincial meet was about as successful as that of any other connected with the Association.

The marketing meetings were most important and were largely attended by representatives from every province in Canada, entirely non-political and composed of producers from every phase of agricultural production, dairying, fruit, vegetables, livestock, grains, honey, etc. It was the unanimous opinion of those present that the Federal Government should pass legislation or a Dominion Marketing Act which would give the provinces the power to pass enabling legislation, whereby it would be possible to regulate the marketing in an orderly manner the products for sale in the province. After discussion by the representatives the following resolution was passed unanimously:

"Whereas after many years experience in the marketing of farm products under the various systems hitherto used it has been amply demonstrated that anything short of complete producer control is inadequate for the establishment of orderly marketing on a permanent basis; and

"Whereas bringing about complete producer control by voluntary agreement seems incapable of accomplishment; and

"Whereas in such instances as producer control induced by legislative authority has been tried in Canada such enactments have been declared ultra vires of the Legislature enacting them; and

"Whereas a precedent for such legislation is to be found in the British Agricultural Marketing Act of 1931.

"Be it resolved that this body of producers representatives of major agricultural activities of Canada request the Federal Minister of Agriculture to forthwith cause to be prepared a farm products marketing measure which, insofar as Federal legislative authority extends, will enable the producers of agricultural products in any part of Canada to take advantage of legislation embodying the principles of the British Marketing Act and that such federal legislation before enactment shall be submitted to the committee appointed by this conference to promote the enactment of such legislation.

"Be it further resolved that a Committee, of not more than five, be appointed by this body to cooperate with the Committee of Western Producers appointed at the meeting held in Regina in July last, such Committee to work in conjunction with the Western Committee in endeavoring to secure the desired legislation."

Hon. Rovert Weir addressed the conference the last day. The Federal Minister is in sympathy with the object of the resolution but explained that up to the present it has been impossible to work out a Marketing Act which did not raise insurmountable difficulties. He suggested the solution of the present problems might be found in the development of better distributive methods. Canadian problems are distinctive and so distinctly our own, said Mr. Weir, that we ourselves must attempt to reach a solution.

The following committee was appointed to continue the work and press for legislation: W. A. Amos, President of the Farmers' Co-operative Company, vice; M. M. Robinson, Toronto.

only trade restricted was that of countries who made of Canada a dumping ground for surplus products. And I'm not much concerned with that. I am for Canadian trade, Canada first."

Tariff Question

Sound economists the world over realized tariff barriers throughout the world were too high at the present time, Mr. Bennett said. But Canada was not the instigator of the higher tariff movement and Canada used the tariff as it should be used, as "an instrument for the protection of the country's internal trade—much more important than Canada's export trade—against the attack of huge commercial machinery wishing to use Canada as a dumping ground."

Touching upon unemployment, Premier Bennett said although this matter was given over to the care of the provinces by the constitution of Canada, Parliament had voted $20,000,000 for unemployment relief thus putting thousands of men to work and millions of dollars in circulation. Provincial authorities had decided upon the institution of direct relief in replacement of unemployment relief works. And through united effort the burden of unemployment was being slowly lifted from the shoulders of the nation.

Difficult Task

Maintenance of Canada's credit had been a difficult task, mainly because of the debt accumulated through unwise railway expenditures. Interest on those debts alone averaged $1,000,000 per week. "The men who accumulated these terrific debts did not realize the implications of their policies," said Mr. Bennett, "and it worries me every day of my life lest my government should do something to place a burden on the shoulders of future generations. We must not think of today alone but also of tomorrow. I could not believe that Canada might appear in the role of a debtor, so by means of sacrifices and continuous toil, our debts were paid and our credit maintained. And the justification of that policy appears in the fact the Canadian dollar is now quoted at a premium on the United States market."

Concluding, Premier Bennett said: "By our efforts during the depression, backed by the pertinacity of the people, we have arrived at a position where we are considered abroad as the most favorably placed nation in the world. This has been attained by thinking of our country only, through weary hours of toil and terrible moments of anxiety, by determining upon no policy which might bring confusion or disaster to successive generations. We leave to history the task of judging how Canada has been administered during these dark hours of the depression. Whatever your judgment may be, when the time comes to make your voices heard, I want you to know that I, at least, shall be content."

N. R. A. CODES WILL BE ISSUED

WASHINGTON, Dec. 3.—Two big United States industries dominated by large interests may be given N. R. A. codes limited to mere regulation of hours and wages, with no provision for control of business practices.

Hugh S. Johnson, recovery administrator, said at a press conference today he would if necessary "impose" labor regulation on the telephone industry, controlled almost entirely by the Bell system under the American Telephone and Telegraph Company.

Lecture On Bunyan And Pilgrims Progress

At the midweek service on Wednesday in St. James Church the Rev. Dr. Legate continuing his series of lectures, dealt with the subject "John Bunyan and the Pilgrims Progress." Following is a summary of Dr. Legate's remarks: The period of history during which John Bunyan lived, 1628 to 1688, was marked by the high tides of the Puritan movement in England. The son of a tinker, of the village of Elstow, Bedfordshire, he had not many educational advantages, and any learning he possessed was gained by hard self-study, the Bible and Foxe's "Book of Martyrs" being his textbooks. He served for a time in Cromwell's army, and escaped death at the siege of Leicester by what he always regarded as the Divine intervention. After a course of extraordinary spiritual experiences which drove him more than once to the verge of hopeless despair, he found peace with God, and became pastor of the Baptist Chapel in Bedford. It was during his ministry there that, under the Act of Uniformity, he was thrown into Bedford gaol where he remained a prisoner for the long space of twelve years. While thus confined he made cotton shoes in order to help to support his children. In gaol he first began to write, and during the term of his sentence produced some sixty pamphlets, tracts and books. His first sustained piece of writing was his autobiography, "Grace Abounding to the Chief of Sinners." The plan and plot, and some of the actual writing of his masterpiece, "The Pilgrim's Progress," was also done while he lay in gaol. This world's classic, "The Pilgrim's Progress," has probably had the widest circulation of any religious book, the Bible excepted. It has been translated into some hundred and fourteen languages. In Bunyan's own lifetime it actually reached its tenth edition, and there we said to be in the Lennox Library, New York, one hundred and twenty-eight editions of the work. Possibly the idea of representing life as a pilgrimage, as Bunyan does in this book, may have come to him from the one book of fiction and romance which he allowed himself to read, "Sir Bevis of Southampton." The English in which the "Pilgrim's Progress" is written is the pure, majestic rendering of the language of the Elizabethan age which has given our literature such an undying stamp of unapproachable beauty, while the theme and its treatment have led millions of readers to understand and embrace the offered gospel of the Lord Jesus Christ. The irresistible charm of the book has maintained its hold on the popular fancy, and as Coleridge has said of it, "It is in my conviction the best summary of evangelical truth ever produced by a writer not miraculously inspired."

Dr. Moorhead Legate's address next Wednesday evening will be on the subject, "James Chalmers, the Hero of New Guinea." There are growing interest and attendances at these Wednesday evening lectures, which are open to all.

that she had experienced bad weather and ice in the Lakes which had delayed her arriving in the Strife off Summerside Harbour. She laid to outside the Harbour all night. Early in the morning she tried to plough through the ice and came pretty well up to the breakwater but could not cut through the solid sheet ice which extended beyond the lighthouse, and had to give up the idea and go on to Charlottetown. She was to have taken on a cargo of potatoes at Summerside for New York. Summerside harbour is now frozen completely over and man a walking across the ice. There is considerable ice in the straits extending some distance along the coast east and west of Summerside. This is the earliest freeze up for many years. Last year the harbour was over on December 14th. The harbour has been frozen over for nearly a week, which would make it considerably earlier this year. Other steamers were expected but have had to give up the idea.

RELIGIOUS SERVICES

THE SALVATION ARMY

As the disciples waited in the upper room to be endowed with power from on high before beginning their work so Salvationists all over the world are holding half night of prayer. On Saturday evening such a service was held in preparation for work among the young people of Charlottetown.

A splendid service was held at the jail Sunday afternoon, Mrs. Adjutant Stevens giving the address.

At the Salvation service in the evening four knelt at the mercy seat and received a blessing.

TRINITY UNITED CHURCH

"Lift up your hearts." This was the cheering word brought by Rev. Dr. Laird, the Treasurer of the United Church of Canada, who delivered the sermon yesterday morning speaking from the text John 12-21, "Sir, we would see Jesus." Dr. Laird in a vigorous and soul stirring address gave an outline of the thrilling work being accomplished by the United Church in the face of dropping revenues and resultant handicaps due to the depression. Although there have been reductions in the field workers, amalgamation of districts and inability to occupy satisfactorily the new north Canada still a survey of the field gives cause for courage and challenges us to lift up our hearts and resolve to give God our best gifts.

"Thy people lift their hearts to thee, Thy grateful voices raise, Lord of the lands, make Canada Thine own!" In the evening Rev. Dr. Ramsay spoke from the text as found in Mark 14-35, "And he said, 'Abba, father, all things are possible unto thee; take away this cup from me; nevertheless not what I will but what thou wilt.'" The subject of the discourse was the reality of sin and the problem or fact of forgiveness.

The music for the day consisted of an anthem at each service in addition to the well rendered organ voluntaries by Professor Kendall. In the evening anthem, Miss Berna M. Huestis was the soloist.

The car of potatoes, fruit and other goods sent to Saskatchewan was shipped on Thursday last. Contributions for this car were received from Winsloe North, Southport, Cherry Valley, Mermad and from other points in the York, Pownall and Cornwall districts, also from Charlottetown. Another car was sent from Hunter River and one from Alberton. The donors may feel assured that the need is great and that the gifts sent will materially help in the relief work.

It being the first Sunday in Advent the Rector Reverend E. D. Raymond, M. A., spoke on the subject "The Coming of the King." The message to the boy and girls bore special reference to the Christmas season as suggested by the meaning and special significance of the term "Advent." In his sermon for the morning Mr. Raymond indicated the tendency of mankind during the Advent season to be prone to regard our Saviour as "The Babe in the Manger" rather than one who will come again to judge both the quick and the dead. In developing his topic the Rector showed that the second coming of Christ was inevitable both psychologically and scripturally, psychologically in the sense that it is the only logical conclusion that can be drawn, scripturally, in the sense that direct reference is made to it in twenty-four books of the New Testament. In conclusion, Mr. Raymond having shown the second coming of Christ to be a certainty stressed the importance of being prepared at all times.

During the offertory Mrs. Fred Nash, special soloist of the morning sang very acceptably, "Speak 'Let not your heart be troubled.'" At the close of the sermon there was a celebration of the Holy Communion.

At the evening service Mr. Raymond took as his subject, "The Prophet's Call—Repentance," this he dealt with in a very capable manner. The lessons at the evening service were taken from Isaiah 1, 18-20, St. Matthew 24, 1-28.

Following the evening service the students held their regular sacred service of song.
