

Why Prince Edward Island Attracts the Investors From all Over the World

"The JOHN AGNEW FUR FARMS LIMITED" in making their announcement beg first to draw the attention of Investors to the value and importance of the Fur Farming Industry, and the reasons why the Garden Isle is attracting world-wide attention. When Silver Fox Ranching was first brought to the notice of the investing public it was looked upon by most people as a gamble, and so looked upon by those who have not taken the trouble to investigate its possibilities.

Those that have studied the Industry have discovered that the Fur Markets of the world absorb pelts every year of over three hundred million dollars in value.

The fur-bearing animals in the wild state are fast decreasing in number as civilization advances. There are over one million pelts of foxes marketed per year, consisting principally of Reds and Patches, and that notwithstanding this enormous quantity prices of pelts continue to increase.

That in 1909 there were 4,300 pelts marketed in London of the Silver Fox and that each year the quantity is falling off while now only a few hundred are marketed per year from the wilds.

That in Canada & Edward Island we have only about 1,000 pure Silver Black Foxes which are 92 p. c. of all the Silver Black Foxes in captivity.

That it would be from ten to twenty years to be able to supply the market with as many pelts as the wilds supplied ten years ago, while the wealth of the world and the demand for furs is increasing enormously every year.

That those who are in a position to judge that pelts of Silver Foxes will be higher in value in five years time than they are today.

That the P. E. I. Silver Fox Pelt is the most valuable Fur in the commercial world.

That Silver Foxes hold the reputation of producing the highest quality of pelts in the world and bring the highest prices on the London market.

That the Conservation of fur-bearing animals has been fully demonstrated in P. E. I. by raising in captivity after an experience of twenty-five years.

That the soil and climate conditions are ideal for producing Fur and are not equalled anywhere else in the world.

That the Fox Ranching Companies in P. E. I. paid shareholders over Three Million Dollars in dividends in 1913, being over fifty per cent of the capital invested.

Investors all over the world are waking up to the possibilities of Fur Farming, and that P. E. I., with only 1600 Pure Silver Black Foxes cannot supply the demand, hence the high and increasing prices for breeding animals.
