NEW SUPER-ZEPPELIN LIKE A HUGE FISH

PARIS, Feb. 15.—Zeppelin airships which took part in the latest raid on England are of an enormous new type, much larger than any ever before seen.

The Matin gives the specifications of the new super-Zeppelins. These aerial monsters have a volume of 32,000 cubic metres each, and instead of being cigar-shaped, have the form of a huge fish.

The Zeppelins are driven by eight 200-horsepower motors, and are capable of a speed of seventy-five miles an hour. The ordinary speed of the big balloons is sixty-five miles an hour. The airships are equipped with three propellers each, and are covered with a scientific aluminum paint which renders them as nearly invisible as possible.

Each of the new balloons can remain in the air for twelve hours, and can rise to an altitude of 12,000 feet within a space of less than ten minutes. The armament consists of several small cannon, machine guns, and about a ton and a half of explosives.

We Were Skeptical About Machine Bookkeeping

How the makers of the well-known Rubberset Brushes met a serious bookkeeping problem due to growth of business

By C. M. FREEMAN
Treasurer of the Rubberset Company, Newark, N. J.

WITH the growth of our business, accounts had multiplied and bookkeeping had become more and more of a problem. Something had to be done, but you know how hard it is for a business concern to consider a new move in its bookkeeping and accounting work—even when its executives know that something of the sort is needed badly.

Something was Lacking in Our Bookkeeping

That was evident to me because statements didn't get out until the 10th of the month—and so all our posting had to be done in the three weeks that were left. A trial balance was hard to get, and statements kept our bookkeepers working overtime for a week or two every month. Prompt relief was necessary.

that time, so radical a change in our bookkeeping. It was true that for several years the Rubberset Company had used a Burroughs for straight adding and figuring work. It had proved to be a good investment and we decided to take the word of the Burroughs Company that their Ledger Posting and Statement Machine would prove an even better investment.

The Machine Makes Good

Once we had the Burroughs at work in our office, the day of skepticism was over. Our statements are in the mail at 7:30 p. m. on the last day of every month. Absolute accuracy eliminates all chance for complaints from our customers. Trial balance troubles have vanished. Ledgers are always posted up to date and our bookkeepers are never overworked. The same Burroughs that posts our ledgers does all the other figure-listing, adding and subtracting work of our office. And with the Burroughs we know that our books and figures are right. A year and a half of experience makes me feel sure that mechanical ledger-posting is the method which will soon be employed by all progressive business houses. We are glad we did not delay longer in employing a Burroughs Ledger Posting and Statement Machine to keep our books.

Interested in Mechanical Way of Handling Figures

Because of my previous connection, and the knowledge I had about the use of Burroughs Machines, I immediately thought about solving this problem mechanically instead of increasing our office force. However, the familiar question came up at once: "It may be all right for a bank, but will it fit our kind of business?" Frankly, I was skeptical, but resolved to look into the possibilities. We therefore investigated the subject of mechanical bookkeeping from every possible angle.

A Surprising Demonstration

We tried a Burroughs Machine on our statement work one month when we were particularly rushed. Although we didn't get started until close to the end of the month, we had all the statements out on the first. This meant a lot to us—because, of course, early statements mean prompt payments. I was still skeptical, however, about posting our ledgers by machine. We felt that we would have to be "shown" to our complete satisfaction before making what seemed, at
