legally to the United States and would not dare cater to the smugglers because of the fear of being "blacklisted" by the Roosevelt administration. Government officials said the island's future lay in the tourist business. Large sums of money had been spent on harbor improvements during the days of prosperity and there was a fine natural roadstead with water to accommodate any size of ocean liner. Steps already had been taken to increase tourist traffic and establish the colony as a resort.

NEW YORK EXCHANGE

By Frederick Gardiner, Associated Press Financial Writer. NEW YORK, May 22.—The stock market was aroused from its slumber today by a moderate wave of selling after President Roosevelt's message on silver was published. Selling for a short time in the fourth hour, after the silver message had been published, was active but it subsided before the finish. Transfers on the stock exchange increased to 830,980 shares from 382,190 in the preceding session, a 10-year low record. The average price of 90 stocks fell 18 points to 76.8. At that level the market was only about two points above the low of the recent downswing. U. S. Smelting & Refining, a favorite among silver shares, dropped from an early top of 121 to 114.5, closing 4½ points lower at 116. American Smelting, Cerro De Pasco and Howe Sound lost one to three points. Selling of metals started at midday, before the message was out, then spread to other sections of the list in the afternoon. Motors and steels retreated easily under pressure caused in part by expectations of further seasonal recessions in activity in those industries. Bethlehem, U. S. Steel, Chrysler, General Motors and Amm. Byers showed losses of one to two points at the finish. American Can, Allied Chemical, Industrial Rayon, American Commercial Alcohol, International Harvester and J. I. Case were one to three points lower.

YOU, TOO CAN WIN

There are four winners each week in The Business Bulletin Feature, that interesting contest page, and guide to many of P. E. L.'s Leading stores, which appears in The Guardian every Saturday.

Possibly among the winners' names which are announced each week you have noticed the name of one of your neighbors or friends. They have been successful — and they may be successful again next week, as everyone sending in a reply has an equal chance of winning. Read the rules carefully, then send in a reply, maybe you will be included in next week's winners.

The Athen left Amsterdam on May 10th and encountered much ice on the trip especially off the Grand Banks where she passed six huge icebergs. The Captain has his wife on board with him on this trip. This ship formerly was in the trade between the Orient and South America but will now run between New York and Bermuda and other southern ports. It will be about four days before she will finish discharging her cargo for this port.

GARDENING

(By Gordon Lindsay Smith) NOT TOO LATE
While it is important to get a portion of seed in early in order to stretch out the season as long as possible, this stretching can also be carried out at the other end of the business. Incidentally for those persons who start to sow their garden too soon there are a dozen people who do not continue sowing late enough. In practically every section of Canada, it is possible to

WINDOW BOXES

The window box or pot must be strong and firmly attached because it is going to be heavy. There must be rich soil, with plenty of fertilizer, as the sort of gardening is very intensive. Of equal importance is moisture, and this must be provided daily, and sometimes twice a day, as the evaporation, for all sides of the box or pot are exposed to the air, is exceedingly rapid. The window-box should be as long as the window and should be supported and arranged so that the top of it is almost flush with the window-sill. Otherwise, the foliage of the plants will soon fill up most of the window. There must be holes in the bottom of the box or pot to provide drainage, and also a layer of gravel, cinders, broken crockery or similar material for the same purpose. If one can secure a supply of well-rotted manure, put this in next, and finish with a top layer of rich soil. If there is no manure use a fairly heavy application of good garden fertilizer and repeat every month. The box, which should be at least seven inches deep and from eight to ten inches wide at the top, should be filled to within half an inch of the top. Along the front trailing nasturtiums, German ivy, lobelia, alyssum and similar plants are put in, with petunias, ageratum, begonias, ferns, geraniums and any other plants especially recommended for this purpose feather back. Shelter from the sun for a day or two until the plants get established.

TENDER FLOWERS

Among the more tender flowers are Gladiolus, Dahlia and Cannas. The tubers or corms of which are planted. These should be planted in about the order named, the Cannas particularly being rather tender and unable to stand any frost. Plant them all to a depth of about three times the diameter of the tuber or bulb in ordinary soil and slightly shallower in clay. Gladiolus and Cannas prefer fairly rich open soil and make a good showing when grown in clumps, the former planted four to six inches apart and the Cannas a foot. Dahlias will thrive in almost any soil, giving good results in ash dumps mixed with a little clay. They should be staked, and have at least two and a half feet between plants. Dahlias are splendid things for producing a tall screen quickly.

LATE VEGETABLES

In most parts of Canada it will soon be time to think of planting vegetables. The more tender sorts are beans, tomato plants, squash, cucumbers, and melons. They get a long and steady supply of green beans make at least three plantings at intervals of ten days and use several varieties. To do the same thing with tomatoes one may use a filling with tomatoes for the first crop and hurry these along with annuals, fertilizer and possibly mulch paper. All garden tomatoes should be staked, using either wooden or steel stakes about six feet high. Trim off all side shoots as they develop, training the main stem up along the stakes and tying loosely about every foot. All these warm weather vegetables prefer rich open soil and any members of the melon family, that is squash, cucumber, etc., take special delight in hot sandy soil though it must be made rich well rotted manure or good garden fertilizer. Along with the vegetables mentioned one may set out egg plants, well started peppers, and the first planting of celery. The latter must have very rich soil and water during dry weather.

REPLANTING

One is well advised to save a little seed of each variety from all plantings in order to fill in inevitable "misses" caused by drought, washings, or other things beyond control. In the perennial flower bed, there will also be gaps where winter-killing has occurred. These may be filled in with quick growing
