

Modern Meat Smoking

The old method of smoking meat was effective enough in its way, but it is now simply an antiquated process which is doomed to pass away like a good many other old-fashioned things. To understand what our Liquid Hickory Smoke does, it is well to remember what is accomplished by smoking in the old way. As you doubtless know, smoke contains certain elements which have a preservative action. In fact, it contains several of these elements, and it also contains other things which are of no use whatever in the smoking of meat. The object of smoking is to have the preservative elements of the smoke equally deposited upon the meat. As smoke does not contain a great deal of them it takes long and tedious smoking to get the desired results. At the same time there is deposited on your meat soot and the other undesirable elements of smoke. The use of Jamieson's Liquid Hickory Smoke is simply a short cut which achieves the same results as the old method as far as preserving the meat is concerned, and which is still better than the old way in many respects.

CHARLOTTETOWN GUARDIAN

THURSDAY, March 1, 1906.
A NOTABLE ANNIVERSARY.

The celebration of Paardeburg Day by the South African veterans was very hearty and patriotic as was fitting it should be. It was at Paardeburg that the back-bone of the Boer revolt was broken. The battle marked the turning point toward victory in a great struggle which had before been largely unfortunate and in part disastrous to British arms. Paardeburg was won by British and colonial troops fighting side by side to save the Empire from dismemberment. And in this decisive and glorious struggle our own Island boys were at the front.

We must always regret that a resort to arms should ever be forced upon us. We must deplore the losses which cut short so many young lives and brought sorrow to many homes. But we ought never to forget the men who of their own free will went half way round the world to lose or peril their lives in a cause so worthy as that which was the issue on Paardeburg Day. That day's work added to the prestige of the Empire and of the Colonies at home and abroad. It compelled the respect of the rivals and enemies of Britain. It struck a death-blow to dismemberment. It greatly strengthened the silken ties of patriotism, affection and mutual respect which bind all sections of the Empire together.

It was a historic day which has brought and will yet bring far reaching recompense of good to South Africa, to Britain, Canada and Australia. We do well to celebrate it and we hope the celebration may be kept up from year to year as the anniversary comes round. Paardeburg Day ought to have "right of track," to use railway parlance, over all minor social festivities and events. There is time enough for these without intruding upon a day that should remain consecrated to patriotism, valor and heroic self-sacrifice.

February went out stormily and March comes in with rigor. Whether the often stormy month will "go out like a lamb" thirty days hence remains to be seen. There is still room enough in the calendar for many genuine winter days, and for heavy falls of snow.

The fuller report of Hon. Mr. Emerson's address at Moncton now to hand by mail, makes it clear that the policy of the Government is not to sell or transfer the Intercolonial. This will have a quieting effect upon the Maritime public mind. It would appear from Mr. Emerson's intimation that either the Grand Trunk, Canadian Pacific or Mackenzie & Mann would be willing to pay a good round sum for the Government road, but their proposals cannot and will not be accepted.

It is hinted that the export duty on coal the only export tax levied in Britain will be repealed by the Liberal Government. The tax amounts to a shilling a ton and produces a revenue of some $10,000,000 yearly. It was put on partly as a revenue producing duty and with a view to conserving the British coal fields for home use. It did not, however reduce the volume of coal exports, which have since somewhat increased. But an export duty is quite contrary to the principles of free trade which the dominant party desires to adhere to as closely as is practicable.

A recent letter from Newfoundland reports that the snowfall there has been very light this winter and in marked contrast with the deep snows of last winter. The fishermen have had excellent winter fishing and the Colony is reported prosperous.

It is all important in the interest of law, order and sobriety, in the general public interest and in the interest of the Government of the day, that the officials chosen to enforce the Prohibitory Law in Prince County shall be men of the right stamp. Very much depends upon the choice. Let the best man be chosen,—energetic, honest, prudent, incorruptible men, whether they be Liberal or Tory, English-speaking or French-speaking residents. So much depends upon the choice that we feel it worth while to call the attention of the Government specially thereto. The plan should include a staff of Prosecutors under one efficient head for the entire Province, all of which may reasonably be expected in a short time to come under the Provincial Prohibitory Law.

The death of Dr. George Stewart, formerly of St. John and for many years a resident of Quebec and editor of the Quebec Daily Chronicle, will be learned with regret by a large circle of the reading and literary public. Dr. Stewart did much good work in connection with Stewart's Quarterly which he founded in St. John, and afterwards as editor of Belfort's Magazine, Toronto. He prepared many of the articles on Canada and its various Provinces for the Encyclopedia Britannica and for Chambers' Encyclopedia, and was prominent in Canadian literary circles. He was still young enough to have had many more days of usefulness in the ordinary course, but failing health, had for some years past repressed his earlier activity.

TURF SCANDAL MAKES A MATCH

MONTREAL, Feb. 27.—As a consequence of the scandal connected with the alleged doping of the Trotter, Conduet, at the Ottawa race meet, and the verbal bouquets which have since been thrown towards the management of the winner of the race R. & R., and that of Conduet, a deposit of $1,000 was deposited and an acceptance of a challenge wired to Toronto. It is probable that the two trotters may come to conclusions next week.

The scandal arose in the five mile event at Ottawa, in which Conduet was the favorite and received a heavy backing. It was alleged that in the race in which she was beaten by the Montreal horse, R. & R., she was incapacitated for fast work through the administration of drugs by stealth. An investigation followed, by the Central Canada Trotting Association, and the charges were dismissed. Despite this fact, a letter was shortly afterward published in the Toronto Star in affirmation of the alleged doping. This was written by Mr. C. Kennedy, who handled Conduet's ribbons in the race.

ICE PACK IS ON THE MOVE

St. John's, Nfld., Feb. 27.—Incoming ships bring reports of large ice bergs and extensive floes off the Grand Banks. The bergs and floes are supposed to be the advance guard of Arctic ice pack, which is unusually late in reaching these waters this season, owing to the mild weather and the absence of northerly winds.

WANT SECRET BALLOT.

TORONTO, Feb. 27.—A demand for the secret ballot was made by Mr. J. G. O'Donoghue at the nominations for separate school trustee in the Fourth ward.

WHAT ABOUT THIS.

The following figures are taken from the Dominion Government report for 1905. The profits earned for the previous year per $100,000 of Insurance in force by the different Life Insurance Co's here mentioned are:—Canada Life $5.75 Confederation $3.00, Federal $3.29, Great West $3.45, Imperial $2.23, Manu facturers $4.33, Mutual of Canada $0.27, North American $1.55, Sun $4.63, LONDON & LANCASHIRE $10.80. The profits accumulated per $100 on the business in force by the same Co's are: Canada Life $13.52, Confederation $18.08, Federal $3.48, Great West $14.10, Imperial $7.34, Manufacturers $12.17, Mutual of Canada $19.07, North American $14.15, Sun $13.76, LONDON & LANCASHIRE $83.62.

The reason this reliable English Co. and show such a difference in profits compared to the Canadian Co's, is quite apparent to any person who knows. Anticipating the action of the Dominion Government and the reductions that would occur in interest rates, the management of this Co. set aside a large sum in 1892 and later again in 1897 thereby providing for the decreasing rate of interest and placing the reserves of the Co. upon a basis equal to that adopted by other Co's. years after.

The Vice-President of a leading Canadian Co. at their annual meeting held in Feb. 1900 said:—"I am free to say that if ten, fifteen or twenty years ago the Directors could have foreseen what remarkable reductions would occur in interest rates they would undoubtedly have applied a portion of the profits at each quinquennial period towards strengthening the Co's. Reserves."

This certainly reflects credit on the management of the LONDON & LANCASHIRE LIFE.

Lewis H. Beer, Charlottetown, is the representative for this staunch Co. in this Province and will be pleased to quote rates at any time.
