

A Wonderful Convenience and an Aid to Pleasure

WHEN you travel, especially abroad, you carefully choose your route, selecting those trains, boats and hotels that offer the greatest comfort, thereby ensuring a thoroughly enjoyable trip.

In your advance planning do not forget this highly important matter . . . ready funds.

To carry money in the ordinary form is risky. It is also inconvenient, as practically every country uses a different form of currency.

For convenience, enjoyment and safety, carry the Travellers' Cheques issued at all branches of this bank. These Travellers' Cheques cost only a trifle, and are accepted as cash practically everywhere on the civilized globe.

"A RARE BIRD"

Sir,—A paragraph in your issue of Nov. 16th, under the above caption, stated that a small gray bird had been found, nesting on three eggs, by Mr. William Hatherly, of North Wiltshire. This was, in all probability, one of the ground-nesting sparrows, but as many female birds are gray, even when the male is brightly colored, one can but guess at its identity. However, the eggs would give the clue; and if one of these were securely packed and forwarded to the Central Experimental Farm Ottawa, the Dominion Ornithologist would doubtless solve the mystery. The gray plumage of the female bird renders her inconspicuous while brooding; whereas the male, who is not in such danger, may flaunt his holiday dress. The remarkable part of the incident is the bird's attempting, at this inclement season, to hatch out a brood.

A NATURALIST

BALANCE OF TRADE

Sir,—Mr. "J's" letters published in the Guardian clearly show that he does not possess even an elementary knowledge of the subject he undertook to write about, and as I have no intention to engage in a personal discussion with the unknown gentleman, I have decided to take no further notice of him.

My object in writing to the Guardian was to explain, as best I could, what seemed to me to be the fundamental principles of trade and commerce, and to remove, if I could, some of the popular misconceptions which appear to surround the question.

In my opinion, trade, both national and international, is in itself a good thing under all circumstances. It has been the greatest material factor, even when handicapped, in the development of world civilization, and it is what makes the real material difference between the savage and the civilized man. I am therefore disposed to think that it should be as free as the air we breathe.

Governments, as such, do not engage in trade, except to a comparatively limited extent in time of war, when conditions are abnormal.

MINING PROSPECTS IN CANADA

Q. What are the mining prospects in Canada?

A. The year 1928 will undoubtedly be a record one in the history of Canadian mining, according to Dr. Charles Camsell, Deputy Minister of Mines. The search for mineral deposits has been unequalled both for its intensiveness and for its breadth of activity. Never in any one year has so much money been spent in exploration as will have been spent this year. The operations are Dominion-wide but by far the most important are those that are directed to areas underlain by the Precambrian rocks of the northern parts of the province of Quebec, Ontario, Manitoba and Saskatchewan, and of the Northwest Territories.

In normal times, all trade is carried on by individuals, or groups of individuals, called companies or corporations. No individuals or groups of individuals will engage in trade, either national or international, unless they believe it will be mutually advantageous and profitable to do so, and no individuals or groups of individuals will continue to trade unless they find it to be actually advantageous and profitable. Trade will therefore adjust itself, trade with one another in useful things to their mutual advantage, if necessary follows that all such trade must be to the advantage of their respective countries.

Governing bodies have at all times levied tolls or taxes on trade. At one time in many countries toll gates were erected on the public highways, at which the tax had to be paid; the common sense of mankind abolished these devices—we still have the Custom houses. Experience has shown that men will pay without grumbling or complaining much larger taxes indirectly than they will pay directly, hence it has been found by most countries that a levy on imports is a very convenient way to raise a large part of the public revenues; Experience has also shown that percentage of the levy is very high compared with the price of the article or articles upon which the levy is made and if the said article or articles are in fairly general use the imports are either reduced on prohibited, or the trade is carried on surreptitiously and illegally with the result that the revenues and the morals and character of the people the greatly injured. Governments can therefore by unnecessary and imprudent interference with trade do much harm.

I am, Sir, etc.

NOTES ON THE P. E. ISLAND EGG LAYING CONTEST

The eleventh Prince Edward Island Contest commenced in November 1928 with four pens of S.C. White Leghorns, one pen of W. Wyandottes and 15 pens of Barred Plymouth Rocks.

The Experimental Station B. R. hens pen 15 led the Contest for the week with 39 eggs 29 points.

The K.B.C. Hatchery were second with 25 eggs, 21 points; and the Experimental Station Whit Leghorns, pen 4 were third with 29 eggs, 20.8 points.

Of the two hundred and sixty nine eggs laid sixty-six were disqualified for being under weight. The total number of eggs laid is 337, which is 117 more than for the same week last year.

LEAVES WIFE A SHILLING

(By British United Press) LONDON, November 17.—A remarkable will made by a gardener in a West Riding of Yorkshire village has been made public. Out of a total estate of £274 3s. 4d. he left, his wife, "who has ceased to reside with me, the sum of one shilling and the cracked bowl which she left me," and all his other property to the Parish Council for the formation and upkeep of the parish museum, or otherwise for the benefit of the village.
