FAREWELL GATHERING

On the evening of Sept. first the members of the Young People's Society of the Presbyterian Church, Bradalbane, met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. D. W. McDonald to bid farewell to their daughter, Catherine who left the following day for Brooklyn, N. Y. When all had gathered the President, Mr. Marshall Matheson, called the meeting to order, and in a few words explained the reason for the gathering, and called upon the Secretary, Miss Lillian Matheson, who expressed the feelings of those present by reading an address, at the conclusion of which, the Honorary President, Mr. James Graham presented Miss McDonald with a purse of money as a token of remembrance. The following is the address: Miss Catherine McDonald, Bradalbane, P.E.I., Sept. 1, 1927

Dear Catherine: It is with feelings of deep regret that we, a few of your friends, have learned of your intended departure from our midst and we have gathered here in your home to express in a very small way what our departure really means to us. Although you are leaving us at an age when most are just beginning to be of service to their Community, still you have already shown exceptional ability and willingness to assist in our meetings.

Our regret, however, is mingled with a degree of joy and pride, for we know that in whatever sphere of life you may be cast you will prove more than equal to your duties, and that your superior qualities of mind and heart will win a place for you in the community circle in which you move, and earn true friends wherever you may sojourn. Your place in our church activities will be difficult to fill, but we know that the splendid ideals which have endeared you to us will also win a place for you and influence for good the Society in which you take your place.

In conclusion, Catherine, we ask you to please accept this small token of our esteem and good-will towards you, and may this last evening spent in your home impress upon you our desire to have you back with us in the near future for at least a holiday. Signed on behalf of your friends present and the Y.P.S. C. E. of the Presbyterian Church, Bradalbane.

Although taken completely by surprise Miss McDonald thanked all present for their thoughtfulness also assuring them that she will ever cherish pleasant memories of the friends of her youth. All joined in singing "For She's A Jolly Good Fellow."

Remarks were made by Mr. Graham, Mr. George Jackson, Rev. R. H. Stavert, Mr. Matheson and others, all spoke in glowing terms of the high esteem in which Miss McDonald is held by her fellow workers. Refreshments were served by the Young Ladies and the remainder of the evening was pleasantly spent in music and games. Saying Adieu all joined hands and sang "Auld Lang Syne." "God be with you till we meet again," and the King.

LETTER OF SYMPATHY

Dear Sister,—We, the members of the W. M. S. of the Murray Harbor North Presbyterian Church wish to convey to you our deepest sympathy in your recent sad bereavement that you have been called upon to bear, through the death of your beloved brother A. E. Graham.

We realize that any words that we may pen are but feeble efforts to alleviate your grief. Yet we know that in time of sorrow the human heart craves for sympathy and can but direct you to Him who does not willingly afflict and Who can give the only real sympathy.

And now Sister, your brother has joined other loved ones. You can look forward to a happy reunion where the day dawns and the shadows flee away.

Again would we assure you of our sympathy and trust you will find strength to say "The Lord gave and the Lord taketh away." "Blessed be the name of the Lord."

Signed on behalf of the society, MRS. JAMES KENNEDY, Pres. MRS. WM. KENNEDY, Sec'y.

Gleanings From Tryon And Vicinity

Summer once more has waned, And many fond regrets Are flung her way And many sweet bouquets, As silently as the flowers Peep from the soil in spring, So, autumn now is on the throne, A proud and royal king. He rures us with his magic wand Controls each stem and stalk The birds those harbingers of Spring, They migrate by the flock, I walked along the garden cool, The flowers bloomed in their beds, Today autumn's frost has been, And crushed their beauteous heads, Their death so sudden and so cruel Is a sad and lonely sight, But Autumn's heart relents a bit So he covers with blankets white, And so it is with us dear friends, Things aren't as bad as they seem, Every cloud has a silver lining Be it e'er such a horrid dream Come, think on the clear, bright winter That comes when autumn is done, Though the icy winds may chill us, Say, skating is lots of fun!

Mr. and Mrs. J. Everett Phillips of Summerside made business calls to Tryon and vicinity on Thursday of last week. Mr. Phillips is representative of the Crown Life Insurance and a very successful one at that.

COPPER MINING IN CANADA IN FLOURISHING CONDITION

Delegates to Empire Mining Congress Meeting in Vancouver Told of the Advance in activities in This Direction.

VANCOUVER, B. C., Sept. 15.—The meeting here today of the Empire Mining and Metallurgical Congress, C.P. Browning, General Manager of the Britannia Mining and Smelting Company, reviewed the progress of the copper mining industry in Canada, assured the visiting delegates that the industry was never in a more flourishing condition than at present, and that with the opening up of new districts, particularly in northwestern Quebec, there is every prospect that present production will soon be greatly exceeded.

The world's production of copper amounts to approximately 1,658,000 tons annually, the United States being by far the largest contributor, with 53 per cent, besides controlling a further 17 per cent produced from mines in South America. Canada's share amounts to about 4 per cent. Mr. Browning cited figures to the effect that the consumption of copper per capita in the United States (and this would apply approximately to Canada also) is 15.20 pounds per annum, whereas in England, France and Germany it amounts to only about 7 per cent or a little higher and in China and India it is relatively negligible. It would seem, therefore, that there are great possibilities for increased consumption of copper in certain parts of the world. Canadian production in 1926 amounted to 133,094,942 pounds, valued at $17,490,300. This is the largest output ever attained, and the fact that the total has been increasing steadily each year ever since the slump following the war augurs well for the future of the industry. At present mines in British Columbia contribute about two-thirds of the total and Ontario mines nearly one-third, the balance coming from Quebec. It is, however, certain that Quebec will play a much more important role in the immediate future. The scope of activities in the northwestern section of the Province, commonly referred to as the Rouyn district, may be judged from the fact that during twelve months in 1924 and 1925 over 5,000 mining claims were recorded. Some large deposits of good grade copper ore have been discovered and proved, and mines are now approaching the producing stage. The first 1,000 ton unit of a smelter is now nearing completion so that actual output may be expected to start immediately.

Mr. Browning referred to the forward strides that have been made in recent years in the metallurgical processes for treating low grade copper ores, and pointed out that Canada has not been backward in this advance of technique, one plant in British Columbia having been among the first to install the now well known and successful flotation process, while all producers have shown marked operating improvements, which are reflected by the low unit costs and by the low-grade ore which they are able to treat successfully.

THREE BURNT TO DEATH

MONTREAL, Sept. 14.—Three children were burned to death when fire destroyed the home of their father, Honore Periard, of St. Eustache, about twenty miles from Montreal. The father and his brother-in-law, Lambert Pinet, suffered serious burns in trying to save the children.

All through his long illness his better half had been his devoted nurse. Often he had awakened in the silence of the night to find her sitting by his bedside with soothing draughts and gentle sympathy. Now he was well on his way to recovery.

"Mary, I shall never forget it," he told her. "Your sweetness to me throughout this trying time shall always be like a golden corner in my memory. Why did you do it?" He paused dramatically, hoping to hear a whispered confession that her love was the great motive. Instead, she calmly replied: "Well, John,
