The annual meeting of the Maple Leaf Farmers' Institute was held in Alberry Plains School house on Thursday evening, Nov. 30th. The President, J. F. Jenkins opened the meeting giving a brief report of the work done by the Institute during the past year. The financial statement on being read by the sec'y, showed a very satisfactory balance to the credit of the Institute. After the regular routine business was transacted the following directors were appointed for the ensuing year: Albert Curran, Thomas Dunn, Armas Brothers, Joseph Pratt, Wm. McMillan, J. F. Jenkins, Chas. McMillan, Wm. Cain, Thomas Hynes, who choose for officers: J. F. Jenkins, President; Joseph Pratt, Vice-President; and Jas W. McEachern, Treasurer. The next meeting will be held in Alberry Plains on this Thursday evening, Dec. 14th. All members are requested to attend.

The annual club social of the Abegweit Amateur Athletic Association of this city will be held in the C. B. C. Hall this evening at eight o'clock. Previous to the event the club has forwarded to every member of the club a very nicely gotten up invitation and also a program. The latter is worthy of special note, being of a very attractive and original design. The Abegweits last year got out a nice program which was novel enough in its make up to cause considerable comment of a very favourable nature and it cannot be said that this year's program is not all that was said of last year's and perhaps a little better. It is, first of all, red and black in color—the club's colors—and is in the shape of the letter A in black. The outside has on one side the officers of the club for the current year and on the other the executive committee. On the inside of the neat little folder is the program for the evening supplemented by a number of "facts you should know" concerning the club. The whole idea is a splendid one and reflects credit on the originators.

The first shoot of the winter season on the Judson Winter Rifle Range at Pownal will be held on Monday next. Much interest is being evinced in the coming event and a peculiar feature of the shoot will be the prizes for which the contestants will compete. These will be geese, and Mr. Judson is fattening up a large number for this purpose. The shoot will therefore resolve itself into a golden opportunity for the riflemen to secure their Christmas geese.

MONTREAL'S POPULACE WELCOMES THE DUKE

MONTREAL, December 12--Their Royal Highnesses, the Duke and Duchess of Connaught and Princess Patricia of Connaught, arrived in Montreal at three o'clock this afternoon for a visit which will extend over four days. Immediately on their arrival they were driven to the city hall where the civic address of welcome was read together with loyal addresses from the British army and navy veterans and the Canadian army veterans.

The royal party then drove to the Royal Victoria college, where a special convocation of McGill university was held and the honorary degree of L. L. D. conferred upon their royal highnesses.

Following this the Duke and Duchess of Connaught entertained a small party at dinner, and this evening attended the public reception in their honor at the city hall, which was attended by several thousand citizens, anxious to welcome the governor-general to the city. The weather that day was most inauspicious and the governor-general and his party drove from place to place over streets in ches deep in mud, in the midst of a steady drizzle of rain.

Despite the weather and the fact that the mayor's proclamation of a public holiday met with little response from employers, owing to the Christmas rush being already on, the streets were lined with people and cheers for the royal visitors were often heard. The train bearing their royal highnesses arrived in the Windsor street depot at 2.25 p. m., and no more royal and dignified ceremony than that which greeted their arrival could be imagined. Within the station there was a gathering of dignitaries of church, state, and army, with leaders in civic and civil life backed by a guard of honor. In sharp contrast to the orderly exhibition within the station was the scene immediately around the building and over Dominion square, struggled to win coins of advantage, from which to view the arrival of the royal governor general and his entourage.

An hour after the arrival of the Royal train, the station had been cleared of all save those who had business within. The decorations had been lavishly hung and a rich crimson carpet laid from the place where the visitors would alight to the exit. The guard of honor picked from the Royal Victoria rifles, was lined up along the platform.

At 2.55 the train backed slowly in to the station and his royal highness Ras seen standing alone on a back platform in the uniform of a British field marshal. Hisir Thomas Shaughnessy general, and was followed by Mayor Guerin, Archbishop Bruchesi, Bishop Farthing, Colonel Roy and other officers of the headquarters staff and others.

The duke inspected the guard of honor, while the duchess and Princess Patricia were met by a deputation from the Daughters of the Empire, who presented them with bouquets. The royal guests were then escorted to autos and proceeded to the city hall. At the city hall the duke and Miss Guerin, Controller Lachapelle and Sir Montagu Allan and escorted to the mayoral chambers.

Here the address was read in English and French, the governor-general responding, also in both languages. The convocation hall of the Royal Victoria college was crowded with some six hundred guests when the duke and duchess arrived to receive the honorary degrees. The address of the university was presented by Principal Peterson, and the duke responded at some length.

The McGill L.L. D. is the seventh imperial degree to be conferred upon his royal highness.

This evening's reception was a brilliant affair, thousands of citizens being present, including all the leaders in business and professional life.
