A HUSBAND TO MARCIA

By CAROLYN BEECHER

Chapter XXXV.

John Aldrich was not an impressive man. Aside from the picture of Elaine Wetmore he held in his hands, Marcia had been the only woman in his life. Not that he had not had his school boy affairs, his consequential loves, but there had been nothing that he could even recall plainly. He had been like thousands of other boys, no different.

He also had ingrained a reverence for the marriage tie not unusual in men of his type. He knew Marcia was faithful and no thought of being anything but faithful also ever occurred to him, even when Marcia was most difficult.

Yet he could not banish Muriel Doran's sweet face from his mind, and the sound of her triante voice lingered in his memory. A day passed. Again he walked past the shop. The cup had been taken from the window. "Sold," perhaps.

But it was entirely that thought which caused John Aldrich to go inside the shop. He would see Muriel again—at least he hoped so.

He was not disappointed. After that visit their common interest in rare china, her knowledge of so like his own, made their acquaintance easy. Then, too, he found she was acquainted with people he knew, collectors of pottery and china, men with whom he had mingled before he married, but had seen only casually since his work occupied him so intensely.

And he could spare no money to add to his collection, so he frequented the shop where he would be apt to run across them. Muriel Doran was a bit like Elaine Westmore. She was also a clear-headed, straightforward girl, a bit idealistic, yet with a courage and measure that won admiration from all who knew her. She was totally unlike Marcia in every way.

John bought the cup, although his conscience nipped him for doing so. Then he had chatted a while with Muriel. After that he opened his mind to the real thing for which he had been in and look over the collection. He saw the new pieces, etc. with her eyes, though he did not buy.

Once more John Aldrich had found a kindred spirit, a helpful one, although neither thought of the other as a good friend. How could Muriel know that her companionship was like a breath of fresh air blowing over the artificiality of his life? He had grown weary in his companionship with Marcia. Now he saw life from a different angle as something to be lived and at the same time enjoyed. His work also took on a different meaning. He thought of the creative life of it, instead of the emoluments he hoped to gain. And such thinking, the creative thinking, was good for him.

Marcia had written that he should be obliged to go. Marcia smiled as she read and said to Nell French: "What a quiet fellow John would be if he had a wife who would let him do as he wanted to. I never knew any one to hate to go out as he does."

She then read Nell what he had said regarding the reception. "But goes a great deal, even if he does dislike it," Nell remarked. "Of course he does, I make him. He'd just sit in a chimney corner with his books and let china if it wasn't for me." Which was a libel on John, who really was a sociable soul, but liked his social affairs in moderation, with time for the more serious things of life—the

TANLAC ACCOMPLISHES REMARKABLE RESULTS IN GEO. H. NICKELS CASE

PROMINENT WISCONSIN MAN SAYS TANLAC PROMPTLY RELIEVED HIM OF BAD CASE OF STOMACH TROUBLE OF SIX MONTH'S STANDING—GAINS 47 POUNDS AND FEELS FINE AS A FIDDLE.

It is an unquestionable fact that Tanlac is now being more widely endorsed by well known men and women than any other medicine on the American market. One of the latest to testify is George H. Nickels, well known lecturer, residing at 227 W. 45 St., Milwaukee, Wisconsin.

"Tanlac has not only completely restored my health, but have actually gained 27 pounds in weight," said Mr. Nickels in referring to the remarkable benefits he had derived from the medicine.

"For something over six months, my stomach was very badly disordered. I suffered terribly from indigestion and dyspepsia. At times I would be in great distress and I would invariably experience an uncomfortable, bloated feeling for hours after eating. I had no appetite, scarcely ate, and the little I ate would often make me deathly sick. My head ached until I felt like it would burst and I was so nervous I trembled like a leaf. When I got up in the mornings, I was so weak and dizzy, I couldn't trust myself to walk around and I just hurt all over."

"Tanlac has brought about a wonderful change in my condition for I am now enjoying the very best of health. My appetite is splendid, I relish my meals. Everything I eat agrees with me perfectly. The nervousness, headaches and dizzy spells are all gone. I never have a ache or pain. I am only too glad to tell others about the wonderful good Tanlac has done. It has no equal."

Tanlac is sold in Charlottetown by Reddin Bros., and all leading druggists everywhere.

Things of which Marcia seemed to have absolutely no conception to have no place in her scheme of living.

KILOWATTS AND ROY GRATTAN WINS STAKES

COLUMBUS, Sept. 28.—Two stake events were the features of today's grand circuit racing programme, the board of trade 2.0 pace and the chamber of commerce 2.08 trot, each with a purse of $3,000 attached being decided as part of a card of five races.

Emma Harvester was installed as the favorite in the 2.08 trot but she never was a contender, lacking her speed today, something Kilowatts possessed in abundance and which enabled her to trot two successive heats in 2:04 1/4 to clinch the race. E. Colorado was the chief contender although The Toddler did most of the rushing at the wire in the second heat.

In spite of Johnny Quirk's victory over Roy Grattan in the king stake a week ago, the latter was made favorite to win the board of trade pace and after dropping the first heat to Johnny Quirk went out and made good.

Murphy drove Roy Grattan to 2:01 3/4 the final heat which equalled his record made last fall.

The 2.17 pace furnished a bit of scandal. Hal N. C. A., the winner having been driven in the last heat by C. A. Valentine, the judges withholding their decision on Dever Neal and the horse until further investigation. Hal N. C. A. did not look to be trying in the second heat and the change resulted in a third heat victory in the fastest time of the three. Mr. Valentine was awarded $100 of the winnings of N. C. A. for his drive.

Peter Manning, slated to run against time today did not start. A strong wind failed to die down and the trial was deferred.

Presentation

A large number of friends met at the home of Mr. Robert Simmons, Crossaud, on Monday evening, Sept. 19th, for the purpose of bidding farewell to their pastor, and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Hubley.

After spending a very pleasant evening together, Mr. Wilfred Boulter called the guests to order and read an address to Mr. and Mrs. Hubley on behalf of the United Tricon Baptist church, while Deacon Webster Howatt presented them with a beautiful club bag, containing a number of money as a token of appreciation for their service and generosity while on this field.

Mr. and Mrs. Hubley, though taken by surprise, responded in fitting words, and cordially thanked the people for the kindness shown not only at this time but throughout the whole pastorate. Deacon Howatt then remembered them in prayer. The host and hostess were extended a hearty vote of thanks for opening the doors of their spacious home at this time. A dainty lunch was then served by the young ladies of the congregation, after which the guests joined in singing several old and fitting hymns before returning to their homes.

The following address was read: Mr. and Mrs. Hubley: It is with keen regret that we meet on this occasion to say to you farewell. I regret that you must leave our church and our community. For almost three whole years you have been our pastor and our friend. Your companionship with us during these years have not only been pleasant, but profitable. Delightful memories of cheerful conversation, and merry laughter will linger with us long.

During your stay here you have most cheerfully and unselfishly guided us in our pursuit of the things that make life worth while, and fills our lives with sweetness, and encouraging renewed effort when we most delect. Because of the interest you have shown, and the earnest endeavor with which you have labored for the welfare and betterment of our church in all its activities, you have proven yourself to be not merely a minister, but a loyal friend.

By presenting to us the perfect truths of God, you have been the agent through which our ideals of life have become enriched, and enriched you have led us to see the seriousness of life, and our duty towards humanity. The example you have placed before us in all the Christian life has given us a desire to commit all our ambitions and purposes to Him, who molds men's lives in accordance with His own plan. For these reasons our esteem for you has increased as the years passed by. We feel our gratitude cannot be expressed in words, but as you are now leaving we take this opportunity to thank you.

We wish also to thank you, Mrs. Hubley, for the care and interest you have shown in our welfare. Through your guidance and your earnest endeavors in the Mission Band and Women's Missionary Aid Society, you have been brought in contact with the best and noblest thoughts. You have been ever ready to rejoice in our successes, and to give us the benefit of your experience and knowledge. We want also to express a word of gratitude for your kindness and the cordiality with which you have always welcomed us to your home. We have spent many happy hours there that will long remain in our memories.

Now, as we pause for a moment at the parting of the ways, we take this opportunity to ask Mr. and Mrs. Hubley to kindly accept this small token of our appreciation, not because of its value, but that it may serve as a remembrance of the years spent in Tricon.

Now that the moment of parting has arrived, we shall eagerly follow your future career, while we wish that only the good may fall to your lot, and in this encouragement we say "Farewell."

RAY FAILED TO LOWER MILE RECORD

NEW YORK, Sept. 28.—Jole W. Ray's assault on the mile record of Norman K. S. Taber at Travers Island Saturday afternoon failed.

The redoubtable little Illinois A. C. flier, holder of the mile championship and an indoor mile mark of 4:14 3/5, fell short of 6 2/5 seconds of attaining the mark of 4:12 3/5 made by Taber in the Harvard Stadium in 1915. Ray's record attempt was made in a handicap mile race, one of the features at the 107th games of the New York A. C., the event being arranged especially for the purpose of affording the little Chicagoan an opportunity to make athletic history. Ray won the race from scratch in typical Ray fashion and amid the thundering cheers of about 4,000 wildly enthusiastic spectators. Ray's time, however, was 4 minutes, 19 seconds.

Though he ran a characteristic race, Ray had not the speed necessary to a record breaking mile. The track was in excellent shape, there was no wind to cast its deterrent influence over any stage of the race, and his field of five rivals had been allotted increased handicaps over what they had been originally allowed in advance of the start. Notwithstanding there was none in the final stages of the race to pull Ray out. The champion cut out a stiff pace from the outset and for three and one half he pursued his rivals. On the back circuits of the fifth of a mile track stretch, before entering the last lap, Ray was in front, and thereafter he was compelled to make his own running. None of his rivals proved equal to the task of overhauling the sturdy Chicagoan once Ray attained the van, and there was only the cheers of the great throng to spur him on. (See page 1)
