IN MEMORIAM

THOMAS HENRY MILLS

There passed away, suddenly at his home, 41 Prince St., Charlottetown, January 13, 1947, Thomas Henry Mills, in his 66th year. Mr. Mills was born at Little York, P. E. August 4th, 1881. He lived the greater part of his life in Charlottetown and there went into meat business with his brother-in-law Mr. Stephen Thorne of this city, but for the past thirty years conducted his own popular business on Hillsborough Street until his death. He also took a keen interest in sport, especially in horse racing. Although in failing health since last July, his death came as a shock to his relatives and friends. In his illness he was given all the loving care which a devoted wife and family and medical skill could give him. Throughout his illness he retained the cheerful brightness of spirit which had characterized his life; his kindly humor and cheerfulness made him a friend of all who knew him. He was the son of the late Henry Pope Mills and Lydia Annie MacLew who predeceased him some years ago in Lethbridge, Alberta.

There is left to mourn the loss of a loving husband and father, his sorrowing widow, formally Helen Maria Thorne; and four sons Ray and Gordon, employed with the O. N. R., Frank and Ben who are conducting the meat market and four daughters, Elsie (Mrs. Howard White) Milton, P. E. I.; Helen (Mrs. Robert Stewart) Gaytown; Mary (Mrs. C. J. Simpson) Winnipeg; and Fernie at home. Also ten grandchildren, five sisters and two brothers, Annie (Mrs. Helen Warren) and Maggie (Mrs. George Cudmore) both of this city; Lottie (Mrs. Eddie Knowlton) Winchester, Mass.; Sadie (Mrs. Wesley Young) Daisy (Mrs. Joe Ball), both of Lethbridge, Alberta; Roy, Hunter, Roy, Everett, Sanquid, Alberta. Two sons and two daughters predeceased him, Lloyd Harry, Allison, Lois and Vera Mae; also two brothers, Percy, Lethbridge and William, Winchester, Mass.

The funeral was largely attended at his home; service was conducted by the Rev. T. E. McLennan. The Trinity church, accompanied by Mr. A. R. Kendall, beautifully sang his favorite hymns "The Lord's My Shepherd" and "Abide With Me." The large number of flowers, cards, telegrams and letters received indicated the esteem in which he was held.

Interment took place in the Peoples Cemetery. The pallbearers for the funeral were the Messrs. Charles Reardon, Arthur DeCoste, Heidy Weeks, Willie Walker, Elmer Brown, and Stanley Matheson.

Plutonium In Canada For Peacetime Use

By JOHN D. HAMILTON

NEW YORK, Feb. 3 (CP)—Gen. A. G. L. McNaughton tonight declined to comment on a New York Herald Tribune story from Ottawa stating that Canada is stockpiling small amounts of plutonium, the explosive material in the atomic bomb.

McNaughton, Canadian member of the United Nations Atomic Commission, said however: "I might repeat previous statements I have made on this subject: The Canadian atomic energy plant at Chalk River, Ont., has no military significance whatsoever. After the enemy was defeated it was determined by the Canadian Government to turn over the Chalk River plant to research authorities who would devote their energies toward the benefit of mankind. This they have done and this is the function of the Chalk River plant today."

Gen. McNaughton referred questions on the Herald Tribune story back to Dr. C. J. MacKenzie, president of the Canadian National Research Council, who was quoted by the newspapers as saying in an interview that "his nation's intention to make plutonium, expressed more than a year ago, has in the interval become an actuality." On Chalk River, Dr. MacKenzie said Monday night that the Deep River atomic plant at that town 125 miles northwest of Ottawa was building a chain-reacting pile from which plutonium is made. But he added that his statement had been "misinterpreted."

He said plutonium was used in atomic bombs but also had peacetime applications and that Deep River was interested in peacetime applications.

The Herald Tribune story today said that "the American monopoly" in the atomic energy field was "broken" by Canada, which has in operation a chain reacting pile and is already stock-piling small amounts of plutonium.

The newspaper also quoted Dr. MacKenzie as saying that "Canada is not interested in building bombs. We have never known anything about the construction of bombs even when we were associated with you (the United States) during the war."

"We do not have the industrial capacity to make bombs in great numbers and no country can think of building a weapon of which it will only have one or two. Could we go to war with a single atom bomb?"

LONDON—By Cable—On February 1st, 1947, their Majesties the King and Queen and their Royal Highnesses Princess Elizabeth and Princess Margaret will sail in H. M. S. Vanguard on their historic voyage to South Africa—the first visit ever to be paid to that Dominion by a reigning Monarch and his Queen.

The present Vanguard is the ninth ship of her name in the Royal Navy. The first was a galleon of 500 tons built in 1586, which fought against the Armada. Perhaps the most famous ship of the name to date was the fifth "Vanguard" which was completed in 1787 and had 74 guns and a crew of 589. She became Nelson's flagship in 1798 and took part in the Battle of the Nile in 1798, which put an end to Napoleon's Egyptian plans.

The building of Vanguard was a symbol of faith in Britain's ultimate victory, for her keel was laid in John Brown's yard at Clydebank in October 1941 when the Germans were sweeping across Russia and a Second Front seemed little more than a dream. She was built despite air raids, shipping losses and shortages, to become the world's most powerful battleship, as unsinkable as is humanity possible.

It took three years intensive work, not only by the shipbuilders, but also by countless thousands of other workers throughout the country to complete the task. In November 1944 Princess Elizabeth launched her; 18 months in the fitting-out basin followed and in April 1946 she was commissioned under the command of Captain W. G. Agnew, C.B., C.V.O., D.S.O., R.N., of Mediterranean fame during the war.

In the 12th of that month, H.R.H. Princess Elizabeth visited the ship to attend the centenary ceremony of Blessing the Ship, which was conducted by the Chaplain of the Fleet, The Rev. H.M.S. Vanguard's working career began in earnest. Vanguard's "teething" difficulties were not great and, having left the Clyde for Portsmouth, her home port, she was fitted accepted by the Admiralty at Spithead on August 6th.

Improvement was the key-word in the design and building of the ship, improvement in strength, in armament, in protection, in habitability. Everything from the shape of the hull down to the design of the mess-deck furnishings was studied for a possible increase in efficiency and comfort.

pointed stations.

The voyage will take sixteen days and no calls will be made on the way. There will, however, be plenty to occupy and interest the Royal party. There will be flying-off and flying-on aircraft from the escorting aircraft carrier to be watched, deck-tennis on the quarter-deck, and the latest films will be shown. Mr. Matheson will be in close touch throughout the voyage with affairs of State. Ample radio equipment is available on board to ensure continuous contact being maintained with London.

On the seventh day, in the latitude of Freeport, the Home Fleet escort will be relieved by H. M. S. Nigeria, flagship of the South Atlantic Station. On the eighth day H. M. S. Vanguard will cross the Equator and the ceremony connected with "Crossing the Line" will be carried out with all its traditional pantomime and good humour.

Two Royal Navy sloops and three frigates of the South African Naval Forces will join H. M. S. Nigeria as escort at a point between Freeport and Capetown, and on 17th February H. M. S. Vanguard will steam into Capetown harbour, there to transfer her Royal passengers to the hospitable care of the government and people of the Union of South Africa.

SEARLESTOWN W. L.
The members of the "Willing Workers" Institute met at the home of Mrs. Ken Muttart on January 7th, for their regular monthly meeting. The President, Mrs. Crewe, presided and the meeting opened with the Ode followed by the Creed. Roll call was responded to by eleven members. One visitor was present. Five members' MacEwen read and adopted.

A report of the Christmas Pantry Sale was given, proceeds $15.90. School and sick committees gave their reports. Acknowledgements were heard from those who received Christmas boxes. Several small bills were paid.

A letter was read from the Supervisor urging more attention and study be given to programs supplied by the different conveners. Mrs. Wright, Red Cross Convener distributed sewing to the members. Collection was taken amounting to 80 cents. An interesting feature of the evening was the presentation of a gift to Mrs. Tinson Newcome in recognition of the large amount of knitting and sewing she has done for the Red Cross and Institute within the last few years. Mrs. Newcome, completely taken by surprise, thanked the members for their kindness.

Next meeting to be held at the home of Mrs. Newcome. Roll call is to be answered with "My Favorite Radio Program". Mrs. Robinson is to have charge of the program. The National Anthem brought the meeting to a close.

Lunch was served by the hostess.

SCARF CAN GIVE LIFT TO COSTUME

Scarves are needed for yeoman service to protect your winter coat from your neck make-up. Even if you don't like these neck pieces, you ought to wear one out of respect for a coat collar that can't be cleaned as often as a scarf.

A scarf should be tied with some taste or draped for effect—not flung around a neck like a prize fighter's towel.

Since a scarf has the power to make or wreck your costume—even one topped by a fabulous mink coat—it should be picked with care.

Properly, the dominant colour in scarf should pick up the dominant colour of your clothes. A woman with a discerning eye for effects will think time well spent in searching for a scarf that echoes as many as two colours of her costume. Say, for example, she wears a gray suit with a yellow blouse. She wouldn't be attempting the impossible if she wanted to tie down a neckerchief that combines these two colours.

If the coat that completes this ensemble is brown, she might even find a scarf which subtly introduced the "royal" to the Canadian Dental Corps, which in the future will be known as the army.

ROYAL DENTAL CORPS

OTTAWA, Feb. 4 (CP)—Defence Minister Claxton announced today that the King has granted the title "royal" to the Canadian Dental Corps, which in the future will be known as the army.

"Royal Canadian Dental Corps"

Similar title was granted recently to the British Dental Corps. The Canadian Corps was formed in 1915, and although it was inactive during the peace period, it was authorized Sept. 1, 1930, as the Canadian Dental Corps. It now is part of the post-war active

SAVE SOME FOR YOURSELF!

It's a melancholy thought... but isn't it true that you are always the last to share in your monthly earnings?

There's the butcher, the baker, the coal-man, the landlord. There's that new mattress for Mary, or Junior's dental bill. All it takes is an unexpected "extra" or two and—bang!—where's that money you so carefully had earmarked for savings?

Yet here's an interesting thing. All through the war you proved, with your Victory Bond purchases, that you could "save some for yourself". In fact, you saved a surprisingly large amount.

You proved, too, that a back-log of savings "does things" to you. It gives a lift to your self-respect... to your sense of getting somewhere. It makes you feel less vulnerable—makes you more willing and able to grasp opportunity when it comes along. It gives you peace of mind. Who can say how important these things are, both to your progress and your personal happiness? Certainly they are well worth working for. And that means using yourself a certain set sum every month, and then making sure you collect it. So keep up that wartime saving habit. It's one good thing the war taught all of us.

PERHAPS YOU are one of the hundreds of thousands who already keep a Royal Bank savings account. If not, we'd like you to consider this your personal invitation to open one at the Royal Bank most convenient to you. The size of your first deposit isn't the important thing, to you or to us. The important thing is to open it, and then make sure, every pay day, that you save something for yourself.
