BITTEN BY DOG.

HALIFAX, June 29—Murie, During, the six-year-old daughter of David During, Carleton Street, was terribly lacerated by a bull dog at College Street School, yesterday afternoon. Some children were playing with the dog in the yard. The girls had a broom, which the dog caught hold of with his teeth and they were swinging the animal around. When the session opened the girls went to their class rooms and closed the doors. The dog later went into the building and when the little During girl, who was late, came along, the brute sprang upon her and knocked her down. He then fastened his teeth into one of her legs, and lacerated it in a frightful manner. The child's screams attracted attention, and several boys beat the maddened brute away. It is believed that had not assistance been near at hand, that the dog would have killed the child.

THE MOROCCO FIGHT.

PARIS, June 29—Ever since France established a foothold in Morocco doubts have been expressed whether the expenditure of blood and treasure the Deputy of the Vosges, has no doubt about the matter. He went to Morocco to study things on the spot, and has returned full of enthusiasm as to the future of France's big acquisition.

He says that in three or four or five years, at most, the French will be the masters of Morocco, which he describes as an immense and superb country, the resources of which cannot be valued at too high a value. He admits that the country is in a state of chaos, but believes that Gen. Lyautey is the man to put it in order. Furthermore, he considers that when the military organization of the country has become an accomplished fact, France will hold Morocco from the sea to the Atlas with less than half as many men, perhaps, as Spain now employs around Melilla and the Rif. These Algerians and the Tunisians will, he asserts, give valuable assistance in this conquest. As a feudal country now in a state of anarchy, Gen. Lyautey will accomplish his mission satisfactorily.

Order will soon be established in the district from Fez to Mequines and Rabat. It is in the south toward Marakech, where the trouble lies. M. Ferry believes that an expedition of 3,000 men travelling through the disturbed districts would accomplish useful results.

Morocco is described as a splendid and vigorous country. It is not, exactly a Klondike, but the colonist will find no difficulty in making a comfortable living there. A good deal yet remains to be done in the country, and M. Ferry suggests that a public office in Paris should be opened as soon as possible.

The French have made many serious mistakes in the past in Morocco. There has been too much haste, which has given rise to disorder, with the result that the national interest has suffered, but the deputy believes that all this can be repaired.

HEROIC ACT.

BOSTON, Mass., July 2—With the basement of the seven-story building at 419-425 Atlantic avenue a seething cauldron of flames amid half a dozen barrels of oil, William Dodge, a veteran elevator man almost 80 years of age, shortly after 8 o'clock Thursday morning performed one of the most unique and cool-headed feats of heroism ever recorded in the history of the Boston fire department.

The flames had gained great headway when discovered and the smoke was pouring up the elevator shaft when Dodge, still active despite his 78 years of age, realized that there were fifteen girls at work in the Harding Shoe Company on the seventh floor and many men on the floors below who would, in all probability, be unable to make their escape if the flames followed the smoke up the shaft.

Throwing over the lever of his car he sped up to the top of the building, shouting warnings at each floor, and when he reached the top he began to fear that a second trip might be impossible because of the suffocating smoke.

With his car on the level of the seventh floor he admitted eleven of the frightened girls and then closed the gate. He lowered the car until the top of it was level with the floor and then called up: Slide the gate back and let the four girls who are left stand on the top of the car and hang onto the cable.

After the last girl had climbed up on the top of the wire meshing seven men also stepped on, and, with a cargo of twenty-three lives packed inside and on top of the elevator, he made his trip cautiously to the street floor, descending at first sufficiently to allow those on top to alight and then ascending to the regular level.

The veteran elevator man then made inquiries to ascertain whether the Purchase street side of the basement, where half a hundred more or not the flames were spreading to barrels of oil were stored, but these fortunately did not ignite.

The remainder of the occupants of the building had in the meantime made their escape down the stairs and the firemen, after a hard fight of half an hour, succeeded in extinguish-

TO GUARD HONG KONG.

HONG KONG, June 29—British troops have been dispatched from here to guard the frontier, where they will remain for an indefinite period. The city of Canton is in a ferment and all trains coming from Canton to Hong Kong have been delayed owing to trouble on the railroad. Several of the locomotives have been tampered with. The leaders of the Manchu movement are known to be resident in the Portuguese dependency of Macao and in the city of Hong Kong. Quantities of money are coming into the southern provinces and arms and ammunition have been smuggled into the Province of Kwangtung, while secret meetings have been held to organize an uprising in Wuchow and Canton.

The policy of the Government officials is very unpopular and executions are occurring daily. The Mayor of the Maritime town and treaty ports of Pakhoi, on the gulf of Tonkin, boasts that five thousand people have been killed there alone. The authorities at Hong Kong are keeping a watchful eye on the foreign settlement in Canton and on the British Railway. Many Chinese are fleeing.

THE INSPECTION

Every scholar was wearing his best clothes and every face was beaming brightly. And the teacher's eyes watched grimly lest one small slip should spoil the record of her class.

For it was the annual inspection and the fierce-looking man who called himself inspector was putting the pupils through their paces. "Now, boys," he called, "I want you to tell me—what is a blizzard?" Silence reigned.

"What is a blizzard?" demanded the ferocious one. And still silence reigned. The teacher glanced at the top boy then nodded to encourage him, and at last there came a look of pleading in her eyes. She went almost slowly the top boy's hand went up "Yes?" snapped the Inspector. "Go on, tell me—What is a blizzard?" "P—please, sir," stammered the youthful encyclopedist, "it's the inside of a hen!"

OLD LADY ALMOST CRAZY WITH ECZEMA

A Remarkable and Convincing Statement of the Success of Cuticura Soap and Ointment in the Treatment of the Pain, Itching and Burning of Eczema

"I, the undersigned, cannot give enough praise to the Cuticura Remedies. I had been doctoring for at least a year for eczema on my foot. I had tried doctor after doctor all to no avail. When a young girl I sprained my ankle three different times, paying little or no attention to it, when five years ago a small spot showed upon my left ankle. I was worried and I sent for a doctor. He said it was eczema. He drew a small bone from the ankle about the size of a match and about an inch long. The small hole grew to about the size of an apple, and the eczema spread to the knee. The doctors never could heal the hole in the ankle. The whole foot ran water all the time. "My husband and my sons were up night and day wheeling me from one room to another in the hope of giving me some relief. I would sit for hours at a time in front of the fireplace hoping for daybreak. The pain was so intense I was almost crazy. In fact, I would lose my reason for hours at a time. One day a friend of mine dropped in to see me. No more had she glanced at my foot than she exclaimed, 'Mrs. Finnegan, why in the world don't you try the Cuticura Remedies?' Being disgusted with the doctors and their medicines, and not being able to sleep at all, I decided to give the Cuticura Soap and Ointment a trial. After using them three days that night I slept as sound as a silver dollar for eight long hours. I awoke in the morning with but very little pain. In fact, I thought I was in heaven. After using the Cuticura Remedies for three months I was perfectly restored to health, thanks to the Cuticura Soap and Ointment. I am now sixty-four years of age, my next birthday, hale and hearty as a peach." (Signed) Mrs. J. E. Finnegan, 2384 Hebert St., St. Louis, Mo., Mar. 7, 11. Cuticura Soap and Ointment are sold throughout the world, and to Postpaid, D. S. C. Corp., 37 Columbus Ave., Boston, U. S. A. For free sample of each with 32c.
