The subject at Fairview and Kingston will be "They Shall Not Pass." Note: S. School only at North River. Rev. A. E. Todd, Minister. 4-24-41.

HOME ON LEAVE.—David McKay, R.C.N.V.R., arrived home a few days ago from Scotland after an absence of fourteen years to visit his mother, Mrs. Joseph Dunan, 106 Spring Park Road. Mr. McKay was entertained at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Rhynes on Wednesday evening when the popular sailor boy was greeted by many of his old friends and a jolly time was spent in dancing and singing until the wee sma' hours. He left to rejoin his ship yesterday.

FUNERAL SERVICES.—The funeral of Mrs. Mary O'Neill was held yesterday morning from Frank Hennessey's Funeral Home to St. Dunstan's Basilica where Requiem High Mass was celebrated by Rev. L. J. Ayres who also conducted service at the grave. The pall bearers were Messrs. Patrick McLaughlin, Adams, J. B. Fleming, Alex. Coady, M. A. Farmer and W. Chester S. McLaure.

BURIAL YESTERDAY.—The funeral of Mrs. Moses Martin was held yesterday morning from her late residence, 184 George Street, to St. Dunstan's Basilica where Requiem High Mass was celebrated by Capt. J. B. Fleming. The pall bearers also conducted service at the grave. The pallbearers were: Leo Doucette, Eugene Doucette, Frank Bradley, Ignatius Martin, William McKay, and Lee Rogers.

PREPARING TRAWLING GEAR.—Now that the fishermen of North Rustico have finished building their lobster gear, they are getting their boats ready to be launched the early part of next week. Amongst the many fishermen of North Rustico, there are a few who do not go in for lobster fishing, that later in the season they start trawling (cod fishing). One of the leading trawling fishermen of North Rustico is Mr. James J. Blaquiere, who incidentally has two sons serving their country. One of them is the R. C. A. F. (Cpl. Blaquiere) who is in the R. C. N. in British Columbia. Mr. Blaquiere is now preparing his trawling gear for the coming season.

AFTERNOON TEA.—The afternoon tea held at the Government House yesterday under the auspices of the Royal Edward Chapter of the I. O. D. E. was a decided success both financially and socially. Government House on the beautiful spring day provided a splendid setting for the event. The large number of callers were received by Mrs. LePage, the Regent, Mrs. H. J. Gordon and Mrs. A. E. Morrison. Those ushered by Mrs. E. C. Saunders and Mrs. Arthur Mould. Tea was poured by Mrs. J. A. Matheson, Mrs. W. E. Bentley, Mrs. C. H. B. Longworth, and Mrs. C. Crawwell. Those assisting were Mrs. H. L. Bethune, Miss Roberta Nicholson, Mrs. Henry Laphorne, Mrs. Arthur Miller, Mrs. C. C. Crawford, Mrs. C. H. Beer, Mrs. George Blinn, Miss Mary Hazzard, Miss Emma Nicholson, Miss Ethel Stewart, Mrs. J. A. Lawson, Mrs. Lemuel McDougall and Mrs. E. C. Colfax. The prominent places were displayed using every loyal Canadian woman to vote in the coming Plebiscite.

Parcels From Canada 'Godsend,' Say Prisoners

(By JOSEPH M. LEVY)

CAIRO, April 22.—Still not quite over the "back-from-the-dead" feeling, British prisoners who have arrived here from Italy in the first contingent under the new exchange plan sat on hospital cots today and told how it felt to be day after day in prisoners-of-war camp, often completely out of touch with relatives and friends, with no hope of anything different in the near future.

They also tried to tell how it felt to "come back" again. But their words failed them. "God, it's great!" was about the best that they could muster.

They arrived at Cairo yesterday after having travelled from Italy via Smyrna, where they left the Italian vessel and boarded the British ship Llandovery Castle. A group of Italians who left Alexandria a little more than a week ago figured in the exchange at Smyrna.

"One of the nicest things about getting back is having access to news that hasn't come through in the Italian papers," a British private said.

"In the big camp at Sulmona, where we stayed, prisoners translated Italian newspapers into English and published their own news bulletin.

"But we had to get our news by reading between the lines," he explained.

The former prisoners of war have now discovered, to their amusement, that the Italian newspapers have been praising "the terrific resistance" of our heroic troops in East Africa "three months after Gondar, the last Italian stronghold in Ethiopia, fell. Some Italian soldiers who worked about the camps had been in Precautions against planting seed too close together are based on a genuine desire to save the amateur gardener a lot of work and keep him fresh just in case the Japs get too close. It is properly spaced in the first place, there will be little thinning, which in most cases is a bit of a chore. With things like beans, peas, etc., the seed should be planted from three to four inches apart. With smaller seed like that of carrots, beets, lettuce, etc., it is difficult to space to the two inches the first plants should be apart, but with a little care it can be done thinly. Sowing of very small seed can be aided by mixing the same with a little dry sand, then sowing the whole mixture.

The professional advises a thorough rolling of the lawn each Spring to press roots back firmly into the soil. They also urge one through weeding each week, using a special spudger and at least one good application of fertilizer. The latter is most important as it will tend to promote rapid growth, which will choke out most weeds. It also improves the color of plants.

IN MEMORIAM

MRS. JOHN F. SHARKEY

The death occurred at Corvallis on March 23rd Mrs. John F. Sharkey (nee Annie Hanaghan) after a lingering illness.

A devout Catholic she bore her suffering with courage and fortitude and was comforted in her last hours by the reception of Holy Communion and the last rites of the church administered by her pastor, Rev. Patrick McMahon.

She leaves to mourn her passing her husband, two daughters, Edward and Stella and two adopted nephews, Francis and Gerald Hanaghan. Also surviving are two sisters, Mrs. Michael J. O'Rourke, East, and Mrs. Margaret Montgomery of Massachusetts, and four brothers, Joseph and James of Boscawen, N.S., and John of Massachusetts.

The funeral was held from her home to All Saint's Church, Charlottetown, where Requiem High Mass was celebrated by her pastor, Rev. Patrick McMahon who also conducted the services at the grave.

The pall bearers were two nephews, Bernard and Ernest Tobin, also Harold Redmond, Joseph Macdonald, Patrick Sharkey and Angus MacPhee. The hearse was driven by Edward Sharkey.

To the bereaved family the entire community extends its sincerest sympathy. May her soul rest in peace.

TRAVELLER'S REST W. L.

The regular monthly meeting of Maple Leaf Women's Institute met in their club room on April 16th at 2 o'clock.

The president opened the meeting with the Ode followed by the Creed.

The roll call was answered by thirteen members. The minutes of the last meeting were read and approved.

The secretary read the correspondence and the committees gave their reports. The new school committee is Miss Georgie Matheson.

Ways of raising money for Red Cross were discussed and it was decided that each member raise a dollar before the June meeting and tell how it was done. It was also decided to have a social evening in the hall in May and a committee was appointed to look after same.

Miss Matheson was appointed Red Cross Convener for next month. The following Red Cross articles were passed in by the members: 2 pairs socks, 2 pairs gloves, 4 pairs mitts, 2 sweaters, 2 pillows, 2 pair pyjamas. The programme consisted of a reading by Mrs. C. Marchbank and a contest by Miss G. Matheson. The National Anthem brought the meeting to a close after which a hearty supper was served by the committee in charge.

Canadian Garden Service - 1942

By Gordon Lindsay Smith

Planting Care

Too often the seed or nursery stock is blamed for poor results when in reality the fault lies entirely in careless planting. The job is simple but experienced gardeners point out that it must be done properly for satisfactory results.

In the first place, these experts insist, the soil and climatic conditions must be favourable. By this they mean that seed should not be

Too Early, Too Deep, Too Thick

Generally speaking, the amateur gardener, it is claimed, plants too deep, too early and too thick. All these mistakes lead to trouble. Seed planted too deep will not germinate well. The general rule is three times the diameter, which means more pressing into the soil for fine seed like that of radish, poppy, carrot, etc., and about one or two inches deep for beans and peas. With bulbs and tubers like gladiolus and potatoes, from six to ten inches deep is recommended. The heavier the soil the shallower the planting.

Too early planting, of course with tender things that will not stand frost is fatal. Many gardeners, too, rush all vegetable seeds in at the same time and usually a day to a week ahead of the regular season. This is all right, professional point out, for a portion of the seed in each packet. W. Luck, one gets very early vegetables, but most of the seed should be saved for regular planting and some of it left on. This insures safety against early losses through weather and what is most important, it prevents the harvesting season over several weeks, with really garden fresh vegetables coming along steadily for the table instead of a feast and a famine succession.
