NATURE AND A WOMAN'S WORK

LYDIA E. PINKHAM

Nature and a woman's work combined have produced the grandest remedy for woman's ills that the world has ever known.

In the good old-fashioned days of our grandmothers they relied upon the roots and herbs of the field to cure disease and mitigate suffering.

The Indians on our Western plains to-day can produce roots and herbs for every ailment, and cure physicians who have spent years in the study of drugs.

From the roots and herbs of the field, Lydia E. Pinkham more than thirty years ago gave to the women of the world a remedy for their peculiar ills, more potent and efficacious than any combination of drugs.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is now recognized as the standard remedy for woman's ills.

Mrs. J. M. Tweeddale, 12 Napanee Street, Toronto, Canada, writes to Mrs. Pinkham:

"I was a great sufferer from female troubles, had those dreadful bearing down pains, and during my monthly periods I suffered so I had to go to bed. I doctored for a long time but the doctor's treatment failed to help me. My husband saw Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound advertised and got a bottle for me. I commenced its use and soon felt better. I kept on taking it until I was well and an entirely different woman. I also found that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound made childbirth much easier for me. I would recommend your Vegetable Compound to every woman who is afflicted with female troubles."

What Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound did for Mrs. Tweeddale, it will do for other suffering women.

THE WORLD'S FIRST GREAT NAVIGATOR

LONDON, Aug. 1. — Coincident with the dawning triumph of aerial navigation, comes the unearthing of a grand adventure of the world's first great navigator and explorer. His name was Ptolemy, and he lived in Egypt 2,000 years before Columbus discovered America. His great exploit was the circumnavigation of Africa, a voyage more than three times as long as that of Columbus. It occupied him nearly five years.

The story is told on two large scarabs which recently came into possession of the Brussels Museum from a private collection. The first scarab was engraved for King Necho II, 610 B. C., to commemorate the voyage. It sets forth that the King sent a message, "to complete the circuit of the unknown land"; that the messenger returned by water to Barbastis, where the scarab was discovered, and that the King had a detailed report of the wonders seen during the voyage taken down from the envoy's lips.

The second scarab contains Ptolemy's own report of his explorations. Prof. Capart, of Brussels, gave a translation to the French Academy on Friday. After a long enumeration of his various distinctions, the Royal envoy describes the stages of his journey. He started in the year 8 of King Necho from the Red Sea and navigated toward the mouth of the Nile, which is frequently mentioned in the text, arriving at the ocean in less than two months after leaving Egypt. A year and seven months' navigation towards the south brought him to a mountain which he calls "the horn of the east," in which he fancied that he identified a mountain which the Egyptians had regarded as their most remote southern frontier.

Prof. Capart observed to the academy this "horn of the earth" was not likely to have been the Cape of Good Hope, but some point much higher up the east coast. At all events, from this point the explorer travelled absolutely in an unknown world, and the phrase of the text indicates that he met no inhabitants. Finally, in the twelfth year of King Necho's reign, after a journey of nearly five years, Ptolemy arrived safely and sound at Barbastis, bringing with him numerous products from the regions he visited. The King directed that a record of the journey should be engraved in steel in the temple to proclaim for all time over the earth the name of his envoy. Prof. Capart added that the text published by Foucart in 1895, which was copied at Simbellawin, in the north east of the Delta, seems to refer to a royal messenger. These scarabs, the text of which, unfortunately, is mutilated, appear to allude to other expeditions on land by Ptolemy.

VETERANS WILL NOT GIVE THANKS.

OTTAWA, Ont., Aug. 1.—The South African Veterans Association of Ottawa has decided not to pass any resolution of thanks to the Dominion government for the land grants in the west made to veterans, at least until it knows more of the conditions under which the land is received. A meeting was called last night to make arrangements for the demonstration in honor of Lord Roberts on Saturday, and was held in the city hall. It was suggested by the president, Major Winter, that the government had recently granted to each veteran in the northwest a resolution of thanks should be passed and copies forwarded to the premier, R. L. Borden and Hon. Frank Oliver. No one seemed ready to prepare such a resolution, as all were eager to know what they were to get. The proposal led to a hot discussion over the provisions of the bill, which are not by any means satisfactory to the veterans. The upshot was a decision to postpone thanks until an inquiry is made and a pamphlet is issued by the association for the information of veterans throughout Canada on the subject.

IS YOUR LIVER LAZY?

Slow liver action indicates impure blood, means skin is endangered at its fountain. The skin is sallow, eyes are dull, appetite is poor, digestion is weak, and nervousness and vapors run through the head. Nothing tones you up like Dr. Hamilton's Pills—they cleanse the whole system, purify the blood, nourish it—bring you vigor, cheery spirits, strength to work hard. IGNOBLE END OF A NOVA SCOTIAN SHIP.

ST. JOHN, N. B., Aug. 1. — After a successful career of twenty-six years the full rigged ship Euphemia, built in Salmon River, N. S., but which for many years had flown the Italian flag, came to an ignoble end in Pensacola, Fla., a fortnight ago, when she was set on fire by the owners and burned to the waters edge. The meta, in her might be secured.

The Euphemia was built in 1872, and sailed the high seas successfully, until last year she encountered a storm in the Gulf and put into Pensacola in distress. A survey was made and she was condemned, being sold at auction and bought by Mr. Levi. She was then stripped of everything valuable that could be moved, saturated with oil and the torch applied. All night the big ship burned and next day she was at the water's edge. The owner was now wader from his shallow water all of the brass and copper contained in the vessel. The Euphemia was built at Salmon River, by J. Allen. She was 1,381 tons gross, and 205x39x23 feet. Her last owners were Rosacco Brothers, of Pensacola, members of the Genoa firm of that name. The Euphemia was well known at this port and has visited here on several occasions.

PAINT FACTORY

Something About the Recent New Industry of the Well Known Sign Painter H. H. Crosman

H. H. Crosman the well known painter of this City, whose skill as an artist is now well established, is nothing if he is not ingenious. His recent venture of the establishment of a paint factory in his shop No. 161 Kent St., is meeting with success. All his life engaged in painting, Mr. Crosman had received many enquiries concerning English White Lead, and had been asked if he could not obtain it in its purity.

Mr. Crosman is importing direct from England the finest quality of Dry White Lead obtainable, the Lead is corroded by the process known as the old Dutch process which has been in existence for over 200 years and universally acknowledged to be superior to any acid process of corroding. Mr. Crosman grinds the Lead to the desired fineness in a Mill designed by Andrew McNair of the firm of Bruce Stewart & Co. and built by that firm.

Mr. Crosman says he uses only the purest Lined Oil and that he does not use any gum dryers, as he maintains these injuriously effects the Oil, as a dryer he recommends Litharge which is Oxid of Lead the purity of which he fully guarantees. The Mill is run by a gasoline engine, which is in use for running other machinery in his shop, the Mill will turn out 300 pounds of paint per hour and is capable of supplying P. E. Island. Already several of the best houses in town have been painted with Mr. Crosman's paint. Reverse Hotel, L. E. Prowse's, A. B. Warburton's, Mrs. George Simpson's, Fred Houle's, Charles Collins', and many others, and thus speak for themselves.

He intends shortly to advertise extensively, and is preparing a sign representing pictorially the idea of P. E. Island manufacturing a product of Great Britain. The result of the establishment in this City of this industry will be awaited with interest by all who are interested in the development of this province. Mr. Crosman is prepared to handle all kind of painting and will have none but experienced painters to handle his stock.

It must be remembered that this factory is only an enlargement of Mr. Crosman's business, as he will carry on sign and ornamental painting as before. In this line he enjoys a very high reputation and his work speaks for itself all through the province. He has received orders for painting outside the Island such as Glace Bay, Toronto, London, Ont., and other places.

Ruberoid Roofing

Trade Mark Registered Made in Canada

16 Years on the Roofs

After all, the real test of a roofing is the wear. Of what use is a guarantee that "it will last a lifetime" when the roofing itself has been made only a few years—and even the makers cannot say, from actual experience, just how long it will last? RUBEROID has been used on roofs for 16 years. It has proved its wearing qualities—in the Arctic and the Tropics. It is the original smooth surfaced roofing and is today the standard the world over.
