Your Individual HOROSCOPE

By Frances Drake

For Wednesday, February 26th (Mars)—MARCH 21 TO APRIL 20 (Aries)—A sermon marked "FOR THE DISTINGUISHED LOOKING MAN FROM PRINCE EDWARD ISLAND" BY REV. HOWARD PEASE, RECTOR OF THE CHURCH OF THE LIVING GOD, MARCH 21 TO APRIL 20 (Aries)—

APRIL 21 TO MAY 20 (Taurus)—Today should be friendly for all constructive industrial and mechanical matters, and other forms of activity that have value and purpose. Money can be made, and important problems favored and on the sponsored list.

MAY 21 TO JUNE 20 (Gemini)—Scales tip in your favor, particularly for you soon before favorable for all business lines, particularly those that are practical, essential and substantial. Routine affairs and domestic problems favored all day. Patience important.

JUNE 21 TO JULY 20 (Cancer)—One of those lucky days favoring the interests dear to your heart and for which you have a natural aptitude. You are dealing in food stuffs, cosmetics, toiletries, perfumes, are goods and decorative fabrics and objects should find today prosperous.

JULY 21 TO AUGUST 20 (Leo)—Interests that favored today are literary endeavors, matters pertaining to taxes, inheritance, government projects, property, shipping, travel. Discretion and alertness particularly advised in subtle and confidential affairs.

AUGUST 21 TO SEPTEMBER 20 (Virgo)—More propitious for the very practical and progressive urgent activities than for social or artistic conquests. Headway can be made in selling and manufacturing. SEPTEMBER 21 TO OCTOBER 20 (Libra)—Great caution and care about details are urged in legal phases, but when he saw injustices, oppression, bribery, corruption, selfishness, wastefulness, greed in high places, and his righteous anger burned within him, he dared to speak up for the oppressed. He was a man of his own time, and his own time was long ago. What I want to know is whether there is help today in my situation.

What do they say about the social sins of highly civilized age? About holding stock in a company notorious for its unethical practices? About the acquisitive motive in modern business? About pacifism? About a social order that produces more than can be distributed. About want in the midst of plenty?

What do the Ten Commandments say about any of these? Not one thing! And yet these are the questions that are being asked of us today. These questions are with us. They seem likely to remain with us. They will not go down, and if we are to find the answers to them, it must be by recognizing that the call to fairness, to brotherly kindness, to good will, to justice, to the call of the living God speaking to us today.

Dorothy Dix Says EVERY WIFE SHOULD PREPARE FOR HER DAYS OF LONELINESS

She Should Acquire Interests Which Will Absorb Her Time And Energies After The Children Take Up Their Own Lives

An eminent nerve specialist says that the bored, middle-aged woman knows nothing to do or interest her after her children are grown and leave home is God's gift to the medical profession, for it is she and her sisters who crowd the waiting rooms of physicians and fill sanatoriums and hospitals.

Then they must go about the business of life for themselves, and a mother should prepare herself for it by providing herself with many interests as possible to fall back upon in her hour of need. It is the only thing that will save a woman from joining the throng of neurotics who seek doctors of medicine and talk about their symptoms.

CHILD BORN ON THIS DAY A gatherer of knowledge, but unassuming in exhibiting what he or she knows; pleasant and cheerful in disposition; inclined to minimize his (or her) own ability. A position of trust can be ably handled by this individual. Strongly advised to follow his intuition and sound judgment. Beware of a character-builder.

of darkness or despair." Quoted in McIntosh, Is there a God? P.254. An ounce of fact, it has been said, is worth a pound of theory. Here the fact that a man of our own time, worn, weary, broken, found grace to help in time of need when he put himself into right relation to the living God. No long ago in our day.

There is something else, too, that we are called upon to meet sooner or later. It is a hard, dry, cold, and there is abundant testimony that in the past time in time of affliction called upon God and were comforted. "Our fathers trusted in thee; they cried unto thee and were delivered; they trusted in thee and were not ashamed." So reads the record; but that was long ago. What I want to know is whether there is help today in my situation.

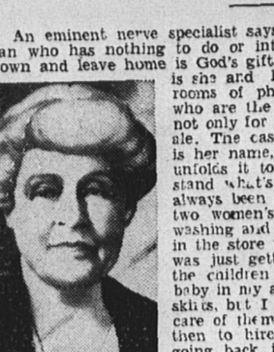

Again I call a living witness: I had just closed a service for one of our own number suddenly taken from us. I had read the psalm of comfort and healing as seemed appropriate to this particular situation, speaking of the faith that never dies and the love that never fails. It was a moment's delay at the close of the service, and while we were waiting a lady whom I had never seen came over to me and said:

"I can certify to the truth of the words you have read today. Six months ago I passed through a sorrow so acute that I was on the verge of crushing; it seemed to me I could not live. I must break under the load; and then, from some source I do not know, strength to carry on. I have never been a student of religion," she continued. "I do not know how to explain it. I only know that in my sorrow, and in my extremity, comfort came—from somewhere."

My mind you remind you, is no voice out of the past. It speaks of a recent experience. There is no possible doubt as to the reality of it. And when human resources fail, when we have done our best and it is not good enough, or adequate to our need, then, because he is a living God we may expect grace to help in time of need.

LET US ENJOY

Let us enjoy the little things Just as they come along. The shine of stars above the barn. A thin sweet note of song. The gleam of frost at ten below. Old horses pawing at the snow.

Let us enjoy the milkweed pods That spill their tangled silk. A spray of lilacs in a vase. As rich as country milk. The blunt old beams of weathered oak. The wrinkled faces of old folk.

The swing of hills along a street. A blind man's battered cup. A quiet farmyard in the fall. The gambols of a pup. A table set... a friendly smile. That makes this tough old life worth while. —Edna Jaques.

Lamb roast should always be placed on a rack and cooked uncovered. Every particle of the earth, from chalk to diamonds, once was only gas, according to scientists. Twins or larger multiple births are unknown in the home life of fur seals.

OLD FELT HATS A discarded felt hat comes in very handy to cut new inner soles for those comfortable old bedroom slippers that lost their long ago. Gilt them in so they stay firm and comfortable.

No complete specimen of a dodo, not even the bird's skeleton, is in existence to-day. LUNCHEON DISH Make a ring mold of cooked macaroni. Fill with creamed chicken or ham. Sprinkle generously with grated cheese. Broil lightly under broiler.

The British flag flies over more than 100 islands in the West Indies. Except for elaborately formal gowns of elegant occasions, evening gowns have the covered-up look. The "cover up" sometimes is nothing more than a strip of chiffon or lace, but it is there.

Broad beans whilst they are young, can be patted at edges and cut up like spinach, and cooked the same way. They are hardly any different in flavor from runner beans, and quite as palatable. Cut on a board as they are too soft to do in the hand.

Boomerang A soldier and his company from church parade on the ground that he was an agnostic. The sergeant-major assumed an expression of innocent interest. "Don't you believe in the Ten Commandments he asked mildly. Not one, sir, was the reply. Not even the rule about keeping the Sabbath. No, sir. The sergeant-major smiled. Ah well, you're the very man I've been looking for to scrub out the dry canteen!

A Morning Smile

Sprinkle a little cold water over jam tarts before they are baked. The jam won't burn—they look nicer, too when cooled.

Hot bran and a stiff brush are all that are needed to give your carpet a quick but efficient cleaning. Don't throw away soap suds after washing through garments; it doesn't matter how dirty they are, sprayed over the plants they will kill insects like magic.

In an afternoon frock of black woolen, the skirt is slashed to show the sapphire blue velvet sheath, which also is revealed beneath the cut-work embroidery. A wadded, dropped shawl under yoke is enthusiastically by embroidery.
