

DOCTOR ADVISED AN OPERATION

Read Alberta Woman's Experience with Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Provost, Alberta.—"Perhaps you will remember sending me one of your books a year ago. I was in a bad condition and would suffer awful pains at times and could not do anything. The doctor said I could not have children unless I went under an operation. I read testimonials of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound in the papers and a friend recommended me to take it. After taking three bottles I became much better and now I have a bonny baby girl four months old. I do my housework and help a little with the chores. I recommend the Vegetable Compound to my friends and am willing for you to use this testimonial letter."—Mrs. A. A. ADAMS, Box 54, Provost, Alberta.

Pains in Left Side

Lachine, Quebec.—"I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound because I suffered with pains in my left side and back and with weakness and other troubles women so often have. I was this way about six months. I saw the Vegetable Compound advertised in the 'Montreal Standard' and I have taken four bottles of it. I was a very sick woman and I feel so much better I would not be without it. I also use Lydia E. Pinkham's Sanative Wash. I recommend the medicines to my friends and I am willing for you to use my letter as a testimonial."—Mrs. M. W. ROSE, 880 Notre Dame St., Lachine, Quebec.

Insidious Eye strain

We use this adjective advisedly. Sufferers from Eyestrain may have perfect vision and therefore do not suspect the presence of any eye defect. The motive power of the entire human organism is Nerve Energy. Normal eyes, it is computed utilize about 20% of this Nerve Energy, but when Eyestrain is present, a much larger proportion is required. Hence defective eyes, through their consumption of an excessive amount of Nerve Energy, may seriously affect the functioning of other organs of the body, and produce ill health.

The Quaker Mills at Peterborough, Ontario

Thanksgiving

AND now the nation unites in giving thanks. From East and West, from farm and factory, office and store, from every Canadian home come sincere expressions of gratitude for Nature's blessings.

The first consideration of the Quaker Oats Company is to meet the domestic demand for cereal products of highest quality. The surplus output of the Quaker Mills is then shipped to all parts of the world.

That the crop is a bountiful one, means much to Canadians in every walk of life. It will speed the wheels of industry; it will accelerate development in all parts of the Dominion.

The Company's symbol—the homely Quaker—is as evident in Asia, as in Canada. In the Far North, in the Tropics, in 50 different countries—wherever there is civilization—you will find the familiar Quaker packages.

The crop is safely harvested. But it must be marketed. A great part must be transmuted into food products for Canadian tables. It is in this important work that the Quaker Oats Company's activities loom larger each succeeding year.

The daily capacity of the Company's Canadian Mills is 5,000 barrels flour, 3,000 barrels Oats products, 350 barrels cornmeal, 1,000 cases puffed goods, 600 cases corn flakes, 200 kegs barley, 500 tons poultry and cattle feed. The elevator capacity is 2,500,000 bushels.

The Quaker Oats Company gathers from all parts of the country a vast quantity of the best grains of every kind. Its mills are the most modern and efficient in the world. In them the grain is milled most perfectly for human consumption.

That the Quaker Oats Company is privileged to serve to such an extent in the capitalization of the crop—that it is privileged to contribute to the promotion of Canada's position as one of the leading food exporting countries in the world—actuates this message at Thanksgiving time.

IN MEMORIAM

MR. WILLIAM HUNTLEY

A Christian went home when Mr. William Huntley died on Aug. 26th 1924, at Vernon. His death was not only a release, it was a victory.

For over seven years he had been fighting against increasing affliction and during the last month he suffered much yet his faith in Christ never wavered and his expectation of Heaven was eager and strong. Those who watched by his bedside heard him often speak of going home.

Deceased was a man of sterling Christian character, a man beloved and revered by his family, respected by the community and one who was an ornament to the Christian church. He was especially kind to, and considerate of the resident minister, and always thoughtful and spoke highly of the man who had all through his life ministered to him in holy things.

ingly of those who during life had been his companions in faith and work. He was also predeceased by Walter Edgar an infant son.

The funeral service was held in the Vernon River Methodist Church. It was exceedingly appropriate that it was so, for he had loved and worked for its well-being for the greater part of his life. The congregation filled the church to overflowing. The dominant thought of the service in hymn, prayer and discourse, as conducted by Rev. E. A. Westmoreland was that Heaven is the home of the followers of Jesus. The impressiveness of the service was enhanced by the soulful rendition by Mrs. George McLeod of Montreal of the hymn beginning "Sortly and gently Jesus is calling."

The pall-bearers were Messrs. Albert Emman, William Masters, Robert Furness, John McGivray, John McLeod and Patrick McKenna. His remains were lovingly laid to rest among the remains of many who in bygone days had loved and respected him, and with whom he had toiled for the higher things of life.

owing he strove to interpret Germany to America, America to Germany.

"I remember as if it were yesterday our first Cambridge party. At her threshold of the new academic year Professor Norton and his family had invited some scores of friends to greet the new professors. It had been her-aided to us as the chief festival event of the Cambridge season. The quaint, dignified home on the hill was dimly illumined by the mellow light of a few shaded lamps. There was some coffee and some lemonade, a few tiny brown bread sandwiches and I think, some ice cream.

"I had not dined at home that night in the expectation of the glorious feast, with an abundance of courses and wines as at such evening parties in Germany, and yet when we drove home from Shady Hill my wife and I felt a joy and satisfaction such as few parties had ever given us before. We felt as if we had entered a truly spiritual community where the plain and for high thinking and plain living was the life instinct.

gaudy America, that vulgar and trivial America, that corrupt and self seeking America, that noisy and sensational America, of which all Europe was talking? Had no one ever discovered the true soul of the American people?"

Shouldn't Tell' has known wasterous official. Prince Herbert Bismarck. The au- mark!" shouted the Prussian. Then the official with a smile plied: "That, of course, explained but it does not excuse your duet!"

EXPLAINED BUT DID NOT EXCUSE. Among the many people the anonymous author of "Things I

Herbert tried to get in, and when the door was closed on him, bared at the door, shouting: "Open! Open! I am Count Herbert Bismarck!"

"You mustn't do that," said a courteous official. "But I am Count Herbert Bismarck!"

Walter (after guest has rung ten minutes): "Did you ring, sir?" Guest: "No, I was tolling; thought you were dead!"
