BURN'S CONCERT, OPERA HOUSE, 25TH JANUARY.—"Ayr is an old place and traces of Roman occupation occasionally turn up. On the way to Burn's cottage we are shown the ford wherein the snow the Chapman smooored, 150 yards from Slaphouse Bridge. The Melk's stone where drucken Charlie brak's neck bone," stands behind a little white cottage, 20 yards from the road. These were situated on the old way. The cottage, a low-thatched building, remains nearly as it was when Burns was born in it on 25th January 1759. It contains some memorials of the poet Alloways. Auld haunted Kirk lies about a quarter of a mile from the cottage. In it is the grave of Burn's father. A short distance from the Kirk is the Auld Brig O' Doon, where Tam O' Shanter's auld mare Meg left her ain grey tail. The scenery on the Doon is beautiful. Near the Bridge stands Burn's monument, a beautiful edifice, modelled after the monument of Lyciscrates at Athens, and erected in 1820-23. It contains several relics of Burns, Highland Mary's Bible, Jean Armour's wedding ring, editions of his works, etc."

This concert on Monday evening in aid of St. James' choir, Freetown, was a success, financially and otherwise. Each number on the program received an encore which indicated that the audience was pleased and appreciated the efforts of the performers. The address by Rev. Dr. J. C. McMillan, of Cardigan, was eloquent as well as interesting, and the Doctor fully sustained his reputation. When all the performers did so well it is perhaps hardly fair to particularize, but there are a few deserving of special mention, viz: solo, "Minstrel Boy," by Rev. J. C. McLean, was excellently rendered, as was the duet by Miss Bentley and Mr. Gordon Tuplin, and the solo by Miss Blanche Craig. The choruses by the choir were excellent and reflected great credit on the members and their teacher, Professor James Ready, M. A., Kensington, under whose direction the entertainment was given, and which is a guarantee of a program of a high order. To say that all were pleased is putting it mildly, as all were delighted, none going away disappointed, here were some fifteen numbers on the program.

NOT DUE TO CLIMATE.

Catarrh is Found Everywhere.

Catarrh is at home anywhere and everywhere. While more common in cold, changeable climates, it is by no means confined to them, but is prevalent in every state and territory in the union.

The common definition of catarrh is a chronic cold in the head, which if long neglected often destroys the sense of smell and hearing, but there are many other forms of the disease, even more obstinate and dangerous.

Catarrh of the throat and bronchial tubes as well as catarrh of the stomach and liver are almost as common as nasal catarrh and generally more difficult to cure.

Catarrh is undoubtedly a blood disease and can only be successfully eradicated by an internal treatment: Sprays, washes and powders are useless as far as reaching the real seat of disease is concerned.

Dr. McVerney advises catarrh sufferers to use a new preparation, sold by druggists, called Stuart's Catarrh Tablets because actual analysis has shown these tablets to contain certain anti-septic qualities of the highest value and being an internal remedy, pleasant to the taste, convenient and harmless, can be used as freely as required, as well for children as for adults.

An attorney and public speaker, who had been a catarrh sufferer for years says:

"Every fall I would catch a cold which would settle in my head and throat and hang on all winter long and every winter it seemed to get a little worse. I was continually clearing my throat and my voice became affected to such an extent as to interfere with my public speaking.

I tried troches and cheap cough cures and sometimes got relief, but only for a short time, until this winter when I learned of the new catarrh cure, Stuart's Catarrh Tablets, through a newspaper advertisement. Two fifty cent boxes which I bought at my druggist, cleared my head and throat in fine shape and to guard against a return of my old trouble I keep a box of the tablets on hand and whenever I catch a little cold I take a tablet or two and ward off any serious development."

Stuart's Catarrh Tablets deserve to head the list as a household remedy, to check and break up coughs and colds, because unlike many other catarrh and cough cures these tablets contain no opiate, cocaine or any injurious drug.

So—here they go—in four lots.

Lot 1—All the Coats from $2.75 up to $5.15—there are 33 Coats in this lot, and 30 of them are higher than $2.75, go on sale at $2.00
