PREMIER SCHREINER

A Sketch of his Life
Written by

MR. G. W. STEVENS,

After His Brief Visit to the Cape Colony Parliament.

There was Mr. Schreiner, the Premier, almost boyish with plump, smooth cheeks and a dark mustache. He looks capable, and looks as if he knew it; he, too, is conversational, almost jerky in speech, but with a flavor of bitterness added to his reason.

In these terms did the late Mr. G. W. Stevens sketch the Prime Minister of Cape Colony, after the brief visit to the Capetown Parliament last October.

This capable, boyish-looking politician has had to play a part of supreme difficulty during the past eight months and more. As a Minister of the Crown he determined to act with loyalty, but as a leader of the Dutch Afrikaner party no policy of aggressive loyalty was possible, otherwise his influence would have been shattered. His followers would have revolted from him, and there would have been a general rising of the Cape Dutch.

William Philip Schreiner was the son of a German missionary in South Africa. His mother is an English lady, nee Miss Lyndall—a name his sister, Olive Schreiner, introduced into "The Story of an African Farm."

AN ANGLO-AFRICAN EDUCATION.

At the South African College in Capetown one of the finest educational institutions in the British colonies, Mr. Schreiner went to school, and at once gave proof of his great talents. When he left the college he carried with him the chief scholarship—one of £300 a year—awarded to a student proceeding to an English university.

Thus to England, while still a boy, came Mr. Schreiner. Cambridge he chose, and his name was enrolled at Downing College in 1879. Further honors lay before him—the greater ones in the examination rooms, lesser ones under the open sky. For he rowed in his college boat what time Downing stood high in the first division on the Cam.

Beginning with a small law scholarship, the colonial undergraduate concluded a brilliant career at the university by coming out first in the Legal Tripos, and being acclaimed Chancellor's legal medallist. His high success gave pleasure to a host of friends, for Schreiner was a most popular man at Cambridge, and Downing elected him a Fellow.

While still an undergraduate, Schreiner had eaten his dinners at the Middle Temple, and won the two hundred guinea studentship. Directly after he had obtained his degree with honors, he was called to the Bar, and returned home to the Cape, and at once began to practice.

Then he went on circuit, which in that colony of magnificent distances and rare railways meant travelling miles by the hundred in ox-wagon and mulecart. But to the young barrister this was high holiday, for his early home was a mission station in the wilds of Kaffraria, where he used to wander far afield, his constants companion being his sister Olive.

His success at the Bar was instant and great. In addition to legal attainment of extraordinary merits, Schreiner enjoyed an intimate knowledge of the Dutch language, Dutch character, and Dutch cusoms and thought. Until he became attorney-general in the Rhodes Ministry in case of any importance in the colony came before the law courts in which he did not appear.

Mr. Schreiner made a marriage which was to tinge his future political career. His wife is a sister of Mr. Reitz, formerly President of the Orange Free State, and at present State Secretary of the Transvaal. Mrs. Schreiner is a lady of much culture, and their house in Capetown, "Sweet Repose," has been the centre of the higher talents in the colony. The Hon. W. P. Schreiner, Q. C., became Prime Minister in October, 1898, at the head of the Bond Party, and in opposition to Mr. Rhodes, whose Attorney-General he had been in the previous administration. At the time of the Jameson raid Mr. Schreiner quarrelled with Mr. Rhodes, up to then his personal friend and political colleague in the representation of Barkly West. He then attached himself to his other particular friend Mr. Hofmeyr, the clever Bond leader.

When Sir Alfred Milner conducted negotiations with President Kruger last summer the Bond Premier, overrating his influence, believed himself capable of being a treaty-maker, but Mr. Kruger's ultimatum shattered the ambition. Mr. Schreiner then found himself in a position in which he was bound to be misunderstood. He concurred in the policy of the High Commissioner, but led a party ready to break into open rebellion at the least encouragement.

So he had to work with supreme tact; he had to bear odium and to acquiesce silently in the misunderstanding of his inward motives. When the true history of the politics of Cape Colony throughout these troublous times comes to be written it will be found that Sir Alfred Milner, Her Majesty's representative in South Africa, had no firmer supporter than the Bond Prime Minister of Cape Colony, Mr. William Philip Schreiner.

"Doctors failed to reach my case and advised me to try a higher air."

There is no greater irony than a recommendation of change of climate to those whose circumstances make change of climate impossible. How many a sufferer in such a case has wistfully watched the flight of the south-seeking birds, and cried with the Psalmist, "Oh that I had wings." But suppose you can fit the lungs to the climate instead of fitting the climate to the lungs. That is what has been found possible by those who have used Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It so purifies the blood, removing the clogged and poisonous conditions favorable to disease, that the whole body is strengthened. With new strength comes new power, and disease is resisted and thrown off.

There is no alcohol, whisky or other intoxicant contained in

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery.

"I feel that I owe a debt of gratitude to you for preparing such grand remedies for chronic diseases especially, which the doctors failed to reach," writes I. B. Staples, Esq., of Barclay, Osage Co., Kans. "I am a railroad agent, and four years ago my work keeping me in a warm room and stepping out frequently into the cold air gave me bronchitis, which became chronic and deep seated. Doctors failed to reach my case and advised me to try a higher air, but, fortunately for me, a friend also advised me to try Dr. Pierce's medicines. I commenced taking your Golden Medical Discovery, and by the time I had taken the first bottle I was better, and after taking about four bottles my cough was entirely gone. This was a year ago last winter, and again last winter I took about three bottles to prevent a return of the trouble. I have found no necessity for seeking another climate."

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets are powerful aids to the cleansing of the clogged system. By all dealers in medicine.

KIDNEY DISEASE AND BACKACHE

Mr. Patrick J. McLaughlan, Beauharnois Que., States:—"I was troubled with kidney disease and dyspepsia for 20 years and have been that bad I could not sleep at nights and suffered terrible agony. I tried all sorts of medicines but got no relief until I began using Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. They made a new man of me and the old troubles seem to be driven out of my system." One pill a dose, 25 cents a box. We have long thought it regrettable

Don't Experiment,

Diarrhoea and Dysentery are too dangerous for you to trifle with untried remedies.

Refuse any of the dangers or worthless diarrhoea compounds that may be offered you instead of Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry.

Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry for the past half century has had phenomenal success in curing Diarrhoea, Dysentery, Cramps Colic, Cholera Morbus, Summer Complaint, and all bowel complaints of young and old.

Both the medical profession and the people have given it their endorsement, as the only reliable and safe remedy for these dangerous and distressing diseases.

There are some unscrupulous persons, though, who hope to profit by the merit and popularity of Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry. They put up a so-called "Stawberry Compound," and some times succeed in selling it to druggists and general merchants representing it as the genuine. Even the wrapper is yellow in color, like Dr. Fowler's, so as to deceive the very elect.

If you want to be on the safe side, if you don't want to experiment or take chances as to results, refuse any and every diarrhoea mixture or compound that may be offered to you, and insist on the old and reliable genuine Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry, and every honest druggist and medicine dealer will give you what you ask for.
