CURSE O' LOVE A Story of Love and its Tests by MILDRED BARBOUR

CHAPTER VII "GOOD-BYE"

Twenty minutes later, Cynthia and King Carson were standing on the steps of the court-house in the flooding light of the May morning, while behind them, in a musty office, the little clerk, who had just married them (being also a Justice of Peace) was entering the record of the ceremony with mechanical and detached precision.

SMILES

COULD FIRE THE CHINAWARE "There's a man who can fire all the chinaware he wants and never break a piece."

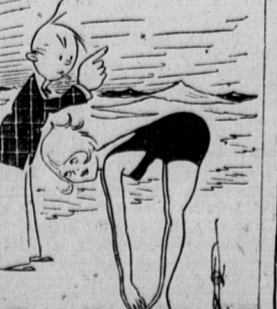

AND SHE'S STILL THINKING ABOUT IT She: Am I the only girl you've ever loved? He: If course, you are—and the prettiest, too.

SOUNDS FISHY Farmer: Say! Doncha know that sign was put ther for a per-son? Kid: Well, holly gee, Mistre! Do you like a puppalee?

DID HE KILL HIM OR NOT? Motorist (to wife): I was going pretty fast and when I suddenly looked up I saw a man dead ahead of me. Wife: Aren't you glad you weren't the one who killed him, dear?

She: We girls must keep in trim. He: And we fellows must keep being trimmed.

that I'm thirty-three. But I've lived my life at a double-quick pace. But here, let's not be too analytical in the first moments of our married life. Besides, I can't philosophize on an empty stomach. What do you say to breakfast?"

"Would you remove your hat and veil and really let me see the face of the lady I've married?"

can get a train. "I'll drive you to the station," she offered. He chuckled again. "You are too generous, my dear! His mockery, his obvious enjoyment of the absurd situation made her bite her lip vexedly.

Dog's Chalked Epitaph

(British United Press.) LONDON, August 29.—Of all the "memorials" to man and beast that there are in London the strangest, surely, is the one on a stone coping of the Church Missionary Society's headquarters in Salisbury Square.

One Drop Of "Putnam's"—Corns Stop Aching

Isn't it wonderful—Just a drop or two of Putnam's on any sore corn and out comes all the pain. After a few applications the corn shrivels up and drops off. No scar, no pain, no pinching from tight shoes any more.

THE BEDTIME STRIP—Log-Rolling

HE: SURE, IF I CAN, BUT DON'T ASK ME FOR MY ANTLERS FOR MY FIREPLACE OR SOMETHING LIKE THAT. SHE: THIS WILL BE EASY... I CUT DOWN A LOG THE OTHER DAY BUT I CAN'T ROLL IT INTO THE WATER IF YOU USE YOUR NEW ANTLERS LIKE A WOODMAN'S HOOK YOU CAN GET IT IN.
