MALPEQUE

It is pleasing to note that word has been received from Mr. Russell Woodside, Darnley who was in the recent railway accident which occurred at Salt Springs, N. S. Although Mr. Woodside received a severe shock by this many friends are glad that he escaped without injury.

Mrs. Mallet of Charlottetown is the guest of her sister Mrs. Hume Hoppood, Malpeque.

Mr. and Mrs. Gordon McFarlane of Cape Travers are the guests of Mrs. Ralph Bearisto North Shore House.

The marriage was solemnized at the home of Mr. John Mountain, Darnley, on Wednesday evening, January 6th, of Miss Rita Coughlin of Darnley to Mr. Milton Woodside Malpeque. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. A. N. Gillis in the presence of the immediate relatives. After supper was served, the serenaders presented their felicitations in the usual manner. While the good wishes are being said and the congratulations are being extended, it is pleasing to be able to add that this young couple are much liked and have the good will of the community in general.

Miss Lillian Donald of Baltic left Wednesday afternoon Jan 13th, for Carleton thence to Moncton where she will visit friends, before entering on her work at the Royal Victoria Hospital, Montreal.

Miss Sophie Ramsay of Alberton, who has been visiting her cousin Miss Lillian Donald returned to her home on Friday Jan. 15th.

Whilst the Bible is recognized as the basis of all civilization and of the "righteousness which exalts a nation," it is necessary to give prominence to the work of the Bible society as a living force in our midst. The annual meeting of this society which was held in St. David's Church, St. John, was also the occasion of the four hundredth anniversary of the first printed English translation of the Bible by William Tyndale. Although this assembly was held in New Brunswick it is of equal interest to every citizen of P. E. Island and is of great moment to every Canadian. Among the officers of this society in whom Malpeque congregation is especially interested may be mentioned the names of Rev. J. M. Murchison a former pastor of this congregation and now District Secretary for New Brunswick and P. E. Island, Rev. J. A. Ramsay a native of Hamilton and now of Moncton, N. B. and a Vice President of this society, and Mr. W. H. Crozier formerly of Darnley, one of the Colporteurs. Mr. Murchison as District Secretary reported "a great increase in Colporteur work in the last year 16,012 copies of the scriptures having been distributed in 1925 as compared with 7,765 in the previous year. He warmly commended the work of the Colporteurs and spoke of the value of the work of presenting scriptures to foreigners coming to Canada who not having their own newspapers would devote more time to the reading of the Bible which was one of the best means of building up a righteous citizenship. The following is a synopsis of Rev. J. A. Ramsay's address at this anniversary service.

PICTURES RENAISSANCE
Mr. Rankin pictured for his audience the Renaissance period in which William Tyndale was born and spoke of the ignorance and wickedness Tyndale had found among the ecclesiastical leaders of his day in England. His soul had been so grieved that he had uttered his famous words: "If God will spare my life, ere many years I will cause the boy who drives the plough to know more of scriptures than do you." Mr. Rankin described how this man who had been called the greatest human hero, since the apostolic days, had pursued his self-appointed task and though driven into exile had carried it through to completion, eventually to suffer martyrdom at the hands of his persecutors.

stake in a foreign land. He spoke of the beauty of Tyndale's translation which had been very little altered in 400 years and declared that all the light that had broken in upon the Anglo-Saxon race could be traced to the Tyndale Bible. What Tyndale had done for English-speaking peoples Mr. Ramsay urged his hearers to assist in doing for the world at large by sending everywhere the gospel in the language of the people.

Classical Studies

Dr. J. W. MacKall has found in life at least one satisfaction which comes to relatively few men. He has been able to devote himself to one task, and that a delightful task, the study of the great classics of the ancient world and the vindication of their worth for modern life. He sees to-day some fruit of his labours. If classical studies are coming to their own again, and are no longer despised as unpractical, unprofitable ornament upon life, it is largely due to his learned and effective defence of them. And that is certainly the case. Wise men of business no longer condemn the education won in the more conservative universities. Public school and university men are to be found even behind the counters of London stores; their service is none the less efficient because they are in the real sense educated men; and work which to us in front of the counter does not seem to be extraordinarily interesting becomes to them tolerable because it has a background of culture.

It is the work of the Classical Association, to which several of the chapters in this volume were read as lectures, not only to contend for the maintenance of classical studies in school and universities, but to present the case for their maintenance in such a way as to make the modern man of affairs discern their value. Dr. MacKall is here an apologist of the first rank. He is able to show that the life of the modern world is really unintelligible without revive if it profits by the lessons of

One of our foremost foreign bond houses points out that the City of Hamburg might easily revalue its bonds at 10%. This would mean 5,120 Gold Marks for every 1,000 Mark unit of bonds, the exchange value of which would be approximately $700.00.

Foreign bond dealers believe that the condition referred to is merely a result of the technical condition of the market. They are of the opinion that the wide upward swing which is beginning to make itself felt, will place City of Hamburg 4 1/2% Bonds in line with other municipal bonds issued in 1919.

The economic and financial situation in Germany leaves little to be desired. Figures published recently show a very large surplus in revenue over expenditure.

Men talk about saving the classics. What will save the classics is the realization that the classics may save us; that, as the Report of the Prime Minister's Committee on the Classics in Education says, they have something to contribute to the problem of the present day and to the permanent life of man.

New C.P.R. Vice-President

Mr. John Leslie has been appointed vice-president and comptroller of the Canadian Pacific Railway, according to the announcement by E. W. Beatty, chairman and president of the company. Since 1914 Mr. Leslie has been the company's comptroller and since 1918 he has been in charge of the company's accounting department in all its branches. His appointment was not, therefore, altogether unexpected, and it is considered a very popular appointment owing to Mr. Leslie's genial nature and the high standard of efficiency at which he has maintained his department.

BRITISH ROYALTIES
BY A LADY OF THE COURT
(Edited by Elizabeth Craig)

CURRENT SHRUB
Squeeze the currants through a coarse cloth, take 2 quarts of the juice, 1 gallon of rum, and 14 ounces double refined sugar. Mix the juice, rum and sugar together, then strain through a flannel bag as you would jelly but do not squeeze it.

CURRENT WINE
Gather the currants when fully ripe, wash and squeeze them through a clean cloth, throwing the pulp into a pan of water. To one quart of juice put 3 quarts of the water in which the pulp was in, then add 3 1/2 lbs. of sugar to every gallon of liquor. Let this stand a day and a night and then turn it into a cask after rinsing it out with a little brandy. If liked add a gallon of raspberries to about 8 gallons of water.

GINGER WINE—1747
Ten gallons of water, ten pounds of lump sugar, and two ounces of ginger bruised. Boil together, strain it, and put the whites of 8 eggs well beaten together to clarify it. Strain it, then add the peels and juice of as many lemons as you have gallons of liquor. Put half a spoon of yeast on the top and stop the cask close. In a fortnight the wine will be fit to bottle, and in another fortnight put in prepared oak. When yeast stops working cork up cask. Fit for drinking very thinly and the juice strained off.

COWSLIP WINE
To 12 gallons of water add 28 pounds of fine Lisbon sugar. Place in a copper with the stiffly frothed whites of 6 eggs. Keep stirring till the mixture boils when skim well and leave till just blood warm. Then add 19 quarts of cowslips, strained juice and washed rinds of 6 lemons, and 1/2 pint of yeast. Let this work for four or five days, then add 2 quarts of brandy, and to bottle, and in another fortnight put in prepared oak. When yeast stops working cork up cask. Fit for drinking very thinly and the juice strained off.

SYLLABUB
Take 1 quart of thin cream and a pint of sack (wine), and the juice of 2 lemons, sweeten to your taste, and put in an earthen pan, and whip it with a whisk. As the froth rises take it off with a spoon and lay it in your syllabub glasses, but first sweeten, some claret, or sack or white wine, and strain it and put 7 or 8 spoonfuls of the wine into 8 glasses, and then gently lay in the froth, and serve at once.

WORK FOR TWO.
Mistress (severely): If this occurs again, Jane, I shall be compelled to get another servant.
Jane: I wish you would, mum, there's quite enough work for two of us.—Good Hardware.
