The funeral was held on Friday afternoon at the Presbyterian Church at Malpeque and was largely attended.—S.

—DIES AT BEDEQUE — Friends throughout the province will learn with regret of the passing of George B. Frizzell whose death occurred at his home in Bedeque last evening at the comparatively early age of 31 years, after a long illness. Mr. Frizzell was a young man of outstanding ability and sterling character and in his demise Bedeque has lost one of its best and finest young men. For many years he was on the staff of Messrs. R. T. Holman until his health broke down and he was obliged to give up. He leaves to cherish his memory his widow, formerly Gladys Picketts, his mother, Mrs. John J. Frizzell, Bedeque, and two sisters, Kathleen, Mrs. Doull, Chelton, and Miss Marion Frizzell at home. His father died about two years ago. Mr. Frizzell was an outstanding member of the L.O.L.

—CHILDREN OF MARY PRESENT SYMPOSIUM—The Children of Mary of St. John the Baptist Church, Miscouche, presented a very interesting symposium in the C. M. B. A. hall on Wednesday evening. The name of the symposium was "Wanted. More Ladies", and gave a very fine definition of a lady and the ideals of womanhood. A series of tableaux representing the saintly women of history, St. Teresa, St. Cecelia, St. Joan of Arc, St. Margaret Beurgwys, St. Agnes, and the Blessed Virgin, was presented by the young ladies illustrating very beautifully the theme of the symposium. After each tableau had been presented the whole series were grouped together on the stage and the scene lit up with many colored lights giving a charming effect. During the tableau the hymn "Aredempt Oris Mater" was very sweetly rendered by the girls. Preceding the symposium a program of Christmas songs was presented by a number of young people. The program was as follows: "Jingle Bells," Recitation, "There's room for you up higher."; Chorus, "Life's Mirror"; Recitation, "The Three King"; Chorus, "La Nouvelle Anne"; "Ring out Ye Bells." There was a very large attendance, Mr. Martin DesRoches very capably presided. During intermission there was a sale of candy.—S

AUTHORITIES

There were no recognizable activities of importance during the day around either the Mattson home or the headquarters of United States Department of Justice agents in a downtown building.

At the home, automobiles moved in and out of the blind street. Lt. Col. Gus Appelman visited the home twice last night and once today. He has been mentioned as a possible intermediary.

Dr. Mattson and his elder son, William, 16, left the home in separate automobiles in mid-morning and returned in the doctor's coupe at noon.

Insert Advertisement

Another advertisement was inserted in the Seattle Times, reading:

"Mabel—we are ready, everything entirely in accordance your desires Ann."

Observers believed this was an appeal to the kidnapper to make contact with the Mattson family. The advertisement appeared for the first time yesterday following another, which read:

"Mabel—please give us your address. Ann."

Reliable sources said the wording of the first advertisement was that ordered by the kidnapper's ransom note to be used in establishing the first contact. Insertion of the second advertisement led to speculation the abductor might have ignored the first insertion.

An official who has been closely connected with the hunt expressed grave doubt that any contact had been made. He also raised the question as to Charles' safety, asserting he was convinced the kidnapping was the work of an "amateur" rather than a professional gang.

In the hands of such a captor, the officer continued, young Charles would be much less safe than with persons who well knew the penalties of mistreating a kidnap victim.

The suspense neared its 20th hour with no actual searching being done.

Reprisal Action

ment to the effect that the ship was taken within the five-mile zone, but refused, it was stated.

Even had the five-mile claim been true, the official news bureau said, the act would still have been a violation of German rights, since national jurisdiction extends only to the three-mile limit.

The Palos was first reported captured Dec. 24. Conducted to Bilbao, it was searched by Spanish authorities, who charged it contained 1,500 tons of merchandise, much of it war material, and a passenger whose identification papers revealed him as a Spanish Insurgent.

Subsequent representations by Berlin brought the freighter's release, but Spanish officials refused to free either the cargo or the passenger, whom Reich spokesmen termed a "guest."

The Valencia Government made it clear earlier this week that it regarded Bilbao's action as legal, on the ground that the German ship assertedly was violating the neutrality agreement by carrying war supplies to the Insurgents.

The announcement today did not give the name of the Spanish freighter seized, nor the harbor to which it was taken.

Closing Of Leadership Training School

The closing session of the Leadership Training School being conducted in Heartz Memorial Hall during the last few days was held yesterday morning with a full attendance. The opening devotional exercises were under the direction of members of Rev. W. A. Paterson's group, Miss Enid Coffin, Miss Marion Hume, and Mr. John Ellis taking part.

Following this there was a demonstration of the group discussion method led by Arthur Heartz and other members of Rev. H.E. Campbell's group. After this, the delegates adjourned to their respective classrooms for the final lectures of the course.

Upon re-assembling, the school was delighted to welcome Miss Catherine MacLean, President of the Maritime Conference Young People's Union, who spoke a congratulatory word to the executive of the Eastern Y.P.U. for the organization of the school, and also outlined the relationship existing between the local Unions and the Presbytery, Conference and National Unions.

Rev. Hugh Miller also brought greetings and best wishes to the school, indicating in humorous vein that he had made a notable contribution to the success of the school by looking after the visiting leaders, Mr. Campbell and Mr. Paterson. In closing Mr. Miller urged the Young People not to be too timid in attempting to put into practice the things they had learned from the school. On behalf of the school, Rev. A. E. MacKenzie, acting chairman, thanked Miss MacLean and Mr. Miller for their remarks, which were much appreciated.

Then followed the report of the resolution committee, which was read by the chairman, Miss Isabel Brown, and is as follows:

1. Resolved that the thanks of the Leadership Training School be extended to the Session of Trinity United Church for the use of the church buildings; to the Ministers, the Young People's Union, the sexton, and any others who helped to make this school a success.

2. Resolved that the hearty thanks of the visiting delegates be extended to the hostesses for their generous hospitality.

3. Resolved that hearty thanks be extended to the billeting committee for their very efficient services.

4. Resolved that a hearty vote of thanks be extended to the group leaders, Rev. H. E. Campbell, Rev. W. A. Paterson, our Dean, Rev. Edw. Aitken, and Rev. A. E. MacKenzie.

5. Resolved that greetings be extended to Miss Catherine MacLean for her presence and kindly words.

These resolutions were, on motion, carried unanimously.

At this point, the four leaders were then called to the front, where Miss Enid Coffin, President of the Eastern Y.P.U., and Miss Marion Hume, Sec'y.-Treas. presented each with a copy of H. V. Morton's "In the Steps of St. Paul" and, in one instance, "It Happened in Palestine," by Leslie Weatherhead. This was a delightful surprise to the leaders whose thanks were suitably expressed by Rev. Edw. Aitken.

After a short discussion on the possibility of a camp during the summer months, the school was closed with a devotional service conducted by the Dean.

SEES PROSPECT OF CONTINUED IMPROVEMENT

"Restrained Optimism" Keynote Of C. N. R. President's Review.

(C. P. by Guardian's Special Wire)

MONTREAL, Jan. 1—For the fifth successive year the necessary cash to meet the income requirements of the Canadian National Railways will be reduced, S. J. Hungerford, chairman and President of the Railway says in his annual review today.

"Restrained optimism" marked Mr. Hungerford's outlook for 1937. "Canada is unquestionably entering the second phase of recovery and the country may look forward with confidence," the report says.

Although the gross revenues of railways is "normally" a sensitive index of business conditions, Mr. Hungerford says, "of late years disturbing factors have caused the revenues to increase at a slower rate than general business activity.

"Nevertheless the increase in railway gross revenues have been of such an order as to justify confidence in the outlook and to enable the Canadian National Railways to plan constructively for the future."

Gross C. N. R. revenues for the past four years were: 1933, $148.-500,000; 1934, $164,900,000; 1935, $173,200,000; 1935, $184,500,000.

"The production of capital goods, apart from the mining industry, has not as yet responded to the industrial recovery," the review continues, "but with public confidence restored it is to be anticipated the production of capital goods will become more general.

"In view of the increasing traffic it is to be expected the Canadian National itself will again be in the market for capital goods."

Railway operations in 1936 show "the ability of the railway to carry increased traffic economically," says Mr. Hungerford. "The year, however, was marked with extreme difficulties due to severe winter conditions and flood damage."

Competition with other forms of transport is being given consideration, the report said, "but it is becoming increasingly evident that until such time as the competitive situation receives some adequate form of treatment by governmental authorities to place competition on an even footing, railways must continue to bear an undue burden from uneconomic competition."

Canada Visions

newsprint reached a new high point in history, being close to the practical limit of capacity. An unsatisfactory feature was the low-price level which persisted in spite of the higher cost of operations, the realities of supply and demand demonstrating the need for price readjustment. Production in the first 10 months was more than 2,-600,000 tons, a gain of 16 per cent. over the same period of 1935. Timber scaled in British Columbia, a good guide to saw-mill operations, was about 2,333,000,000 board feet, a gain of 14 per cent. over the first 10 months of 1935.

One of the features of the rise in the foreign trade of the Dominion during last year was provided by exports of forest products in which lumber and newsprint played the leading roles. The export of planks and boards at 1,392,000,-000 feet in first 10 months was 26 per cent. greater than in the preceding year. The American market was reopened by a reduction in the high duties imposed on Canadian lumber in 1930 and 1932. Exports of planks and boards to the United States showed a gain of 51 per cent. in values while the purchases of the British market registered a gain of 32 per cent. Exports of the entire wood and paper group registered an increase of 19.4 per cent. over the first 10 months of 1936. The gain in sales to the American market due in part to the trade pact was 18.4 per cent. The forestry industry is one of the largest employers of labor, and working forces in logging, sawmilling and paper industries showed marked percentage gains.

Manufacturing operations gathered momentum during the year the output having been greater than at any time since 1929. The gain over the preceding year was more than 10 per cent., indicating the extensive nature of the industrial recovery. Employment in manufacturing plants recorded decided improvement during 1936, the returns from the principal firms registering an average gain of 6.6 per cent. over the same period of the preceding year.

Factory Output Higher

Manufacturing operations gathered momentum during the year, the output having been greater than at any time since 1929. The gain over the preceding year was more than 10 per cent, indicating the extensive nature of the industrial recovery. Employment in manufacturing plants recorded decided improvement during 1936, the returns from the principal firms registering an average gain of 6.6 per cent over the same period of the preceding year.

The exports of manufactured and semi-manufactured goods at $585,-000,000 in the fiscal year 1936 showed a gain of more than 13 per cent over the total for the preceding year. The proportion of total domestic export was about 69 per cent against 64 per cent in the fiscal year ended March 31, 1935. The largest single commodity in this category was newsprint, the exports of which during the year were valued at $90,760,000. The best customer of our manufactured goods was the United States which received commodities to the amount of $284,000,000 in the last fiscal year. The British market absorbed Canadian manufactured goods to the amount of nearly $170,000,000. Canada sends manufactured goods to most of the countries, appreciable amounts being shipped to at least 85 in the last fiscal year.

The volume of new constructions showed a slight gain over the low level of the preceding year, private operations counter-balancing the decline in government contracts. Since a large number of industries are now operating near the high levels of the last prosperity cycle, the construction of additional plant and equipment should shortly become an important factor. Recovery in residential building and renovation will be affected by the public's response to the measures adopted by the Central government. For modernization and repair loans the bank rate of 3 1-4 per cent represents the lowest cost instalment plan that is available in any country.

Extensive prospecting and development work in progress during the last decade is now bearing fruit in record levels of mineral production. The shipment of gold from Canadian mines to the Mint and external points in the first 10 months was 3,045,000 fine ounces, representing a gain of nearly 14 per cent over the same period of the preceding year.

A considerable portion of the gold refined by the Mint was retained in Canada as total exports of non-monetary gold in the first 10 months were only 1,550,000 ounces against 2,205,000 ounces in the same period of the preceding year. The value of gold in this form shipped to the United States was worth nearly $50,000,000 against $73,500,000 in the first 10 months of 1935, while exports to Great Britain increased from $3,400,000 to $4,500,000.

Base metal mining has also supplied, during the last five years, considerable support to our economic system for most of the mines, owing to a relatively low cost basis due partly to a combination of the ores with precious metals, remained in production, while mining districts elsewhere were forced to suspend operations. Copper production in Canada was not greatly altered from the preceding year, an increased proportion going to the British market. Nickel exports showed a gain of about 20 per cent, the movement to the United States recording a marked gain. Zinc and lead were marketed in the United Kingdom in increased volume, an enhanced demand accounting for the advance in prices. The demand for asbestos and its products recorded a gain of 45 per cent, exports to the United States amounting to $5,139,000 in the first 10 months of 1936.

The expansion in Canada's overseas trade during the year reacted favorably on the operations of the principal harbors, our ports forming an important link in Anglo-Canadian trade relations. The port of Montreal was particularly active during the shipping season, and cargo cleared from Vancouver rose from 2,517,000 tons to 3,135,000 in the first 10 months of 1936. The moderate gain in the railway freight movement was also partly due to the acceleration in export trade.

The barriers which still beset international trade must be reduced as a prerequisite to a higher level of prosperity. To the nations who are prepared to take action in this respect will go the rewards. Such countries will find Canada ready to negotiate for the mutual reduction of trade restrictions. The rise in total world export trade measured in gold dollars, was 9.5 per cent in the first nine months of 1936, over the preceding year. The gain in Canada's exports on the same basis was 21 per cent.

Advance Is Normal

The recovery now underway in Canada bears every evidence of a normal advance following a protracted period of depression. The deflation fell more severely upon the exposed competitive industries forced to meet the demoralized competition and chaotic financial conditions that developed in world markets. International trade, disrupted by the maladjustments of that period, is now being reconstructed. A slow reorientation of this country's trade was inevitably caused by the depression. We aim today at conserving our grain export trade and increasing our outward shipments of raw materials and industrial products.

The industries recording the greatest advance were either engaged in the export trade or were indirectly benefitted by it. Such an expansion brought with it a moderate gain in industrial employment. Since there was last year considerable decline in the numbers engaged on unemployment relief projects, the gain shown by the monthly employment surveys indicate a revival in business that is happily due to a genuinely increasing demand for commodities at home and abroad, rather than depending upon the stimulus of works undertaken primarily for the relief of unemployment.

Based upon the trend of the last 12 months, Canadians, barring the outbreak of a major war, may look forward with confidence to an even greater measure of prosperity during the year 1937.
