TEXT OF SPEECH BY CHANCELLOR HITLER

First, I offered disarmament as long as that was possible. After it was rejected I certainly remember what frightful consequences this treaty had.

You remember how our people were robbed of their weapons and how the unarmed people were later mistreated.

You know the terrible fate that befell us that persecuted us for a decade and a half.

And you know, too, that if Germany today has despite all become once more great, free, strong, it owes all to its own strength.

Others contributed nothing to it. They tried as long as possible to blackmail and oppress us.

Out of our own people grew this power to end this humiliating situation and to show the people a way to go, worthy of a free great people.

Although we have become today free and strong through our own power, we nourish no ill-feeling against other nations.

We know that peoples cannot be made responsible for what an unprincipled clique of international profiteers and jobbers is to blame.

Then came the second proposal from pressing their nations into the service of their mean interests.

Peace Loving Nation We bear no hatred in us against the surrounding world and we have proved it. We have proved it by peace.

First, we had hardly begun restoration of German equality when I proposed to the entire world, as a condition of renunciation of any so-called revenge, quite a number of agreements, they were in the line of limitation of armaments.

My first proposal: Germany demands equality to renounce armaments and weapons, if necessary to the last machine-gun, and disarmament completely if other nations do the same.

This was not even taken as an occasion for discussion. Germany is willing to limit her army, like other states, to 200,000 men with the same arms as the others.

This, too, was rejected. Germany—another proposal—is ready if others do likewise to renounce heavy armament, the so-called big weapons, namely, tanks, bombers, heavy and super-heavy artillery.

I was rejected. I now proposed an international regulation with a 300,000-man army, the same to apply to all European countries.

Again this was rejected. I then offered further suggestions. At least the elimination of air fleets, absolute outlawing of bomb throwing, absolute outlawing of poison gas in war, the safeguarding of the island and of lands not lying in the line of attack, the elimination at least of the heaviest artillery and elimination of the heaviest tanks.

Again I had this for two years made offer after offer and received nothing but the elimination of air fleets, absolute outlawing of bomb throwing, absolute outlawing of poison gas in war, the safeguarding of the island and of lands not lying in the line of attack, the elimination at least of the heaviest artillery and elimination of the heaviest tanks.

Again I had this for two years made offer after offer and received nothing but the elimination of air fleets, absolute outlawing of bomb throwing, absolute outlawing of poison gas in war, the safeguarding of the island and of lands not lying in the line of attack, the elimination at least of the heaviest artillery and elimination of the heaviest tanks.

ALSAACE-LORRAINE

I said: Alsace-Lorraine does not exist any more for us. It was taken from us. It was taken from us. It was taken from us.

These people really have not been asked their opinion in the last few decades. We believe that the inhabitants of those parts are happiest when they are not being fought over.

And we all do not want any more war with France. We want nothing of France, absolutely nothing.

After this renunciation, irrevocable and gradually and solemnly, we succeeded in bringing about a real strong union of hearts.

Here an axis was formed between the two peoples, both of whom in their philosophical and political ideas found themselves in close indissoluble friendship.

It was not yet that the true reasons for existence of this state, seen from an international viewpoint, were revealed.

It was no longer a secret that this state was destined to be used as a German baiter when the opposition was revealed.

The French Air Minister Pierre Cot a few weeks ago said blandly: "We need this state because from its territory a great economic and industrial life can be most easily destroyed."

So this state was used by Bolshevism with the aim of entering into contact with Bolshevism, but Bolshevism used this state to dig a channel between the two peoples.

And now comes this scandalous situation: This state which is ruled by a minority, forces the Czechs to live in a state of terror and makes them shoot their own brothers.

Mr. Benes rises and demands from Sudeten Germans: If I conduct war against Germany you must shoot Germans. If you do not want to you are traitors and I will have you shot.

And he demands the same from Hungarians, Poles and Slovaks. He demands that they are indifferent to the Slovak people. The Slovak people want peace and no adventures.

Mr. Benes, however, dares to stain his hands with blood. He dares to stain his hands with blood. He dares to stain his hands with blood.

PLAYS PRESIDENT BENES

The whole picture from 1918 to 1938 showed one thing quite clearly: That Mr. Benes was resolved simply to root out Germanism from the Czechs and gradually and solemnly he succeeded up to a certain point.

STRESSES NEED OF UNIFORM LEGISLATION

Chaotic Condition Of P. E. I. Statutes Revealed In Address By Mr. W. E. Bentley, K. C.

The chaotic condition of legislation in Prince Edward Island owing to lack of consolidation, was emphasized strongly by Mr. W. E. Bentley, K. C., in the course of an interesting address yesterday at Rotary Club.

Mr. Bentley spoke on his recent trip to the Pacific Coast to attend the annual meeting of the Canadian Bar Association and a conference of the Commissioners upon Uniformity of Legislation in Canada.

He described in detail with the purpose of the latter body and the benefit of trade and commerce which would result from more uniform legislation in the provinces.

One of the objects of the Canadian Bar Association, Mr. Bentley emphasized, is to promote the administration of justice and uniformity of legislation throughout Canada so far as uniformity is consistent with the preservation of local conditions.
