Egyptian Government Has Until 7 p. m. May 2nd to Comply With the British Demand.

(Canadian Press)
LONDON, April 30.—The Egyptian government has until 7 p. m. May 2 to comply with the British demand that the bill for the regulation of public meetings and demonstrations be withdrawn. Sir Austen Chamberlain, foreign secretary in making this announcement in the House of Commons today said that Lord Lloyd, the British High Commissioner on instruction from the British government, had handed to the Egyptian premier final warning last evening.

The British note requests the premier as head of the Egyptian government, immediately to take the necessary steps to prevent the public assemblies bill from becoming a law, and also requesting him to give his categorical assurance in writing that the measure would not be proceeded with. Should this assurance not reach him before seven p. m. May 2, the British government would consider itself free to take such action as the situation might seem to require.

REPARATIONS PAYMENTS WITH HELD

Mr. Robb Counts as Revenue $10,000,000 Obtained From Germans Who Suffered Losses in the Great War.

(Special to the Guardian)
OTTAWA, Ont., April 30.—Members of parliament are desirous of prorogation not later than May 23, but if this is accomplished it will be at the expense of careful scrutiny of the estimates. Between now and May 23, there are 18 parliamentary days. Government legislation and discussion of reparations, fruit growers demands, immigration and pensions require eight or nine thousand hours in practice it is considered of the $400,000,000 spending program.

During the nine days proposed for discussion of the estimates, there will be not more than 50 hours devoted to this work. In the 50 hours the Government proposes to consider, discuss and approve of $400,000,000 expenditure or at the rate of $8,000,000 an hour.

Premier King told the fruit and vegetable growers on Friday that parliament, not the Government, made the tariff. Before parliament prorogues, the Conservatives will place before it the demands of these important agricultural industries, and the Government will have to make a declaration of policy.

Premier King's statement may be technically true but in practice it is the cabinet that makes tariff changes. The Finance Minister submits his proposals to the cabinet. When endorsed by his colleagues he presents them to parliament and in no instance since confederation have such proposals been rejected.

The fruit and vegetable producers case will be presented but it is doubtful revenue the Government will allow parliament an opportunity to pass judgment upon it.

Another important issue to be raised by the Conservatives is that of the withholding of payment of reparations. In his budget for 1927-28, Mr. Robb included as revenue $10,000,000 secured from German property and reparations which belongs to several thousand Canadians who suffered losses in the Great War and which the courts decided should be paid by Germany. Mr. Robb has this money, the courts and reparations commissioners have reached their conclusions, the accounts have been passed and the money to pay them is available. Yet Mr. Robb would pay these accounts and continues to doubt to certain citizens and not to the Dominion.

The Prince holds the rank of group captain in the Royal Air Force and has had considerable experience in flying. He is not qualified to act as a pilot, but the paper says that as he is famous for doing things himself, it is unlikely that he will be content to use the plane without learning to fly it.

Dentists Rooms Made Bright For Patients

LONDON, April 30.—"Brighter Dentists' Waiting Rooms" is to be the great cry henceforth. The dentists have now been assured by the Board of Inland Revenue that in making out their income for tax purposes they are entitled to include the cost of illustrated magazines, which they place in their waiting rooms for the benefit of patients, as "professional expenses," and that such cost will be allowed as a rebate. Curiously enough, only a week before this concession had been made clear, Punch had a drawing of a cheerful patient rising from the chair after an extraction and telling the dentist that he would now return to the waiting room to finish the magazine story in which he had got interested.

PROCEEDINGS IN THE FEDERAL PARLIAMENT

(From Our Own Correspondent)
OTTAWA, Ont., April 30.—A bit of a row occurred this afternoon in connection with the elimination of the clause of the criminal code in reference to deportation of undesirable characters without trial, a subject which has been much discussed ever since the year of the Winnipeg riots.

A reference was made by the Hon. Mr. Stevens to a "bargain" between the Government and Mr. Woodworth, and the fat was immediately in the fire. The labor leader indignantly denied that there had been an agreement, bargain or any other understanding. The Hon. Mr. Bennett contended that while there was no absolute agreement, there was the obvious inference which constituted an understanding.

At six o'clock the matter was still being debated. If the disposition of members to fight continues to be manifested there is little hope of prorogation taking place next month. All this afternoon was taken up with the immigration matter in this case introduced by Mr. Thomson.

Major Power this afternoon submitted the findings of the committee on pensions, which has been busily engaged with the subject since the opening of the house. The recommendations are numerous and important and are all in favor of the widest and best consideration of the claims of the returned soldier and his dependents. It is thought that they will be passed en bloc.

possible by donations from the Rotary Club, Junior Red Cross and other friends. I wish to thank you one and all for co-operating with me during the months that are past. "Help whomever whenever you can for man never needs help from man; Let never a day die down in the West. That you have not comforted some sad breast."

AMY EARLE
District Visitor
In moving the adoption of this report, Dr. W. J. P. MacMillan said he wished to personally commend Miss Earle on the excellent work accomplished during the past year, another year's good work in the history of the Anti-Tuberculosis Society. No one can tell, said the Doctor, what a factor charitable work is in the prevention of tuberculosis which he is showing in the heartiest commendation of her great work. It is not an easy task nor a congenial one by any means, continued the speaker, and no one knows what a great sacrifice this work of tending to the sick and needy entails. He said that the Red Cross and the Government are cooperating in the furtherance of this great work, and added that a Diagnostician is coming here shortly, and even this is only one step towards the remedy, but within a few years the demand for a sanatorium will be so strong that the Government of the day will have to erect one.

It seems a general suggestion, continued Dr. MacMillan, that the Women's Institutes throughout the Island take up this work of the prevention of tuberculosis and help it along. He suggested that a letter with reference to same be sent to every Institute. It would be a spur to get them to go into this work and realize that a Sanatorium is needed in this Province. The Doctor moved with much pleasure the adoption of the report.

To Report Freight Rate Advantages Enjoyed By Canada

(Canadian Press)
WASHINGTON, April 30.—The Interstate Commerce Commission was directed in a resolution adopted today by the Senate to report the freight rate advantages Canadian wheat growers have over United States growers in shipping their products to eastern ports.

The resolution introduced by Senator Walsh, Democrat, Montana, would require the commission to report what rates are charged on wheat from North Dakota and Montana points to Duluth, New York, Philadelphia and Baltimore, and what the Canadian roads charged from Western Canadian points to Fort William and Montreal.

tion meet here in June, said the president, and during the week the Canadian Tuberculosis Association, which is affiliated with the above mentioned body, meets on the 15th and a cordial invitation is extended to all to attend this meeting. He referred briefly to the chest diagnostician which is coming here and heartily agreed with Dr. MacMillan in his remarks with reference to a sanatorium.

Speaking of milk pasteurization, Dr. Jenkins laid particular stress on the effect that pasteurized milk has in combating tuberculosis. He also referred to the inspection of milk and meat, paying a high compliment to the Anti-Tuberculosis Society, through whose efforts this was mainly responsible. In Toronto, said the speaker a great percentage of tuberculosis of the bone has been reduced to a minimum by the use of pasteurized milk—most of tubercular cases coming from the rural districts where pasteurization is unknown.

Mr. W. F. Tidmarsh, in moving the adoption of Dr. Jenkins' excellent address, thought that the suggestion of outside pavilions conducted in conjunction with our hospital would not be workable in so far as they would only retard the main issue, that of a Sanatorium. By all means, said Mr. Tidmarsh, press for a Sanatorium. He heartily congratulated Dr. Jenkins on his report.

Dr. Heuston, in seconding the motion paid high tribute to the President and eulogized at some length on the interest and enthusiasm which he is showing in the Anti-Tuberculosis Society. He heartily congratulated Dr. Jenkins on his report. He also complimented Misses Earle and Wilson on their praise-worthy work of charity and self sacrifice. He agreed with the previous speakers.
