It Pays to Advertise Your Foxes in The Black Fox Magazine

The following testimonial letter, which speaks for itself has been received from a well known Rancher in Summerside, February 7, 1920

The Black Fox Magazine, 1400 Broadway, New York, N. Y. Gentlemen: I have had wonderful returns from the page advertisement I sent you, and I am fairly buried in inquiries from prospective ranchers all over the United States and Canada.

The Black Fox Magazine is the only Magazine in the World published exclusively in the interests of the Fur Farmer—it reaches them all—and now has a very great circulation throughout the United States, Canada, Japan and other countries.

There are hundreds of people today who want to buy high grade "Quality Foxes," but as these buyers are widely scattered your only chance of reaching them is through carrying an advertisement in this Magazine.

AUCTION SALE Of Valuable Property in Charlottetown

I am instructed by T. B. Woodman, esq., to sell by public auction on Tuesday, March 23, 1920, at 2 o'clock p.m., the valuable property known as the DeBlois estate, consisting of 12 acres of choice land with dwelling house, barn and outbuildings, situated and fronting on the East by Upper Queen Street, on the north by the Woodman Fox Ranch on the west by Spring Park Road and on the south by Douglas Street.

Delayed Shipment

On account of the severe storm which is tying up the railway, making it very unsafe to handle live stock for foreign shipments, we have decided to cancel this weeks shipment of live hogs. Watch our ad. for dates of future shipments.

EYE WITNESS TELLS HOW BOLSHEVIC WORKS.

Now and then some British or American adventurer comes back from Russia and gives an account of how Bolshevism works. The accounts vary; sometimes they are contradictory. We must not judge Bolshevism in Russia until the evidence is all in. We have enough of it to know that for a country like Canada Bolshevism would be a plague and a curse. But this is not to any that it lacks all features that would make the system agreeable to Russia. At one time the general belief was that the Bolsheviks were a mere handful of murderous visionaries who had usurped authority in Russia, and that they were conducting affairs in that country as the mahout governs the elephant. The original opposition to the Bolsheviks was based on the belief that they were governing Russia against the wishes of the overwhelming majority of the Russian people.

A Rigid Equality.

Major Robert Davis, formerly an American Presbyterian clergyman, has returned from Russia after a year's sojourn. He tells what he knows of Bolshevism, merely that the facts may be known, and disavowing any purpose of praising, accusing, condemning or judging it. He was in Khar'kov and there observed how Bolshevism works out. The city has a population of 800,000 and is one of the most modern in Russia. When it was taken by the Bolsheviks more than a year ago, it was announced that a rigid equality would prevail. The first step was to remove the bootblack stands from the streets, because the sight of one free soul kneeling at the feet of another free soul was repulsive to true democracy.

The Russian Paradise.

Men were forbidden to raise their hats to women, thereby acknowledging the superiority of one sex. All women were ordered to wear the peasant's kerchief, as bonnets signified class distinctions. Pensions of 300 roubles and more a month were abolished, since a pension of this amount indicated that the recipient must have been an upper-grade court or army servant. All titles, whether of courtesy or heredity, were abolished, and "citizen" and "citizenship" substituted. Next followed the disappearance of all news—the latter were commanded by the Bolshevik officials. The newspapers and the closing of the hotels they were not "red" enough. Their places were taken by three special papers prepared by Bolshevik officials. No books could be sold without the stamp of a Soviet censor. The sale of food was restricted. Nobody could get in or out of Khar'kov without a permit. Sickness broke out. The hospitals were filled; the hospital corridors were filled with cases of spotted fever. Water was scarce, all as a result of the incompetence of the Bolshevik officials who took over the administration.

The Government.

The affairs of the city and of the Ukraine were conducted from the headquarters at Kiev. The president of this was a Bulgarian spy, captured by the Roumanians, and eventually liberated by the Bolsheviks. Khar'kov was allowed some semblance of self government, and was permitted to elect 240 members of the local Soviet. Women could not vote, but only soldiers, workers and members of the Commune. This Soviet then delegated its powers to 12 members, which in turn passed on its authority to an inner council of five. The inner council was the real "works." The president of this inner council, who had almost Czarlike powers, was a former millhand. He was at first inclined to be lenient with the bourgeoisie, but later, for fear that Trotsky would suspect him of lukewarmness and probably have him shot, he became the fanatical persecutor of the better classes. Finding ready money lacking, the Bolshevik chiefs levied off Khar'kov in kind. People were forced to contribute to the cause according to the number of rooms they occupied, to the number of suits of clothes they had, and according to the luxuries or comforts like motor cars, victrolas, typewriters, musical instruments and so forth in their possession. A venerable priest who prayed for the soul of the late Czar was shot. State and church were declared to be separated. Generally the churches were not molested.

ROSEBUD

To the man who enjoys a rich, satisfying pipe tobacco, ROSEBUD is as sweet and fragrant as the flower after which it is named. It is always in condition. You can cut it to suit your own taste. Sold everywhere.

In quest of happiness,—the goal, Once more a barefoot lad with a coat of tan And I yearn for a splash in the old swimming hole, With the wine of life upon my lips, And God's wonders blooming everywhere, Richly blended balsam, sun and dew, Fair Summer, your beauty we can not compare. CURIOUS CLUBS

About this time there also met in New York the "Society of the Pointed Beards"—a most exclusive club. No one was eligible unless he had a carefully cultivated beard of natural growth and terminating in one symmetrical point half an inch from the apex of the chin. At two club dinners in 1898 even the celery was served with its leaves trimmed to a point. Minard's Liniment cures diphtheria

Ford WE ARE Ford Dealers in this district and have formed an estimate of the number of cars we will require to meet the needs of this territory. We cannot get enough cars to fill that estimate because there are not enough cars being made to fill all dealers' estimates throughout Canada.

The number of cars we can get depends upon the number of orders we send in and the early date at which we send them in, as the Ford Shipping Department follows the principle, "First Come, First Served."

Cars ordered now will not be delivered until March, and deliveries will be uncertain throughout the year. If you do not want to wait for summer or autumn delivery, come in and reserve your car by signing an order today.
