It is understood that he remained in the same post until 1923, seven years earlier, at the age of 49, he had become a Brigadier-General. He was responsible for reorganization of the Polish army in 1920. In 1923 he was named High Commissioner in Syria.

Diplomatic Shifts

The diplomatic shifts to give France's foreign policy and her representation abroad its maximum efficiency was announced by the Premier last Saturday night. Edouard Daladier, the War Minister, took over the Foreign Ministry held by Reynaud. A new Minister was announced in the person of Georges Mandel, whom the French Premier called a "disciple of Clemenceau."

It's Possible To Control Mosquitoes

Studies by officers of the Division of Entomology, Science Service, Dominion Department of Agriculture, have shown that only about 50 of the 2,000 or more species of mosquitoes that occur in various parts of the world are present in Canada. It is the female mosquito that bites; the male sips only nectar. She may drink twice her own weight of blood and it takes her about ninety seconds to become fully engorged. Domestic animals and wild animals and birds are attacked as well as man, but some species prefer animals to man. Some mosquitoes may live for several weeks or even months under favourable conditions.

Can Feel Pride

There will be many men and many women in this island who, when the order of the day is read, as come it will, will feel comfort, and even a pride that they are sharing the perils of our lads at the front. God bless them—and are drawing away from them a part at least of the onslaught they have to bear.

Must Win War

Our task is not only to win the battle but to win the war. After this battle in France abates its force there will come the battle for our islands; they are all British, and all that Britain means. That will be the struggle, not of mere emergency, we shall not hesitate to meet every step, even the most drastic, to call forth from out of our people the last ounce and the last inch of effort, for we are not fighting for life and honor, for life and freedom to which we have bowed ourselves.

Not Private Members' Days

Evidence of the Government's hope that business of the session might be expedited was seen in the fact that the House of Commons committee would be set up to consider revising procedure, and in the elimination of private members' days beginning next Wednesday.

Need New Methods

The armies must cast away the idea of resisting a battle by the use of natural obstacles, and must realize that mastery can only be regained by furious and unremitting assault, and this spirit must be given to the high command but must inspire every fighting man.

Confidence Strengthened

In cutting down the German bombers we are fighting our own battle in the air. We must expect that as soon as stability is reached on the western front, the bulk of that hideous apparatus of aggression which has dashed Holland to ruin and slavery in a few days will be turned upon us. I am sure I speak for all when I say that we are ready to face it, to endure it, and to retaliate against it to any extent that the unwritten law of war permits.

Island Students Graduate From Mt. A. University

SACKVILLE, N. B., May 19 (CP)—One hundred and thirty students who will graduate Tuesday from Mount Allison University include: Bachelor of Arts—Dorothy Russell Calbeck Summerside, P. E. I.; Charles Braden Jolly, Summerside; Marie-Anne MacCallum, Summerside; Etta Margaret Ross, Pownal, P. E. I.

Premier King

(Continued from page 1) drew great applause from the opposition when he declared, "this is a time for complacency. It is a time for united effort; above all, for fearless action."

Regroupment Proceeding

The regroupment of the French armies to make head against, and also to strike at, this intruding wedge has been proceeding over several days. The French are also at many points fighting actively behind their lines.

Kept Stout Hearts

It would be foolish, however, to disguise the gravity of the hour. It would be still more foolish to lose heart and courage, or to suppose that well-trained and equipped armies numbering three or four millions of men can overcome in the space of a few days, by the use of mechanized vehicles, however formidable.

War Committee Meets

Immediately after Friday's session the war committee of the cabinet met with Mr. Sinclair's appeal fresh in their minds. Defence Minister Rogers, who arrived at England for his tour of inspection and France gave first hand information and the committee had before it the grave news of the fighting on the Franco-Belgian frontier.

Enemy Lose Heavily

There is good evidence to show that practically the whole of the specialized and mechanized forces of the enemy have been already thrown into the air. The remainder of the heavy losses have been inflicted upon them. No officer or man, no brigade or division, which grapples at close quarters with the enemy, can be overpowered, can fall to make a worthy contribution to the general result.

Confidence Strengthened

In the air even at serious odds often a better performance is shown. We have been clawing down three or four to one of our enemies and the relative balance of the air forces is now considerably more favorable to us than at the beginning of the battle.

Churchill Gives Picture Of War Situation Today

LONDON, May 19 (CP Haves)—Following is the text of the speech broadcast today by Prime Minister Churchill: "I speak to you for the first time as Prime Minister in a solemn hour for the life of our country, and our empire, our allies, and above all, the cause of freedom. A tremendous battle is raging in France and the German army, by its overwhelming combination of air bombing and heavily armored tanks have broken through the French defenses. The French army, however, stands firm. The French are fighting with the courage and heroism of their forefathers. They have penetrated deeply and spread alarm and confusion in the rear. Behind the front lines, the French infantry in lorries and behind them again large masses are moving forward."

To The Public Of P. E. Island

We the undersigned Merchants of Charlottetown, are opposed to the system of Daylight Saving, according to the resolution passed at the last meeting of the City Council, because when not adopted by the entire Province we feel it works to the disadvantage of the Public in general, and particularly to the rural districts. We therefore will continue to do business on Atlantic Standard Time, as at present.

Tridium At Holy Redeemer Is Concluded

A Tridium in honor of the centenary of the canonization of St. Alphonsus, founder of the Redemptorist Order, was held at the Holy Redeemer Church of the Most Holy Redeemer last night. It was opened Friday evening.

Yesterday morning His Excellency, Bishop J. A. O'Sullivan, sang Solemn Benediction was celebrated by Msgr. J. D. D. D., assisted by Rev. Daniel O'Sullivan, C. S. R., and Rev. G. McKenna, C. S. R. The sermon was preached by Bishop O'Sullivan who gave an interesting sketch of the life of St. Alphonsus. He pointed out that the saint was also a great writer. St. Alphonsus during his early life took a vow that he would never lose a moment in leisure and would always be engaged in work. This vow he kept to the end of his life. Bishop O'Sullivan also spoke of the great attention of the saint, which was to the quality of his work. He said that the saint thought in life St. Alphonsus by preaching missions and writing books he was always remembering the love which God had shown to the world by the Saviour dying on the cross to redeem mankind.

Heavy Loss

Series of Explosions

A series of explosions was felt as gasoline tanks in the machine were damaged during the fire. No one was injured, however.

Grass, Trees Ahead Of Last Year In Growth

A cool wave over the week-end might retard growth but at present grass and trees were further advanced than had been the case for the past two years, according to observers said last night. Wet weather had delayed cultivating operations, however. Nevertheless, generally prospects continued excellent for a good crop.

Lack Of

(Continued from page 1) The evening communique said that the assistance at St. Quentin had been "stubborn" while "violent attacks" were repulsed by us blowing from the northwest. Cool weather followed with heavy showers, general electrical storms were experienced in several sections of the Province at the same time.

Many Divisions Used

After the planes came the tank divisions, each division of 300 to 400 heavy tanks. As many as eight to 10 divisions were used on a single narrow sector.
