CANDLING STATION.—In reference to a notice appearing in Thursday morning's Guardian in connection with the establishment of an Egg Candling Station, a little correction is necessary. I.O.G.T.—The regular quarterly session of Queens Co. District Lodge, I.O.G.T., met at Pownal on Oct. 5th. The day being fine the delegates thoroughly enjoyed the drive, some of them having an especially jolly time, and all appreciated the kind hospitality of the good people of Pownal. At the afternoon session the regular routine of business was gone through, then Rev. N. O. Wilson being present he gave a very interesting talk on the temperance affairs of P.E.I., and then answered numerous questions which were asked. The representatives of the different lodges were very pleased to receive all this information. At the public meeting in the Methodist Church addresses were given by Rev. E. S. Weeks, Rev. N. O. Wilson, Rev. N. P. McVie and Mr. J. West. Fine music was given by the choir, and a beautiful solo by Miss Enid Smith.

C. A. A. ATHLETIC MEET.—An athletic meet will be held at the C. A. A. grounds on Saturday afternoon, Oct. 17th, for the boys of the town. A new arrangement will be made in classifying the entries. Instead of having the boys race according to their ages, they will be grouped according to weight. There will be the following classes: Boys under 80 pounds, 81 to 95 pounds, 96 to 110 pounds, 111 to 125 pounds, and over 125 pounds. This new scheme has been adopted in a great many athletic meets and has been found much more satisfactory than the old scheme of grouping by ages, which causes endless arguments and unfair conditions. The meet will be open to all boys of Charlottetown, and is being promoted by the Physical Committee of the Y. M. C. A.

CONSUL MAYS ON FOX SITUATION.—In a report to the Treasury Department, Washington, published in the "Daily Report" of September, Dr. Livingston T. Mays, U.S. Consul at Charlottetown, has the following to say regarding the fox industry:—"Few of the fox companies in Prince Edward Island that own foxes are offering stock for sale to American investors. Most of the companies that offer stock have based their capitalisation on options only and own no foxes. In many cases a very careful reading of advertising matter and thorough investigation are necessary to discover this fact. These companies have paid ten per cent. on options for foxes for future delivery, at prices ranging from $16,000 to $30,000 per pair, and, after appropriating certain other stock for organization and promotion, have offered the bulk of their stock for sale in the United States, expecting to pay back the amount invested if enough is not sold to complete the purchase of the foxes. In extremely few cases have the companies assets that will guarantee this return after the 10 per cent. already paid on option has been lost by failure. The effect of the war in Europe has been to render extremely doubtful the ability of these companies to sell enough stock to complete their option and purchases; consequently they are making desperate efforts to sell stock in the United States, where investors are not informed of the facts. The fact that the fox companies that actually own foxes base their capitalisation and promise of marvellous dividends on the prospect of selling to the companies that own options only, at prices ranging from $16,000 to $30,000 per pair, will seriously cripple them when the option companies fail to fulfil their contracts."

DISCOVER STRANGE BOMBS IN NEW YORK. NEW YORK, Oct. 8.—Patrolman Endres saw a thin line of sparks in the darkness of a tenement house barbershop on Ninth Avenue early yesterday. He ran in and stepped on the glowing end and picked up a "milk bottle" bomb. Inside the bottle was a pound of gunpowder wedged into place with Italian newspapers and coiled around on the outside was twenty-five feet of copper wire. Police say it is the strangest bomb they have ever seen.

ANOTHER GERMAN GENERAL KILLED IN BATTLE.

BERLIN, via London, Oct. 8.—Major General Augustus Zelman, commander of the second Bavarian field artillery, was killed in action of September 25, it has just become known here. General Von Besseler, who is directing operations at Antwerp, was called from the retirement list of 1911. He is a brother of the Prussian Minister of Justice. He distinguished himself in 1870 in the sieges of Metz and Paris. He served for many years as chief of one of the engineering corps and as a General inspector of fortresses.

ANTWERP BEING BOMBARDED.

LONDON, Oct. 8.—Antwerp was subjected to a furious bombardment throughout last night. Shells from German 16 1/2-inch guns were falling early this morning in the Place Verte close to the Cathedral.

WOMAN WILL DESIGN JOAN OF ARC STATUE

Women will be interested in learning that a woman has been chosen to design a statue to Joan of Arc which is to be placed in one of the New York city parks. The sculptor is Miss Anne Vaughn Hyatt, who is already well known in the art world. She exhibited in the Paris Salon in 1913, and two of her best known pieces, "Winter" and "Tigers Hunting" are in the Metropolitan Museum.

Miss Hyatt's father was a Bostonian and a naturalist. From him probably she inherits her love of animals. She specialises in bronzes of animals. The statue of Joan of Arc is to be an equestrian piece and every detail will be carefully studied. Dr. Bashford Dean, chief curator of armour in the Metropolitan Museum, is studying the arms and dress of the period in order to secure historical accuracy. It is interesting to know that the pediment of the statue is a stone, weighing sixteen tons, which was secured from the walls of the dungeon where Joan of Arc was crucified in Rouen. When the building was raised, the stone was secured.

DROPPING MORE BOMBS ON ANTWERP.

ANTWERP, Oct. 8.—The condition of panic among the populace here was increased today by the appearance of German aircraft, which dropped bombs. Several houses were destroyed and a score of people killed.

EVEN SNAIL FOOD BEING FAKED NOW.

Paris is the great snail-eating city of the world and draws its supplies from most countries in Europe. For the last couple of years there has been a serious shortage of snails, and Surrey and Sussex (where the chief eating snail, a large white variety known as the Roman snail, is commoner than elsewhere in England) are being called into help. But the shortage is being made up in another way. Sham snails are the newest things in the way of food fakes. The real article is imitated so closely that not even the small epicure can tell the difference. Snail shells are bought from dustmen and rasp-pickers. After being cleaned they are filled with cat's meat, or "lights," an ingenious little machine having first cut the soft meat into a cork-screw shape, so that it fits into the shell. The mouth of the shell is then sealed with liquid fat and the delicacy is ready for the table. Restaurants buy these sham snails readily at about four cents a dozen. There are two varieties of edible snails, the large white snail and the garden or wood snail, the latter sort being eaten only among the poorer consumers. The maker of the sham snails caters to both markets. The existence of the artificial industry was a secret till recently, when a man employed at the snail factory brought an action for compensation for the loss of a finger

CREAMING BUTTER

In creaming butter and sugar for cake or hard sauce, use a wooden potato masher. Warm the mixing-bowl before putting in the ingredients, and they will soon become a light, creamy mass with half the usual labor.

IN FRYING EGGS

To prevent eggs from popping while frying, sprinkle a little flour in the grease before putting in the eggs.

ICE CREAM SERVING.

If you wish to serve ice-cream cut in fancy shapes and hesitate to do so on account of the cost, get plain brick ice-cream and slice it lengthwise in say half-inch thicknesses. Use a cookie cutter in the form of a heart, fruit, or animal, and dip in boiling water. After wiping it dry, but while still hot, cut the cream in as many pieces as the slice will make.

A NEW KINDLING.

For a long time it troubled me to dispose of the potato peelings. One day I discovered that by spreading them out on a newspaper in the warming oven of the range and closing the door they dried out in twenty-four hours and made excellent substitute for shavings when starting a fire.

Thoughts are Sparks

—flashes of the mind that decide for success or failure. The question is, what kind of sparks does your brain generate? The brain, like a battery, must be supplied with certain elements to generate thought properly. These brain elements are water, albumen and phosphate of potash. If any of these are lacking in the daily food, brain and body energy are vitally lessened. Are any lacking? Listen! Water and albumen are plentifully supplied in ordinary food, but phosphate of potash—together with other mineral elements—is almost wholly lacking in white bread and all white flour products.

Grape-Nuts

—containing all the nutriment of wheat and barley, including the precious phosphates so essential to perfect bodies and active brains, provides a food at once delicious, nourishing and economical. A morning dish with cream furnishes POWER for accomplishment that many a man has come to appreciate. Common sense goes a long way toward success. To eat right often means to BE right.
