

A School for Tea Makers

In Japan the girls at school devote a large part of their time to the study of tea making, and methods of serving tea, for in Japan to serve tea is a ceremony, it is generally served without either cream or sugar.

Canadian housewives know that to make a tasty cup of tea, they must have good tea, that's why so many during the past thirty years have bought and enjoyed our Matchless Blend, 55c lb. 5 lbs. or more 50c.

Provincial Legislature

intended going to college and if they did they said they would never farm an acre of land on Prince Edward Island. The school should really be at the Experimental Farm where both institutions could cooperate. This was the way it was arranged at Truro. The students could work right through a year's course and learn the appropriate farm work for every season. The island members at Ottawa should be asked to make efforts to get the Technical School removed to the farm. Dr. Robertson said last winter that the School was not in the right place.

HON. MR. LEA: Did not you tell us last year that the Experimental Farm was no good? That you could best let it grow up by itself?

MR. BRODIE: No. I said there are farms on P.E. Island raising better hay than on the farm. Mr. LeA: From what you are talking about sending the boys there for them?

MR. BRODIE: I say there's good land there. Far better land than they would have a chance to work on at home. They could take the different crops and they are put in a big lot of money during the hard times the farmers are having now in the province.

MR. BRODIE: I know. But I am telling you that if you get it into a college and it would be rough on the young men a thorough knowledge of the soil.

MR. BRODIE, continuing, referred to the good results from seed fairs. He instanced one such fair, which was a summer event, held in Charlottetown for a fortnight and which was attended by 320 young men from all over the island. These young men returned directly back to the farm and they declared it was the most profitable fortnight they had ever spent and some of them are our best exhibitors of live stock at the provincial exhibitions since then.

HON. MR. LEA: We had them here last winter, and the Domestic Science courses too.

MR. BRODIE: I wish he would leave me alone until I'm through talking. (Laughter.) I'm saying nothing against the school, but he knows he has only got sixty scholars, forty of them from the country. It is not every man can afford to get in there in the winter to take a course. Let them come to the town in summer. How many out of this Technical School will stay on the farm four years from now?

HON. MR. LEA: I understand all are going back.

MR. BRODIE: I know some of them myself, and they are not going back. The subject of the Potato Growers' organization next occupied Mr. Brodie's attention. "Everybody gets up and says that the government started a great thing and a splendid organization when they got the potato growers going. I'm glad to hear that. But the fact is, the government has not done anything for the potato growers since they started the business. Now, Mr. Speaker, when both of them are trying to get the credit for starting this thing, I think I might just as well get after the man who is doing it. Just what I'll tell you. Eleven years ago last winter in the seed fair at Summerside Mr. Moore of the Seed Fair Division gave $5 prizes for the best letter written on the growing, care and shipping of seed potatoes. One of those letters was mine. After that I advocated that we turn to work and grade our potatoes and sort them for shipping in boxes instead of bags. Afterwards, about six years ago, Mr. Brodie wrote a letter on the subject to the press. Mr. Brodie's letter was signed by the Government and one of our best potato growers, also wrote a letter on the subject. Other letters followed. Meetings were held. Mr. Miller offered the use of the Board of Trade rooms, in which to hold a meeting. The committee of Agriculture were promised to do all he could to assist, and from that the Potato Growers Association was formed.

It is said now that the present government is supporting this business. The government, Mr. Brodie declared, is doing no such thing. The farmers are paying and running the business themselves.

MR. LEA: My hon. friend knows that the government is supporting by a good many hundred dollars.

MR. BRODIE: We pay you back, every cent.

MR. LEA: In an indirect way, yes. But in various ways we are assisting. You have the advantage.

"WAY DOWN EAST"—A play of thrills, pathos and intense dramatic situations, this filmed story is probably better depicted on the screen than in the book or play itself. From beginning to end one's attention is riveted to the enthralling unfolding of one of life's dramas. The performers are excellently taken and the scenes and scenery are all vividly real.

"Way Down East" at the Prince Edward has been attracting large houses, and those who would like to renew acquaintance with old time friends and memories could not fail to visit the theatre today as the engagement closes tonight.

Mr. Boulter's assistance.

MR. BRODIE: I never knew that the government was paying one cent of the secretary's salary.

MR. LEA: We will give you any information you want at the office. We have assessed in many ways.

MR. BRODIE: We have had a good surplus. I don't see how we can have a surplus.

MR. LEA: This year you had. But last year, getting under way, we gave you assistance.

MR. BRODIE continuing, said he had no difficulty getting a good rate for the provincial bonds, and the reason for this was that the farm lands of the province were the security he had to offer. If he had gone looking for money by offering a mortgage on a thousand automobile, how would he have got along? He never would have got a dollar! He had the farmers at his back. The bankers knew the farmers were good for the loan. It is from having six inches of soil that the debt must be paid out.

Retrenchment, Mr. Brodie believed, should be the motto of the government at the present time. The salaries of the members should be reduced to $300. "We have no right at all to go beyond that amount. If we did this we would save $6,000 a year of the people's money. We could cut down the salaries of our Premier, our Commissioners and the Attorney General and we could save that way over $1,000, because their salaries could easily be reduced to $1,500. These gentlemen are paid travelling expenses and their automobile bill this year has cost the taxpayers of this province $3,462. Another thousand dollars might be saved in the Public Works office and another thousand dollars in the Provincial Secretary's office and a thousand in the Registry office.

The returned soldier farmer have been hit very hard by the poor crops and the speaker urged that a resolution be passed by the House and sent to Ottawa asking for a revaluation of the soldiers' lands.

The returned soldiers who have come back to the fishing industry should receive some assistance like their comrades on the farm. Industries of every kind are needed in this province and if four or five young men are desirous of starting a shoe factory they might also be given government assistance.

The Premier had stated that he had no difficulty getting a good rate for the provincial bonds, and the reason for this was that the farm lands of the province were the security he had to offer. If he had gone looking for money by offering a mortgage on a thousand automobile, how would he have got along? He never would have got a dollar! He had the farmers at his back. HOUSE IN SUPPLIES

In the Legislature yesterday Premier Bell moved that the Women's Franchise be extended and the new Election bill was read a third time. A bill amending the Incorporation Act to the Electric Light Heat and Power Company, granting the Company an extension of two years to their time contract, was given second reading. The budget debate was continued by Messrs. Dennis, Butler, Kennedy, Crosby and Cox. Shortly after 11 o'clock the House in committee went into supplies and at 11.45 adjournment was made while the House was discussing the Agricultural estimates. The House adjourned until 10 a. m. this morning. It is hoped to conclude the session by the end of the week.

The early part of the evening was spent in conversation, which was followed by games and music, after which the meeting was called to order and Mr. Hugh McMillan delivered a short address expressing regret at losing such good neighbors, and hoping for their success in their new home. Mrs. Fred McLaren then presented them with a beautiful travelling bag. Though much affected by the good will shown, Mr. and Mrs. Bain both thanked their friends for their kindness. Brief addresses were also made by Mr. Robert McKinley, who told of his travels in the west, and by Mr. George Bearlito.
