—INFORMATION INCORRECT— The Guardian regrets that the news item published in good faith on Sept. 17th regarding one of the residents of Summerside East, having been bitten by a fox contained statements which were incorrect and was sent over a forged signature.

—REMEMBERED BY NORWEGIAN FOX MEN—Mr. James H. Prichard, Secretary of the Canadian National Silver Fox Breeders Association received on Friday last greetings by cablegram from sixty-six Fox Inspectors in Norway. These Norwegian Government Fox Inspectors were starting out that day on their second annual tour of the fox farms and they had evidently not forgotten that it was on the same date last year that they started the service with Mr. Prichard of Summerside, Prince Edward Island, as their first instructor. Hence the greeting sent which was very thoughtful and naturally is very highly appreciated by the recipient.—S.

—PRACTICALLY NO TRUANCY NOW—At the regular monthly meeting of the Prince County Childrens Aid Society, held this week at Summerside, it was reported that there is practically no truancy from school at the present time. A family, in which there are twelve children, living at Richmond was reported in poor circumstances and living under bad housing conditions. The agent and Truant Officer, Mr. V. J. Harrington, was requested to look into the circumstances and see what provision could be made for th[illegible]en. [illegible]S.

In Memoriam

VINCENT MCLEOD, DROMORE

"It is not the tear at this moment we shed
When the cold earth has just been laid o'er him,
That can tell how beloved was the friend that is dead,
Or how deep in our hearts we deplore him."

The death of Mr. Vincent McLeod, Dromore, occurred at his home on Monday, October 7th, and, although it was not unexpected for some time, the announcement brought sorrow and regret to many friends.

The deceased was only in his 42nd year. He was an intelligent man, of pleasing personality; and he was very highly respected and esteemed. He was in vigorous health until about two years ago, when he contracted a malady to which he eventually succumbed. During this interval he had the best medical treatment as well as careful nursing and attention; but, despite the efforts of loving hearts and gentle hands, it had been evident for some time that his life could not be prolonged. He will be greatly missed, not only in the home circle to which he had been so devotedly attached but by everyone with whom he had been intimately associated or acquainted. During his painful and protracted illness he was visited occasionally by his beloved pastor, the Rev. D. P. Croken, by whom he was consoled and strengthened in spirit, and he had the great happiness and privilege of receiving the sacred rites of the Church during his last days on earth.

The funeral to Fort Augustus on Wednesday morning was well attended, many mourners coming from a distance to tender their final tribute of friendship and respect. A High Mass of Requiem was sung by the Rev. Father Croken. The pall bearers were Messrs. D. J. Hughes, William Kelly, Fabian Hughes, Louis Grimes, Chester Hughes, and Herbert Simpson. Many spiritual offerings and messages of sympathy were sent by kind friends.

A widow, formerly Miss Gertrude Kelly, and a family of seven sons and one daughter are left to mourn. His mother, as well as four brothers, namely John F., Joseph, George, and Ambrose, and five sisters, namely, Mrs. E. Keenan, Mrs. John Dunphy, Mrs. P. Strandal, Mrs. A. A. Steele, and Sister Mary Patrick of the Order of St. Anne, Victoria, B. C., also remain to cherish his memory.

The Guardian extends deepest sympathy to the family members, relatives and friends in their great bereavement and loss. May his soul rest in peace.

APPLES PLENTIFUL

Apples will be plentiful this year. A crop estimate issued at the Department of Agriculture indicates a yield for all Canada of 3,731,380 barrels, or nearly 500,000 barrels more than last year. Nova Scotia maintains her position with a crop of 65 per cent. above last year's production. Ontario and Quebec report smaller increases. New Brunswick remains stationary and British Columbia shows a decrease of 27 per cent.
