Outbreak of Tamarac In New Brunswick

FREDERICTON, N. B., June 7.—Tamarac stands throughout New Brunswick this spring have been subjected to the most serious outbreak of the European tamarac or bark case-borer ever experienced, the needles of many trees being killed by the feeding of the insects. The forest insect division of the Dominion Entomological Service has the matter under observation. Case borer is so called from a small cigar-shaped case in which it places its tail and which it carries around with it. The insect is a small moth and it bores inside the needles or leaves, eating the pulp. The pest is prevalent all over Canada but the infestation never was so noticeable in this Province as this year. Its first appearance in New Brunswick was during last year. Pure stands of tamarac receive the most serious attacks but tamaracs in mixed stands also are attacked. Co-operating with the case borer to some extent is the larch sawfly, which has more deadly effect on the trees. Because of the prevalence of both insects it is difficult for entomological officials to ascertain how many trees are actually killed by the case-borer.

Born at Lennoxville, Que., in 1857, the son of Dr. H. H. Miles, vice-principal of Bishop's College School, Mr. Miles received his education at his father's school. Economy Urged At Convention Of Manufacturers

OTTAWA, June 7.—(By The Canadian Press)—Urgent necessity for economy in all administration costs from municipal to federal domains, was the keynote of discussions arising at the first business session of the 61st annual general meeting of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association which opened with a luncheon here today. Hon. R. B. Bennett, Prime Minister of Canada, was to have been the speaker.

It was understood today that because of Mr. Bennett's absence from Ottawa, his place would be taken by Hon. E. N. Rhodes, Minister of Finance.

The Association went through a long agenda this afternoon involving reports from nine committees, all of which were adopted with little discussion. The greatest attention was paid to the report of the committee on legislation which involved the question of taxation, and it was decided that the resolutions committee would bring in a measure that would place the Association on record on the subject of taxation and unemployment under the heading of "general economy."

The convention proper was launched at a joint luncheon held at noon today with the Ottawa Rotary Club joining with the Association in entertaining the delegates and their wives. At this function the president of the Association, W. H. Miner, Granby, Que., presented his annual report. Mr. Miner discussed the general economic situation which developed during the past year and while his remarks were optimistic on the whole, he warned against expectations of the forthcoming Economic Conference performing a miracle. The report of the legislation committee was moved by Chairman Morden, K. C., Toronto, and seconded by J. C. MacFarlane, Toronto, the Association's representative on the governmental revision committee. The report declared that retrenchment in governmental expenditure was a matter for urgent consideration. At the present rate of taxation governmental expenditures took approximately 20 per cent of the net production of Canada each year, the report stated. The cost of government was one of the foremost obstacles to business, the report continued, for it hangs like a heavy weight on every institution trying to balance its budget.

Stresses Per Capita Basis

The various governments could and should consider their expenditures on a per capita basis and not on potential taxation resources, the report declared, and continued.

"The Provinces and the Dominion should get together for an understanding as to their tax limitations. This year we have both the Federal and Provincial Governments together digging deeply into the earnings of the same business enterprises most of which are at their wit's ends to cover necessary expenses. Some way should be discovered to avoid this growing duplication.

"What is needed now is a conference of federal, provincial and municipal representatives to revise the entire taxation system and to devise ways and means of limiting their respective expenditures and defining their sources of revenue, to prevent overlapping. With provincial debts aggregating more than $1,000,000,000 and municipal obligations of more than $1,200,000,000, it is apparent that Canada's duty is to systematically control spending."

Elmer Davis, Kingston, Ont., Past President of the Association, declared that the question of taxation and economy would be one of the most important to come before the Association. He knew of no more beneficial move the association could make than to initiate a strong, vocal movement toward economy in public administration from coast to coast. Taxes were too high and were handicapping Canadian business, he declared.

A. F. Blake, Saint John, endorsed the sentiments expressed by Mr. Davis, and suggested the questions be the subject of a resolution. W. H. Shephard, chairman of the Alberta branch of the Association, joined in the protest against high taxes and H. J. Waddie, Hamilton, urged that more members of the Association stand for municipal offices.

Industrial Relations

The report of the industrial relations committee brought up a discussion of means to relieve unemployment. It was presented by L. L. Anthes, Toronto, and seconded by H. J. Waddie, Hamilton.

A. McA. Murphy, Montreal, criticized the report in that it was not consistent. He said that while the general demand was for economy the industrial relations committee was urging further expenditures in public works to aid the unemployed. Any resolution presented on this subject should, he thought, be preceded by considerable thought and careful wording.

Captain F. C. Browne, Vancouver, defended the Government's policy on unemployment and supported the move to place the agricultural minded idle on farms. It was possible to place families on the land at twenty per cent of the cost twelve years ago when the soldier settlement board began operations, he said. Some 60 per cent of the soldier settlers made good, he said, and that was a high average of success in any line of endeavor.

J. H. Webb, Montreal, was not in sympathy with any unemployment relief policy that involved unnecessary public works. It was not economical to spend money in advance of the needs of the country, he said. He believed in spending only enough to keep the unemployed from suffering until conditions made it impossible for the idle to be absorbed. On a formal notice it was decided that a resolution would deal with the joint subjects of unemployment and taxation under the heading of "general economy."

Financial Report

The financial report, presented by T. F. Monypenny, Toronto, showed expenditures for the year ended April 30, 1932, of $265,767.24 and revenue totalling $264,564.15, a deficit of $11,173.09. The report was adopted without discussion and was considered satisfactory in view of general economic conditions.

Other reports considered and adopted the following: The executive committee, education committee, insurance committee, commercial intelligence committee, and the membership committee showing an increase of 301 members and cancellation of 378 memberships, leaving the total at 3,708.

The business session tomorrow will include a discussion of the forthcoming economic conference, and will be in private. At the luncheon meeting tomorrow, Hon.

H. H. Stevens, Minister of Trade and Commerce, will speak. The third business session will be held Wednesday morning and will include the election of officers and the disposition of the report of the resolutions committee. At Wednesday's luncheon meeting the speaker will be Sir William Clark, British High Commissioner in Canada.

"The Lone Ace"

The East Royalty Dramatic players repeated their three act comedy drama, "The Lone Ace" for another full house at Heart's Hall East Royalty, Thursday evening June 2nd. All the players acquitted themselves admirably in the different parts assigned to them. Mr. Pius Callaghan City, delighted the audience with two special vocal numbers which were another full house at Heart's Hall entire change of vaudeville specialties. Mr. Alex MacLean contributed several instrumental numbers and played for the specialties. The Women's Institute are to be congratulated along with the players on the signal success attained with "The Lone Ace". After the show all the players and the specialty performers were treated to delicious ice cream and refreshments by the ladies of the Institute. The drama is a potent influence for much good in any community. It brightens the intellect, it is a means of education, brings the citizens of all communities together. Just as many of our noble singers were discovered in some obscure church choir, so may we discover dramatic talent and give it a chance through amateur groups in churches, schools, colleges and community institutions. The play committee at East Royalty have received requests from different localities to repeat their play. These requests are now being considered.
