Jewell, brother of the bridegroom, and Miss Mildred E. Young were the attending couple. The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore blue satin and carried a bouquet of pink carnations. The maid of honor wore rose colored silk with a bouquet of red carnations.

The property where the new C. N. R. Hotel is to be built, on the corner of Pownall and Kent Streets, has a very interesting history. The building occupying the site formerly, the Knights of Columbus Home, which is now demolished, was built by Sir Robert Hodgson, who was chief justice in 1853, and lieutenant-governor 1874-79. The fine residence was erected during Sir Robert's term as governor, and at the end of that time, he occupied the residence till the time of his death.

The lot at that time included the property to the rear of the hotel site and extended back as far as Fitzroy Street. On the death of Governor Hodgson the property descended to his son R. Hodgson and his daughter, Mrs. Judge Hensley. At Mrs. Hensley's death the property came into possession of her three daughters, Mrs. H. W. Longworth, Mrs. George McLeod and Mrs. Rose. In 1914 the property was sold to the Roman Catholic Episcopal Corporation and held by that body till 1923 for the Knights of Columbus. At that time the K. of C. were empowered to hold land to the value of $20,000, as compared with the $5,000 limit previously allowed. The Roman Catholic Episcopal Corporation again took over the property last spring with the view of erecting a new school, however, the site was bought by the Canadian National Railways for the purpose of building a hotel in Charlottetown for that company.

Neighbors noticed the flames shooting from the roof shortly after ten o'clock and those who arrived at the scene first aroused the occupants none too soon as they barely escaped with their lives. A small quantity of furniture was saved from downstairs but the house and the greater part of the contents were completely destroyed. It is assumed that the fire started from the flue near the roof. It is understood that Mr. Milligan's most unfortunate loss is complete, as he carried no insurance.—S.

McNeill, John Reid. Considerable discussion took place on the winter lecture course. The lecture committee of last year composed of Clansmen J. M. McFadyen, T. M. McMillan, and T. M. McDonald were reappointed. It was suggested that a speaker be secured to discuss the question of Maritime Union. Clansman Fethune pointed out that the tendency of the club of late in its lecture work had been to sponsor all subjects indiscriminately while the original aim of the organization had been to promote a taste for Scottish literature and a love of all things Scottish.

The personification of efficiency seems present in every detail of the work. Trucks running in a continual circuit are filled promptly with two enormous scoops of earth, and while the work of excavation goes on the old K. of C. Home is being dismantled as if by magic. The earth is being transported to the West Kent School grounds where it has been piled several feet deep over the area to be resurfaced. It is expected that the school lot will be completely covered by tonight.

On the morning of November 12th at an early hour, there passed to his eternal rest, the youngest child of Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Younker of North Winsloe, at the age of only three years and four months. Harvey was in his usual good health prior to his fatal illness, when on October 28th, he became ill. Soon it was found that he had become subjected to that dread disease "intestinal flu." All in the power of mankind was done in order that he might be restored to health but despite all human effort, the little one grew weaker until at last he slept away.

The funeral which took place from the home on Wednesday afternoon of November, 13th, was conducted by Rev. C. F. Johnson, Rector of St. John's Church, Milton, assisted by Rev. G. A. Grant of the United Church pastorate, Winsloe. The hymns sung were, "There's a Friend For Little Children, When He Cometh, and Jesus Loves Me. BUILDING DEMOLISHED—During the past summer and fall, work has been conducted by the Provincial Department of Public Works, using labor from Falconwood Hospital, to demolish the building beside old Government House, formerly used as an Agricultural Technical School, and previous to that time as a soldiers' convalescent home. As material was necessary for repairs to Falconwood Hospital a number of inmates were put to work under supervision and removed portions of the interior of the building. Hardwood flooring was used for the corridors of the hospital, and various pieces of material were removed by parties contracting with the Department of Public Works. It has been proposed building a cottage at Falconwood with part of the remaining material. At the present time a section of the roof is being removed, and officials intend to fill in the cellar with part of the excavated material from the site of the old K. of C. Home. Construction hurriedly during the Great War as a convalescent home, the building was never meant to withstand the attacks of time or frost. As a consequence sagging floors, bulging partitions, and an unstable foundation have made it imperative that the building, which no longer can be put to any public use, be removed, leaving the old Government House in its former state, possibly to be renovated or restored.

MCCNEILL—At Richmondville, N. Y., Nov. 25th to Mr. and Mrs. Edward Van Every (nee Katie McNeill of Milton, P. E. I.) a son.

In the death of Mrs. David Marchbank on November 19, a gloom was cast over Montrose, Alma, and Woodvale of so distressing a nature that all hearts are still sad. Many relatives and friends throughout this province will learn with deep regret and sincere sorrow of her sudden death of lobar pneumonia of three days duration. Minnie Webster was born, at Augustine Cove, P. E. I. on April 15, 1860, and was the eldest daughter of the late Mr. Benjamin Webster and his wife nee Miss Grace Warren and spent her girlhood days there. On April 16th 1880, she was married at Charlottetown to Mr. David Marchbank of Marchbanks Mills, Desable, and she planned to celebrate their golden wedding anniversary on that date next year, but God willed it otherwise. About 35 years ago Mr. and Mrs. Marchbank and family moved to this community where he bought the Mills of the late Mr. Hugh Squarebriggs. During the war, in the days of Red Cross activities for our soldiers, she was the first President of the Alma Red Cross Society and held that office for two years, and was a faithful and energetic officer, in the performance of her duties, and many soldiers were cheered at the front. Deep was the anxiety she suffered for her son George who served with the Princess Pats, and her nephew the late Mr. Charles Buxton who made his home with her while Inspector of schools of the West Prince, Inspector before going overseas, and who made the Supreme sacrifice. Needless Suffering
The next time a headache makes you stay at home—
Or some other ache or pain prevents your keeping an engagement—
Remember Aspirin! For there is scarcely any sort of pain it cannot relieve, and relieve promptly.
These tablets give real relief, or millions would not continue to take them. They are quite harmless, or the medical profession would not constantly prescribe them.
Don't be a martyr to unnecessary pain. To colds that might so easily be checked; to neuritis, neuralgia; to those pains peculiar to women; or any suffering for which Aspirin is such an effective antidote.
You need not hesitate to take Aspirin. It is safe. It is always the same. It never depresses the heart, so use it as often as needed; but the cause of any pain can be treated only by a doctor.
