DIVORCE AND RE-MARRIAGE.

Bishop Potter, of New York, Delivers an Important Address.

NEW YORK, Sept. 28.—In his address at the convention of the Protestant Episcopal Church of the Diocese of New York yesterday, Bishop Potter dwelt on the question of divorce, saying that the Church would doubtless always be divided as to the authority of the word relating to this subject in the Holy Scriptures.

"But, meantime," he said, "the whole subject has gained a new aspect from events to which I need not more particularly refer here, which have undoubtedly awakened in all Christian people a profound sense of alarm and the consensus of opinion among them as to the necessity of legislation which shall prohibit the re-marriage of divorced people under any circumstances whatever has greatly widened and deepened."

"It must be owned, that in the face of such danger as threatens us the only safe course must be to prohibit absolutely that which, while it might be permissible if we could always be sure that we had a scriptural justification, for it, is only wrong and evil when they justification, existing in fact, exists only because it has been fraudulently obtained. Here the judgement of eminent publicists and legal authorities concur and some of those in the former rank, have agreed in the opinion that the only safe canon in view of the tendencies painfully evident among us, is one in which the Church refuses re-marriage to persons divorced for any cause arising after marriage, absolutely and universally.

Bishop Potter then said that the social relations of our time have been affected by a spirit of individualism. He said that the great movement that led the American colonies to revolt from the Mother Country, affected also France, Germany and later Italy, and is now working in Russia. He said it had resulted in almost the complete abrogation of some of the earlier forms of authority, and most venerable and sacred traditions of the community and the State, and nothing more seriously than the family and especially the institutions and obligations of marriage.

"These at last," he went on, "have come to be lightly regarded that now at length the least thoughtful among us are beginning to realize the vicious tendencies in some 40 or 50 different commonwealths of our composite and contradictory legislation and to recognize that the facility with which the marriage relation may be taken on and put off is a menace to the foundations of society, and the jest of the civilized world."

Bishop Potter also made some complaint of laxity in the observing of Sunday, and he spoke in conclusion of The Hague Peace Conference, saying "What was proposed, and hoped for, has not at any rate in the form proposed, come to pass. But something even greater in one aspect, has prepared the way for greater things to follow."

The construction by the Hague Conference of an International Board of Arbitration is a step forward, transcendent and incalculable. It has, by that one act, altered forever, the relations of all civilized people. Such an achievement alone is great enough to redeem the century from the historic insignificance, and to lift it for all time to a great place in the progress of mankind."

George MacCulloch Miller offered a resolution that the portions of Bishop Potter's address which referred to marriage, divorce and the observance of Sunday be referred to a large and representative committee for consideration.

CHICKENS

MADE FAT

The Fattening Station at Charlottetown.

FOWLS GAIN RAPIDLY

247 Chickens Being Fed— They Gain a Pound A Week.

On Saturday afternoon it was the writer's privilege to visit the Charlottetown chicken fattening station, which is in charge of Mr. Edward H. Mitchell.

At the present time there are 247 fowls, which are confined in 20 crates or coops in which the fattening is carried on.

Through the kindness of the manager a very pleasant time was spent in looking through the various compartments of the Exhibition building, where the fattening is conducted.

The crates or coops in which the chicken for fattening is placed are 7 1/2 feet long by 16 inches square, inside measurement. Each crate is divided into three compartments, in which are five chickens. As the chicken increase in weight the spare crates will be filled with one chicken from each compartment. The crates are made of slats running lengthwise on three sides—bottom, back, and top and up and down in front. The slats are one inch wide by five-eighths of an inch thick. The spaces between the slats in front are less than two inches wide to permit the chickens to put their heads through for feeding from the trough.

The slat on the bottom are three-quarters of an inch apart. Each compartment has a small sliding door in front.

The crates are 2 1/2 feet from the ground. A light "V" trough 2 1/2 inches inside is placed in front of each crate, supported by two brackets. The bottom of the trough is level with the floor slats of the crate.

Ground oats mixed with skim milk, sweet or sour, is used—preferably sour. The preparation when given to the chickens has the consistency of porridge; so thick that it will not run rapidly; and so thin that if a large spoonful of it were put on a plate it would spread.

The fattening was commenced on Wednesday, Sept. 20. The chickens were fed three times a day. They are now being fed twice a day. At the end of the second ten days the cramming machine will be used. During the last ten days of the fattening period a small portion of tallow will be put with the feed. At first, at the rate of one pound of tallow per day for about 70 or 100 chickens will be used.

Mr. Mitchell informed the representative that he had them weighed on Wednesday 27th and the scales indicated an average gain in weight of a pound per fowl. Considering the fact that many were not delivered at the station until after the fattening was commenced the progress has been exceptional.

An important point is to feed regularly, and if any food remains in the crop from a previous meal, the chickens should not be fed at all until the crop is quite empty. If a bird becomes sick it is removed from the crate and put in an open run in the park. Grit is offered to all the birds once a week and water is supplied once a day.

It is an interesting study and all who can spare the time should visit the station, where no pains will be spared to give any explanation possible.

TRIPLE EDY MURDER

To Be Again the Subject of Investigation Next Week.

MONTREAL, September 5.—High Constable Gale, of Quebec, is in the city, and it is surmised that his visit has some connection with the term of Court which opens in Sweetsburg next Monday.

At this term the case of Sidney Hilliker and his farm hand, Clarke, both accused of perjury, will be brought before the Grand Jury. Sidney Hilliker is a farmer, who lives close to the United States line, and not very far from the place where the Edy homestead stood.

Almost every reader will remember the terrible Edy murder which horrified them one Saturday morning in June, some five years ago. Father, mother, and daughter were killed, and the homestead was set on fire. Up to this time no one has ever been arrested for this terrible deed, in fact there has never been sufficient proof adduced in any direction, to even cast a shadow of blame on anyone, notwithstanding the many investigations that have taken place. After the Montreal, and private detectives engaged on the case, gave it up, High Constable Gale took the matter in hand on behalf of the Provincial Government, and he has never dropped it from that time till now. He has been indefatigable in his efforts to elucidate the mystery.

The proceedings of the trial at Sweetsburg, if the Grand Jury bring in a true bill against Hilliker and Clarke, will be followed with the greatest of interest.

Hiliker, who is a jolly, stout farmer, and a man who would as easily be taken for a Yankee as a Canadian, lives right on the boundary line swore at the Edy investigation that he attended and sat out an entertainment which was given in Alburgh Springs, Vermont, on the evening preceding the morning that the triple murder was discovered. Clarke bore him out in this testimony, and the statement of both men was directly contradicted by that of other witnesses. Hence the present case at Sweetsburg.

In the east run Township the Edy murder is a topic of conversation which is never exhausted. The interest in it has been steadily kept up. The case of perjury will be tried before Judge Lynch this time. Mr. McCorkill, M. L. C. will in all probability defend the accused, and Mr. Nutting, of Bedford, will act as Public Prosecutor.

The pathetic story of Emma Juliet is repeated every day in modern life, with the exception that Juliet does not die by poison. She dies because of her own neglect or ignorance.

Neglectfulness causes much of woman's peculiar sickness. Neglect of the minor troubles causes serious complications. The irregularities, the burning, dragging aches, the depressing drains that mark the progress of feminine diseases, are passed lightly over or borne in ignorance of their cause. Their continuance means death or insanity. This is all unnecessary. So-called female weakness can be cured. It can be cured quickly and permanently, and right in the privacy of the home without the humiliating local treatment so universally insisted upon by physicians. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription does this and more. It acts directly on the delicate organs concerned and makes usual discomforts of the expectant period and makes baby's coming easy and almost painless. It tones and strengthens the nerves. At all medicine stores.

W. R. Malcolm, Esq., of Knobel, Clay Co., Ark., writes: "My wife for perhaps four months previous to the birth of our child took the 'Favorite Prescription.' This strengthened her entire system and child-birth, to her, was very easy, being attended with little pain. Our baby Ruth is thirteen months old and she has never been sick a day, not so much as had the colic; she is healthy and stout, and pretty as a picture—pretty because she is healthy, and we very much blame Dr. Pierce's family medicines for it."

We keep Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, the 'Favorite Prescription' and 'Pleasant Pellets' in our home and use them. We have been married almost three years and I have called a physician into my family but one time—at birth of our baby."

Rosy cheeks. The rich, pure, red blood of health makes them. Keep the blood pure and you will have them. Constipation causes impure blood. Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets cure it promptly and permanently and never gripe. They are purely vegetable and perfectly harmless. No other pill acts so naturally and perfectly. Druggists sell them.
