I'm her pupil, I confess, In this latest article. Do I care for it? Well, yes, Quite a pretty particle.

Planets are peculiar things, Like those old divinities: Some have belts, and some have rings, Curious attributes!

Just Suppose,

"Oh, John, suppose the rope should break?" "Can't you suppose something pleasanter?" - San Francisco Examiner.

At the Breakfast Table. The young matron who never brought her children to the table and the old maid who always carried oranges to her room were discussing the difficulties of housekeeping.

"I know," said the old maid, "but I think it would be so hard to raise children in a hotel."

An English bishop owned a portable bath tub which he failed, on one occasion to take with him on a pastoral visitation. When he returned he found that the housemaid had used the beloved tub.

A True Philosopher. "I thought you were going to sell that mule?" "I don't change my mind since I don't read de papers. By 'time I looks at him I gits thankful, 'cause I knows dat even if he do git disagreeable he ain't gwinter 'spode like he might ef he was an automobile."

Photographer - Beg pardon, sir, but can't you look a little less stern and severe? Sitter - Never mind how stern I look. This photograph is for campaign use. I am a candidate for judge. Go ahead. - Chicago Tribune.

"What is luck?" "Luck is the explanation of the success of others." "And ability?" "Oh, ability is the explanation of our own success." - Chicago Post.

"You should sleep on your right side, madam." "Well, you order be thankful you're a livin'."

"I really can't do it, doctor. My husband talks in his sleep, and I can't hear a thing with my left ear." - Town Topics.

"There are men," says the Man-yunk philosopher, "who wouldn't make much of an impression even by falling into a mortar bed." - Philadelphia Record.

Householder - There's something wrong with this bill, it's too big! Grocery Clerk - That's why the boss sent me to collect it. - Brooklyn Life.

"Do women, as a rule, have shorter lives than men?" "If you let them count the years they do." - Brooklyn Eagle.
