The Kidneys
Catch It

These blustering days. Such an easy matter to catch cold and neglect it. If the kidneys are at all weak that's where it settles, and the terrible back-aches so well known to kidney sufferers are the result.

DOAN'S KIDNEY PILLS
don't cure the cold but they do take away its effects by regulating and strengthening the kidneys. Never was a case of kidney disease that they could not cure.
Mr. CHAS. BROWNING, who lives at 18 Ontario St., Toronto, Ont., for more than a year was troubled with terrible pains in his back. When he stopped down he found it hard to rise up again. His urine was a dirty brick color, and scalded when voided. "One box of Doan's Kidney Pills completely cured me of my urinary troubles," said he, "and gave me relief from the pain in my back. They have proved themselves a splendid medicine, and I must give credit where credit is due."

The Mystery of Johann Orth.

But the saddest episode is that known as the mystery of Johann Orth, one of the most remarkable romances in the dynastic history of Europe in this country. The Archduke, John Salvator of Tuscany, a nephew of the Emperor Francis Joseph, had fallen in love with an actress and singer, Ludmil Habel, whom he married in spite of all family opposition, renouncing at the same time all his rights, privileges and rank, and assuming the name of Orth, after one of his castles. The romantic marriage was celebrated secretly, but in a perfectly legal manner, by the registrar of Islington and was witnessed by the Consul-General of Austria in London.
Johann Orth next bought, in 1891, a fine ship in Liverpool, which he renamed 'Santa Margarita,' and so anxious was he to guard against the vessel being recognized that he stipulated that all drawings and photographs of it should be handed over to him, and these he burned with his own hands; moreover, he caused all portraits and negatives of himself and of his wife to be bought up at any price, and these were likewise destroyed. We are giving here only absolute facts. Shortly afterwards the ex-Archduke and his wife set sail for South America, and the vessel was duly reported to have arrived at Monte Video, and departed for a destination unknown. But from that moment every trace was lost of the ship and all on board, no news as to her fate having ever been heard, although many a search has been made along the coast by order of the Emperor of Austria and his government.
Adventurers and treasure seekers have been at work, as it was well known that Johann Orth had on board over a quarter of a million pounds in specie; it is believed that he intended to have bought an estate in Chili with the money, and to have settled there, but that the vessel foundered off Cape Horn during a terrific storm which raged on the coast shortly after the ship had left. From time to time since then the most startling rumors have been set afloat about the missing prince having turned up; one being that he had been one of the leaders of the Chilean rebellion having divided his treasures among his crew, burned his ship landed on a lonely coast, etc. His own mother, who died only a few months ago at the Castle Orth, believed her son alive to her very last hour, and expected his return. The Swiss Government is of a different opinion, and assumed the death of the Archduke, and paid over to Frau Orth's next of kin a large amount of money, which Johann Orth deposited as a settlement for his wife with the Swiss authorities before his departure, and there is little doubt that the 'Santa Margarita' lies at the bottom of the sea, and that all on board perished: Strand Magazine.

Admiral Dewey and Bride at White House.

At the reception at the White House Friday evening a sensation was created by the arrival of Admiral Dewey and his bride. The people would not allow them to pass without greeting them. Mrs. Dewey was dressed in an elaborate duchesse lace dress with a long train. It was a magnificent creation, an her diamond ornaments greatly enhanced her beauty. The Admiral had scarcely got in shoes raining, for when he bowed to pay his respects to the receiving party he planted both feet squarely on the train of his wife's gown. There were a few moments of agony to the onlookers as they watched the couple move down the receiving line. Mrs. Dewey was apparently the only unconscious woman in the room until the Admiral discovered he had run on a dangerous reef.

WIDEMAN'S STORY.

An Absolutely Marvellous Cure by Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Twisted Out of Shape by Rheumatism—In Torment of Misery and Pain—Dodd's Kidney Pills Rescued Him from a Horrible Death.
Duntroon Ont., Nov. 22—The following signed statement is made by A. N. Wideman, of this place:—
"I consider it my duty to inform the public of the great benefit I have experienced from Dodd's Kidney Pills. I was working in the harvest field. The season was usually wet. Several times I was drenched by sudden rain storms, and each time I worked on in my wet clothes, there being no time to waste getting the harvest in. When night came the air became chilly, and I began to feel twinges of burning pain across the small of my back and my shoulders. That was the beginning. That winter I was laid with inflammation. Rheumatism. I consulted the best physician in the district. He did all in his power, but all the effect his medicine had was to make my teeth break off. I was in bed five months. Occasionally the pain would make me scream with agony. My back became covered with bed sores, one of which was poulticed 500 times before it healed. My legs were twisted, toes pointing inwards. My left foot was paralyzed. I lost forty pounds. I was, in fact, given up.
"One day Mrs. John Boyer, who lives two miles away, brought me some Dodd's Kidney Pills. I cannot describe the delight with which I found on taking these Pills they were doing me good. I determined to continue, and to make a long story short, they made me a well man. I am absolutely cured in every respect. Dodd's Kidney Pills saved my life, and I thank God for putting them in my way.
"(Signed), A. N. WIDEMAN, Duntroon, Ont."
