The swift British advance, not unlike their sudden overwhelming of the Fascist troops in Italian Somaliland last month, was accompanied, a communique said, by fresh successes of the native Ethiopian forces fighting the Italians in the Golan district northwest of Addis Ababa.
These patriots, British officials said, were vigorously pursuing the Italian garrison which abandoned Burye south of Lake Tana, March 4.
A Middle East Royal Air Force communique said British bombers attacked the harbor of Tripoli in the western Libya Friday night, and hit railway lines there, as well as airbases in Tripolitania.
A military spokesman said approximately 30 per cent of Italy's East African territory—168,000 of a total of 620,000 square miles—is now under British control, and that during the last two months' campaign British forces have captured more than 21,000 prisoners and much material.

London Raided

adian troops was hit by a heavy bomb, 40 Canadian soldiers in it escaped unhurt.
The Canadian officers killed were Capt. Phil Seagram of Toronto and Lt. J. D. Wright of Sarnia, Ont.
About 75 couples were dancing when the bomb burst in the centre of the restaurant floor, turning the gay scene of wartime night life into one of horror and destruction. Dancers, members of the band and smartly-dressed men and women at nearby tables took the full force of the blast. Most of the many casualties were among these persons.
I passed less than an hour after the bomb fell. It was another hour before the rescue workers had finished the grim task of carrying out the dead and injured.

Lights Fall

The lights failed when the bomb exploded and the injured dancers and diners, their clothes torn, shreds, blackened by dust and soaked with blood, staggered to the street.
Scores of police, wardens and volunteers, among them Canadian soldiers and airmen, working with torches, took out in stretchers the dead and more seriously wounded. One observer counted at least 15 shreds of broken glass and furnishings. Bombs, falling on both sides of another cafe caused casualties.

Hundreds of Explosives

Masses of German planes dumped hundreds of high explosives on the capital. The drone of the attacking planes sounded unusually low.
At least one public shelter was hit; hospitals were warned to prepare for casualties. Buildings trembled under the shock of high explosive blasts, flames lighted the sky, revealing a criss-cross of vapor trails from the planes.
The night raiders came after a day of air attacks on England's east coast and in Scotland, in which two bombers were shot down. One observer counted at least 15 high explosive bombs then, he said, "something came down out of the sky trailing sparks. It may have been a bomb or it may have been a rocket shot down."
From another district, an observer telephoned that "they are dropping them out here just like the earlier blitz."
The toll of air warfare on civilian lives was raised by the announcement of the Air and Home Security Ministries that 788 civilians were killed in raids on Britain last month while 1,088 were injured.
The total official casualties for the last six weeks, through February, stood at 24,371 killed and 35,373 injured.

quarre, won in the present war, and the Legion of Honor on his blue naval uniform, the captain talked to reporters through his English-speaking aide.
He was wounded at Dakar, he said, when he went ashore as chief of the emissaries seeking to have the capital of French West Africa. He was wounded in the leg. With him was Air Force Captain Beccourt Foch, grandson of the generalissimo of the Allied armies in the last war.
Captain D'Armenieu later headed French naval forces in French West Africa. He is a member of General de Gaulle's council of empire.

Will Try Invasion

These are some of his opinions:—Germany will try an invasion of Britain, but will fail.
France will again take up arms "when the time is ripe," and will play an important part in making herself free.
The navy of Vichy will not fall into German hands.
Vichy's colonies will join de Gaulle "one after the other. We have proof that many of them are trying to join us now, but I can't mention any names."
And above all else, he is convinced Britain will triumph.
The war brought D'Armenieu out of retirement, killed his brother, an army general, and separated him from other brothers and two sisters, of whom he now knows nothing. They are still in France.
The captain said his trip to Canada was planned in London, and that Ottawa was in complete accord with the idea.

Ford sees Unions Losing ground

By James H. Cobb, Jr.
Associated Press Staff Writer
WASHTON, Ga., March 9—(AP)—Henry Ford said Saturday he believes unions are "losing ground" and that he has no intention of recognizing them as bargaining agencies with employees of the Ford Motor Company.
"We do not intend to submit to one union, and those who belong to one are being fooled," the manufacturer said in an interview at his plantation home here, thus indicating his attitude unchanged since he refused to recognize union leaders four years ago.
"A union is like a big spider's web," he continued, "once inside the web, the workmen can't move."
"Freedom, freedom of speech and personal pursuits, is the keystone of our American government."
"American industry should be free to function; American workmen should remain free to do as they will, without being shackled by a few union leaders who are using the defence program to advance themselves."
"What have unions given in return for the initiation fees and dues collected of men employed on defence projects, men who were compelled to join unions for the first time in order to secure jobs waiting for them and for which they are qualified?"
"With thousands of our fine young men serving in the army, navy and marine corps for only a few dollars a month, how can un-

Says French Will defend African Empire

(By Robert Okin, Associated Press Staff Writer)
VICHY, March 9—(AP)—France's African Empire will be defended against any outside attack by French forces alone, it was announced today in a communique given by Admiral Jean Darian for Gen. Maxime Weygand.
The Vichy cabinet, commander-in-chief of the army here, said France fell out of the war last June, recently returned from the command of the army here.
"The eventual defence of our African Empire against an outside attack was especially examined at the luncheon, a communique said. "It was confirmed that conforming to engagements taken by Chief of State Marshal Petain and without the framework of the armistice commission this defence will be energetically carried out by French forces against any aggressor."
It was reported that Vice-Premier Admiral Darian has discussed with his closest advisors the possibility of convoying French ships by French naval vessels against possible attacks.

Forty Canadian Soldiers escape When bomb hits

By Foster Barclay
Canadian Press Staff Writer
LONDON, March 9—(CP Cable)—Forty Canadian soldiers escaped unhurt when one of their favorite rendezvous was hit by a heavy bomb in Saturday night's German air raid on London. Although there were no casualties, extensive damage forced temporary suspension of classes.
(The dispatch did not indicate the name of the club. One of the most popular rendezvous of Canadian troops in London has been the Beaver Club operated by The Young Men's Christian Association.)
Soldiers and several voluntary women workers were holding a sing-song in the basement when the bomb hit. The roof of the building and shattered part of the wall around the dance floor which had been vacated a couple of hours before. Plaster was blasted from the dome all over the floor and what was left of the wall was pitted with splinters.
H. J. Swetman who was standing in the doorway of the building, which had become a home away from home for Canadians, said the bombs were whistling all about.
"It got so bad we asked everyone to go to the basement," he said. "And it was lucky we did. You see what a mess it made."

Organization Of Industrial Zones announced

OTTAWA, March 7—(CP)—Canada is being organized into industrial zones, each with a chairman and committee to work in conjunction with the Munitions and Supply Department "to harness all possible industrial resources to war needs," Munitions Minister Howe announced tonight.
"Purpose of the zone committees is to collect and maintain current industrial information and on request to advise the Department of Munitions and Supply thereof," Mr. Howe's announcement said.
The Minister added that organization work in the zones is being carried on by the Canadian Manufacturers' Association and the Canadian Chamber of Commerce "with the assistance of the Department of Munitions and Supply."
"Organization of the country into zones will enable the department more rapidly to obtain accurate expert information on the industrial resources of every area in Canada," Mr. Howe said.
In addition, the Canadian Manufacturers' Association and the Canadian Chamber of Commerce will accompany the organization work with a national survey of industrial resources. This survey, to begin this week, will be conducted by a joint committee of the department and war production committee under joint chairmen, L. L. Lang of Kingston, Ont., and J. D. Johnson of Montreal.

Mussolini Continues to Drop Ministers

By J. F. SANDERSON
Canadian Press Staff Writer
Rome, March 9—Mussolini is getting rid of his ministers like Grandi, Minister of Justice, is getting the ninth member of the Italian government to leave for the front in recent weeks.
By itself, this trek to the wars by Mussolini's ministers may not seem important because the only man who has meant anything in Italy, Benito Mussolini, remains in Rome. But it strengthens reports that German experts have been planted by Hitler in many key jobs in Rome as part of a plan to "take over" the country, leaving Mussolini merely as the puppet of Italy.
Although Germany has many troops in Italy and air squadrons based on Sicily and the Italian mainland, Hitler has not attempted military occupation. That has not been necessary because with his technicians and experts in the main governmental and industrial jobs and with Mussolini definitely under his thumb, there is no need for ministers like Grandi and Mussolini apparently is in the position of acting as a buffer between his own people and the Germans. He has persuaded the Italian people to manage the Italian nation for them and he tells his own people he stands between them and German occupation of the country.
Travelers recently returned from Italy speak of the discontent against the Fascist regime and bitter feeling held by the Italian people for the Germans. They have not suggested anything like organized opposition to the German occupation, generally, but it is known that riots have broken out in some Italian cities within recent weeks. It should be remembered that with German and Italian troops members of the German Gestapo and Italian Ova ready to deal with malcontents opposition has little chance of getting organized in Italy where opposition to the regime has been a crime for years.
But there can be no doubt Mussolini is treading a dangerous path. Despite all the Fascist shouting and promises of a new Italy, the inevitability of Italian strength on land, sea and air is largely a myth built up assiduously through the years by the Fascist propaganda. It is every reason to believe, were diverting to party and personal bank accounts the money provided by the army, navy and air force.
When defeat followed defeat, the people began to murmur and ask when by their taxes had gone it was at this point, apparently, that Germany began to take over the country quietly through its advisers, technicians and Gestapo agents.
The Axis drumfire against Yugoslavia and the United States. The Berliner Borsen Zeitung headlined its story, "Bolshevik does not need the 'uncle from America.'"
The "Deutsche Diplomatische Wochenschrift" wrote in the Foreign Office, said the President was meddling in European affairs contrary to the "entire principle" of the Monroe Doctrine.

British reject Hoover plan

WASHINGTON, March 9—(AP)—The British Government, declaring it would be "false humanitarianism" to admit foodstuffs into any German-occupied territory, tonight announced rejection of Herbert Hoover's new proposal to establish soup kitchens in Belgium as an experiment in European relief.
The British Embassy in a statement here said the Government had "considered afresh the whole problem of relief, including the proposal for the institution of soup kitchens in Belgium" and still is determined not to weaken or undermine the blockade "by admission of supplies from overseas into any territory under enemy control."
In reply, the former president said the fact is that millions of children, and the weak are threatened with stunted bodies and death in the occupied areas unless relief is brought to them. "It is no false humanitarianism which saves the lives of countless children."
The British Embassy supplied Mr. Hoover, honorary chairman of the Committee on Food for the Small Democracies, with a copy of its statement in advance of its general release.
In his reply, which was released simultaneously, Hoover said his plan was not to be abandoned. He said officials had prepared their statement "before they were fully informed upon the undertakings we are making in advance of its general release."
The food situation in the occupied countries, Hoover said, "is far worse than the British statement would seem to indicate" adding that the Belgian ration is down "less than half necessary to maintain life."

LONDON, March 9—(CP Cable)—Forty Canadian soldiers escaped unhurt when one of their favorite rendezvous was hit by a heavy bomb in Saturday night's German air raid on London. Although there were no casualties, extensive damage forced temporary suspension of classes.
(The dispatch did not indicate the name of the club. One of the most popular rendezvous of Canadian troops in London has been the Beaver Club operated by The Young Men's Christian Association.)
Soldiers and several voluntary women workers were holding a sing-song in the basement when the bomb hit. The roof of the building and shattered part of the wall around the dance floor which had been vacated a couple of hours before. Plaster was blasted from the dome all over the floor and what was left of the wall was pitted with splinters.
H. J. Swetman who was standing in the doorway of the building, which had become a home away from home for Canadians, said the bombs were whistling all about.
"It got so bad we asked everyone to go to the basement," he said. "And it was lucky we did. You see what a mess it made."

OTTAWA, March 7—(CP)—Canada is being organized into industrial zones, each with a chairman and committee to work in conjunction with the Munitions and Supply Department "to harness all possible industrial resources to war needs," Munitions Minister Howe announced tonight.
"Purpose of the zone committees is to collect and maintain current industrial information and on request to advise the Department of Munitions and Supply thereof," Mr. Howe's announcement said.
The Minister added that organization work in the zones is being carried on by the Canadian Manufacturers' Association and the Canadian Chamber of Commerce "with the assistance of the Department of Munitions and Supply."
"Organization of the country into zones will enable the department more rapidly to obtain accurate expert information on the industrial resources of every area in Canada," Mr. Howe said.
In addition, the Canadian Manufacturers' Association and the Canadian Chamber of Commerce will accompany the organization work with a national survey of industrial resources. This survey, to begin this week, will be conducted by a joint committee of the department and war production committee under joint chairmen, L. L. Lang of Kingston, Ont., and J. D. Johnson of Montreal.

Mussolini Continues to Drop Ministers

Rome, March 9—Mussolini is getting rid of his ministers like Grandi, Minister of Justice, is getting the ninth member of the Italian government to leave for the front in recent weeks.
By itself, this trek to the wars by Mussolini's ministers may not seem important because the only man who has meant anything in Italy, Benito Mussolini, remains in Rome. But it strengthens reports that German experts have been planted by Hitler in many key jobs in Rome as part of a plan to "take over" the country, leaving Mussolini merely as the puppet of Italy.
Although Germany has many troops in Italy and air squadrons based on Sicily and the Italian mainland, Hitler has not attempted military occupation. That has not been necessary because with his technicians and experts in the main governmental and industrial jobs and with Mussolini definitely under his thumb, there is no need for ministers like Grandi and Mussolini apparently is in the position of acting as a buffer between his own people and the Germans. He has persuaded the Italian people to manage the Italian nation for them and he tells his own people he stands between them and German occupation of the country.
Travelers recently returned from Italy speak of the discontent against the Fascist regime and bitter feeling held by the Italian people for the Germans. They have not suggested anything like organized opposition to the German occupation, generally, but it is known that riots have broken out in some Italian cities within recent weeks. It should be remembered that with German and Italian troops members of the German Gestapo and Italian Ova ready to deal with malcontents opposition has little chance of getting organized in Italy where opposition to the regime has been a crime for years.
But there can be no doubt Mussolini is treading a dangerous path. Despite all the Fascist shouting and promises of a new Italy, the inevitability of Italian strength on land, sea and air is largely a myth built up assiduously through the years by the Fascist propaganda. It is every reason to believe, were diverting to party and personal bank accounts the money provided by the army, navy and air force.
When defeat followed defeat, the people began to murmur and ask when by their taxes had gone it was at this point, apparently, that Germany began to take over the country quietly through its advisers, technicians and Gestapo agents.
The Axis drumfire against Yugoslavia and the United States. The Berliner Borsen Zeitung headlined its story, "Bolshevik does not need the 'uncle from America.'"
The "Deutsche Diplomatische Wochenschrift" wrote in the Foreign Office, said the President was meddling in European affairs contrary to the "entire principle" of the Monroe Doctrine.
