Master Colin Jackson, Lower Montague, is being congratulated on winning first prize for his hog entered at the Bacon Show recently held in Charlottetown. The first prize being $5.00 from Davis & Fraser also a $2.00 prize sponsored by the Swine Breeders Association. The young chap who is a son of Mr. and Mrs. T. R. Jackson netted the fine amount of $7.15. The hog was shipped from Montague through Mr. S. C. MacLean.

The regular monthly meeting of the United Ladies' Aid was held at the home of Mrs. Bert Machon, the executive committee, Mrs. Horace Hewitt, Mrs. Bert Machon, and Mrs. Robert Machon and the scheme for raising money this month was "measure your waist-line" and a neat sum was realized. The meeting was conducted in the usual manner and a delicious luncheon was served by the hostesses.

It is due to arrive today at the Prince Edward Theatre.

The story concerns the dilemmas arising out of the fact that Bracken, a millionaire's son, suffers from kleptomaniac—a most embarrassing affliction. When he falls in love with Veronica, an unwilling Jew, the hilarious complications develop.

The two stars, according to reports, make an ideal combination, one that succeeds in corraling laughs from beginning to end of the picture. They are given excellent assistance by Albert Dekker, Willie Best, George Zucco, Donald MacBride and Lewis L. Russell. The film was directed by George Marshall, who will be remembered for his "Incendiary Blonde."

"Hold That Blonde!" is definitely one of the pictures to put down on your "must see" list.
