A summons for fifth offence against the Prohibition Act has been served on Colin McDonald, city, returnable at the City Police Court, Saturday 27th, at 10 o'clock. A summons for first offence against the act has been served on John Hughes (Budley) returnable on 26th. Elmor Mahar of Montague testified in court yesterday that Hughes procured liquor for him. The Inspector asked for a warrant to detain Mahar until the case was heard, which the Magistrate granted. Messrs Prowse Bros are making a display of furs in their southern window, that is certainly a credit to their establishment. They comprise the celebrated Labrador Mink Furs, the fur which Prowse Bros know to be the best on the market—the best in appearance, the best for durability, and the best all round fur from every standpoint. The season's new open muffs are featured most beautifully in these furs, and the neck pieces are attractive enough to make some quick selling for these garments. Some Northway Coats, add to the window display, and the elegant Carricul coat, with jewelled buttons, is so close in resemblance to the original Pony cloth, that it is difficult to distinguish between the two. The whole display is fine, and the window is attracting general attraction and admiration.

Great sympathy will go out to the widow and family of the late William Everett Vessey in his sudden demise. Mr Vessey was bookkeeper with the firm of J. A. Farquharson & Co., of this city and appeared to be in his usual state of good health up to last night about one o'clock when he was taken with very severe pains in the arms and legs. He was suffering intensely and it was thought advisable to send for a physician. Dr Jenkins was summoned, who did what he could to alleviate his suffering, but the patient gradually became weaker and at seven o'clock this morning after receiving the rites of his religion his spirit passed away. The late Mr Vessey was a native of Montague, and was in his 46th year. He came to Charlottetown about 25 years ago and worked for many years as book-keeper with R. B. Norton & Co., Fennel & Chandler, and for the past four years with J. A. Farquharson & Co. He was a quiet, steady and faithful worker much respected by all who knew him. He leaves to mourn a widow and five children, also his mother and one brother in Montague and three brothers and four sisters in the United States for all of whom much sympathy will be felt in their sudden bereavement.
