THE YOUNG ADAMS OPERA COMPANY

The thrillingly interesting story of Jane Eyre, by Charles Bronte, lost nothing of its strength, its pathos or its humor in the telling last night by the Young Adams Big Stock Company in the Opera House, Charlottetown. There was a full house and the performance was carried through with the utmost smoothness. Miss Marie Adams in her role as Jane Eyre, was splendid, her interpretation of the persecuted, loveable and independent orphan girl being faultless. Miss Hazel Stevenson took the difficult as well as disagreeable character of Mrs. Reed excellently, while Miss Julian Talbot as Georgiana, Miss Carrie Gaslow as Mrs. Fairfax and Miss Marguerite as Adele, fitted most naturally into their different parts. H. Wilnot Young gave an excellent interpretation of gruff, honest Mr. Rochester, while Sam Archer, in his impersonation of Col. Dent, was strong and humorous, and James Shadrack, as the spoiled "mother's darling" of the Reed family made a typical bad boy who richly deserved the kicking he received from Col. Dent. Louis N. Ville, Arthur J. Markey and A. J. Sharkey, as Professor Brocklehurst, Arney and De Leon, respectively, fitted in their different parts without a hitch and created lots of laughter and amusement. The company is one of the very best that come here, if well balanced, well trained and each ready to take the parts assigned to them intelligently and carefully. The tenorship of the thrilling drama was nicely relieved between acts by clever vaudeville, clean songs and dances and acrobatic stunts which were really amazing. The large audience that greeted the company on their second appearance showed their growing popularity in Charlottetown and no doubt they will be greeted to-night by a still larger house when they present the Southern comedy drama "The Girl of the Sunny South."

FOR THE NEEDY ARISTOCRACY

BERLIN, Nov. 27.—(Special)—The Crown Princess Cecile is organizing a unique charity tea for the end of November, the proceeds to be devoted to the amelioration of needy members of the German aristocracy, and others described as "gentle poor." This class is inordinately large. It includes members of the best families in Teuton noble nomenclature, and the military caste is strongly represented. Hundreds upon hundreds of "Vons," who have either not been able or inclined to keep march with the progress of events in the highly commercialized Fatherland, are said to be on the brink of destitution, and dependent upon such benefactions as the Crown Princess has just taken in hand. Her Imperial Highness has hit upon a novel way of insuring the financial success of the undertaking. She has asked some 150 leading society ladies to assist her by presiding over individual tea tables, for which they must furnish everything—porcelain, glassware, linen, decorations and servants—and they must, in addition, guarantee a minimum profit of $25 apiece.

REFORM SOCIETY IN MEN'S APPAREL

BERLIN, Nov. 27.—(Special)—The Society for the Reform of Men's Apparel has launched its propaganda in Germany, and is now mobilized for a vigorous campaign against such freaks of fashions as trousers, braces, shirts, collars, neckties and hats. It does not, of course, advocate summary return to the well-ventilated costume affected by primeval man, but would substitute blouse-effects for "tabular" clothing, and knee-breeches and high-buttoned tunics for sombre evening-dress of the period.

SOCIETY WEDDING AT CHARLOTTETOWN

Very quiet and unpretentious indeed will be one of the most important events in the society annals of Charlottetown in particular and Prince Edward Island in general, when at 6.30 this morning, in St. Dunstan's Cathedral, are celebrated the wedding nuptials of Miss Faustina, youngest daughter of Hon. W. S. Sullivan, Chief Justice of this Province and Edward Ernest McManus, of Memramcook, N. B. The bride beautifully gowned in grey and blue velvet travelling suit, with grey plush hat and blue ostrich feathers will wear a beautiful suite of black fox fur, the gift of the groom, and will carry a bouquet of white roses. She will be given away by her father, Miss McManus, sister of the groom, very charmingly robed in a French blue cloth costume, black picture hat and carrying pink roses, will attend the bride, while John McManus, brother, will do the duties of groomsmen. Only the very near relatives and friends of the family will be present. Many beautiful and useful presents have been received by the young people. After the wedding they leave on a honeymoon trip to the southern States, after which they will reside at Memramcook where they will be followed by the best wishes of their many friends. The bride who is a very popular member of Charlottetown society will be much missed when she leaves to take up her residence at her husband's home. Much effect outside of it, has borne his share of the burden with meekness. But he can see that if the increased cost of living justifies a rise in wages, a rise in wages certainly tends to increase the cost of living. If the Royal Commission has not indicated the way of escape from this circular reasoning, it has at any rate compiled a valuable collection of facts and made some useful suggestions.

COST OF LIVING IN NEW ZEALAND

WELLINGTON, Nov. 27.—(Special)—The Royal Commission, appointed to investigate the cost of living in New Zealand has made its report. Like most other civilized countries, New Zealand has recently suffered a good deal from an increase in the cost of living. The chief sufferers, of course, have been the recipients of small fixed incomes, but the loudest and most articulate complaints have been those of the wage-earners, who have access to the Arbitration Court. The rise in rent and in the cost of food and clothing as a reason why the rate of wages fixed by an award of five or ten years ago should be raised. The plea has often prevailed, but sometimes the contention of the employer that the same causes which have increased the cost of living have so increased his working expenses that to enlarge his wages held would put an end to profits has held the worker's plea in check. Where the employer can pass on the burden to the public, and even make an extra profit out of the transaction, he has sometimes offered a quiet resistance to the demands of the worker. The consumer who has no footing in the Arbitration Court, and does as a rule make his voice heard with
