O'Leary And Vicinity

The lobster season opened on April 30 on the western coast, which is quite clear of ice. It was a lovely fine day, and there was quite a bustle along the shores and a din of motors.

Congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. John Clements, Glenwood on the birth of a young daughter.

We were sorry to learn that Miss Pearl Noonan, O'Leary, had been ill with tonsillitis. Her many friends wish for her speedy recovery.

Mr. George McDonald, Milo spent a few days recently the guest of Mr. Vernon Betts, Glenwood.

Mr. Lyman Gorrill, Glenwood, was a visitor on April 24 at the home of Mr. George McWilliams, Milburn.

Mr. David McNevin, had as his guest recently, Mr. Ralph McDonald, Milo.

Mr. Arthur Leckie, Milburn, is the proud possessor of 25 lambs from 12 ewes, good luck in hard times.

Very good luck is reported from Mr. W. Turner's ranch at O'Leary, 18 pups from 3 pairs of foxes, with more to be heard from. Quite a number of ranchers in this locality report poor returns.

Her many friends regret the indisposition of Mrs. James Dennis, O'Leary, and hope to see her restored to good health soon.

Mr. Fred N. Nash, poultry promoter, Charlottetown, visited the Glenwood Experimental Station on April 22 on official business.

Master Walter Auld, Glenwood, had the misfortune, while playing at his home on April 28 to fall and seriously injure his elbow.

Mr. C. J. Cooke, Dairy Promoter, Kensington, visited the Glenwood Illustration Station on April 26, "Your favourite musical instrument".

Quite a little village of fish houses have been erected at West Point wharf during the month of April, 10 buildings more have been added since last season, which goes to show that optimism reigns supreme among the fishermen.

appointed as follows: Health and Cleanliness—Jean and Enid Stewart, Yard Committee, Gordon Stewart, and Jackie Sabine. Roll call at next meeting will be answered with "Your favourite musical instrument".

The regular meeting of the Junior Red Cross Society of Montgomery School was held on April 29, with the President, Helen Sabine, in the chair. Roll call was answered with riddles, and new committees were Mrs. Nell Boulter, Glenwood, was a visitor at the home of Mrs. James M. Stewart, West Point on April 24.

Mrs. James Livingstone, Glenwood had as her guests over the week end Miss Flora Boulter and Mrs. Blanche McDonald.—O.

This is what the Chicago Tribune thinks of it: The proposals of the American delegation to the Geneva Conference on Armaments are worse than absurd. They represent the degeneration of American defense policy which has been going on in recent years and will accelerate motion under Mr. Hoover. They represent the inordinate influence of organized pacifism and political idealism upon the present direction of our diplomacy, an influence without sanction in American public opinion and without respect for American interest.

Of wild beasts the worst is a de- tractor; of tame, a flatterer.
