Useful in Every Home

To know the virtues of Dr. Chase's Ointment and the innumerable uses to which it can be put in the family is to prize it as a friend of inestimable worth.

For baby, it quickly relieves the rash and itching which torture him while teaching, and cures scald head, eczema, hives and all sores, ulcers and chafing. For children it stops the suffering from burns, scratches, cuts and wounds, and every form of skin irritation and eruption.

For women it cures the pimples, blackheads and skin eruptions which mar the beauty of the skin, gives instant and lasting relief to the itching from which they suffer, and positively cures eczema, salt rheum and piles. For men Dr. Chase's Ointment is most frequently used for piles, which are caused by exposure to cold and dampness or by bodily derangements.

It is the only guaranteed cure for itching, bleeding and protruding piles. 60 cents a box at all dealers', or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

CITIZENS WERE CONSULTED.

In one of the numerous "whereases" recited before the City Council's famous resolution, intended to prevent the Police from serving papers in Prohibition cases, the pretext is set up that the Councilors were not consulted by the Government before the enactment of the law. We have already shown that the Government were in no way under obligation to consult the City Council, and that the fact of not being consulted can in no way affect the legal validity or moral force of the law. But if the Council were not consulted it is quite clear that the Council's masters—the people—had been consulted more than once before the law was enacted.

Once in 1893 this was done by the Peters Government, on which occasion the people of Queen's County made answer by 4,223 in favor of prohibition and only 1513 against. On that occasion the citizens of Charlottetown by a majority of 538 declared themselves as desirous of having a prohibitory law enacted. Again in 1898 the people of West Queens (including Charlottetown) were asked at the Dominion plebiscite whether or not they desired a prohibitory law. The result was that 2,146 citizens declared that they did want it, and only 246 put themselves on record as opposed to it.

The City Councilors were a part of the general constituency so appealed to in 1893 and in 1898 and were consulted in their private capacity as electors. They know very well the facts that we have stated as above, and that what the people want is a matter of vastly greater consequence than what some eight Councilors may want or not want. By overwhelming majorities on the two occasions on which they were officially asked whether or not they wanted prohibition the people have replied that they did want it. And in the face of this record is it not puerile for the City Council to raise the pretext of not being consulted?

The Ottawa Citizen raises a cry for the abolition of statute labor. Prince Edward Island has already done so. The inland Provinces are painfully slow in such matters. There have been no tollgates in the Maritime Provinces during a generation past and yet this relic of a semi-barbaric age still blocks the highways in Ontario. Notwithstanding the heaven progress imported to old Canada from the east at confederation the inland mind is so slow that little impression has yet been made upon it.

A few days ago on 10th June occurred the fiftieth anniversary of the date when the first Young Men's Christian Association was established in America. During the fifty years the Association has found a place in every City of the land, and it is to-day a strong and healthy institution, justified and well approved by the work it has accomplished and is now carrying on. Perhaps its best work has been effected in the larger cities, but the Association has demonstrated its great usefulness in the smaller centres as well. It has saved many from the contamination of evil, has proved a home for the homeless, and has done incalculable good in bringing Christians of differing creeds together and sinking the barriers which had before separated them.

Bicyclists and all athletes depend on BENTLEY'S Liniment to keep their joint timber and muscles in trim.

It is rather discouraging to learn that the Boers have still 17,000 men in the field and Mr. Balfour denies that any negotiations for peace are going on. From this it would appear that the end is not so near as had been hoped. The enemy's supply of ammunition still holds out, proving that a vast supply must have been laid in before the war. They have now no factory for making ammunition and have long been cut off from any chance of importing it.

The death is announced of ex-Premier Hardy of Ontario, at the age of 64 years. A brief sketch of his public career was given in our despatches when his serious illness was first announced. He was an Anglican Churchman in creed. The Toronto Mail, which was always politically opposed to him described Mr. Hardy as "quick to apprehend, ready to execute." The Globe once described him as "radical in his views, believing strongly in the people, but not necessarily believing that every change means reform." He was after Sir Oliver Mowat, the foremost Liberal-statesman of Ontario in the Provincial arena.

The real rough rider is the man who rides the river with a twisting, squirming log for a saddle, on which he stands, balancing himself to its every motion. If his coolness fails or his nerve gives way, disaster and death reach out for him.

It's the giving way of the "nerve" which proves fatal to so many a man. Perhaps he is simply crossing the street, as he has done ten thousand times. He hears a shout, stops, hesitates, gets "rattled" and is run over. When a man finds that his memory plays him false often, when he starts off to get something and forgets what he went for, when he knows he has locked the front door and yet an irritating uncertainty compels him to get up and verify his knowledge, then that man is in danger at any minute when confronted by a trifling danger. He is unnerved.

This condition can be perfectly cured by the use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It strengthens the stomach, nourishes the nerves, and purifies the blood. It contains no alcohol, whisky or other intoxicant.

"The reason I delayed writing was because I wanted to wait one year after I had taken the medicine before giving my statement, and now I can send a good, conscientious testimonial," writes Charles S. Sergeant, Esq., of Plain City, Madison Co., Ohio. "During the summer and fall of 1896 I became all 'run down,' nerves were out of order and stomach out of order. I wrote to Dr. Pierce for advice. He said I had general debility, and advised Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, and, thanks to you for your advice, I used six bottles; and since I stopped taking it, about one year ago, I have not taken any medicine of any kind, and have been able to work every day. My appetite is good. I can eat three square meals a day. I do not feel that miserable burning in the stomach after eating, and my blood and nerves are in good shape."
