By an Island Farmer's Wife

I stood a moment behind the others to watch it pass the grove and then came indoors to do the dishes. Strange now, that I do not recall much about the hours before noon only to remember that the house was quiet and deserted. Edie was at the mill, and the poultry had to be attended to and there was the pair of fattening pigs to be put to pasture.

Soon the saving of the harvest continued and if the insistence of the work was not so apparent as it would be in a like circumstance at Alderley a number of the golden grain was loaded and stored in a granary. "We threshed a rally off the mill" my father explained for I had heard the sound of the gear and added in answer to my question, "Yes, I fed the mill there's not much work to that." In the afternoon in company with a sister and her young daughters I went to pick cranberries on the farm down the highway where young Ellen, niece and namesake of mine was. The warm September day suited our purpose and we quite enjoyed our spell at the work. The sunshine was rich with the gold of Autumn and the lazy breeze was full of the nice tang off the Strait, which lay sparkling wide and blue, just beyond. The shores of the mainland were visible in a dim out-line to the right and as we noticed this our thoughts turned again to follow in fancy those who had gone from us this morning. Cranberry picking is a tedious

MILLER-WILLETT WEDDING

St. Paul's United Church, Fredericton was the scene of a charming wedding when Margaret Imogen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. O. Willett was united in marriage to Henry Robertson, son of J. M. Robertson and Mrs. J. M. Robertson of New Brunswick, Cornwall, P. E. I. Rev. J. Arthur Forbes conducted the ceremony for which the church was decorated with baskets of gladioli and ferns.

The groomsmen were his brother, Jack Imogen, and the bridesmaids were Lawrence Willett, brother of the bride, and Edward Bastieo, Toronto, J. Harrison, Wade president of the groom, and Mrs. Charles Fleet was soloist.

Miss Peggy Gillis of Newcastle was a flower girl. She wore a gown of mauve sheer crepe with matching flower hat of yellow and mauve and carried a nosegay of yellow and mauve flowers.

The bride who entered the church with her father, wore a gown of white broadcloth, made slightly en train, with bustle back. Her veil of embroidered net fell to the floor from a coronet headpiece of embroidered net and pearls, and she carried a nosegay of cream and white roses with tulle streamers in white.

Immediately after the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, 228 English Street. The rooms were beautifully decorated with flowers. Those serving the guests were Miss Alice Mac, Kenzie, Miss Helen Little, Miss Dorothy Gillis and Miss Jane Fleet.

Later, the bride and groom left for a wedding trip to P. E. I. For travelling the bride wore a two-piece tailored suit in cheery red wool and carried a nosegay of white flowers. Her accessories were in black and white.

Among the out of town guests were Mrs. A. S. Ferguson, Miss John, Mrs. A. S. Hutchison of Newcastle, Jack Miller of Halifax and Mr. and Mrs. B. C. Woodworth of Grand Falls.

IN MEMORIAM

The citizens of Indian River and Kennington were shocked on Sept. 25th when it was learned of the sudden passing of William Mann at the age of 64 years, although in ailing health for some time the end came as a great shock. He entered the Prince County Hospital on Sept. 15th and passed away, three days later.

The late Mr. Mann was a man of sterling character, always eager to help neighbor or friend. He was a friend to all who knew him, and was dearly loved and respected by his many acts of kindness. But it will be in the home, where he will be sorely missed for he was a most devoted husband and father, never untiring in his efforts to be a help to his family. He did his duties as he saw them and gave his best to all. He enjoyed the simple pleasures of life, a stroll through the fields and a friendly chat with his neighbors which he much enjoyed. He was a great reader and home lover. Mr. Mann will be greatly missed in the community.

The funeral was held on Friday, September 26th, from his late residence at 2 o'clock. The grave in the cemetery which gathered was a splendid tribute and token of the high esteem in which the late Mr. Mann was held by all who knew him.

The service was conducted by Rev. J. A. McCowan. Hymns sung were Peace, Perfect Peace, Safe in the Arms of Jesus, Abide With Me, Mr. Bud Mountain of Summerside sang very tenderly. There is no wonder that the pall bearers were Charles Kennedy, Leslie Mann, Harold Mill, Edgar Hickey, Lieke Ramsay and Norman Ferguson.

He is survived by his sorrowing widow, one son Keith on the home-ward bound ship, and daughter (Mrs. Victor Zman) of North St. Eleanor, also several grandchildren, one daughter and her husband, Mr. Bud Mountain of Summerside, also several grandchildren, one daughter and her husband, Mr. Victor Zman of North St. Eleanor, also several grandchildren, one daughter and her husband, Mr. Bud Mountain of Summerside, also several grandchildren.

Here's the "Know How"

IT'S very simple to know how to use Carnation Milk. Carnation is fine whole milk, concentrated to half the original volume by evaporating part of the natural water. Add an equal quantity of water, and you have the consistency and food value of whole milk.

But you'll find a great difference in the smoothness, rich flavor and fine texture that Carnation gives to foods. And here's something special — if the recipe calls for cream — use Carnation undiluted, as it pours from the can. Use Carnation also, to "cream" coffee and cereals. You'll love it. Carnation is Canada's largest-selling brand of evaporated milk.
