

"200 Years of Excellence 1728-1928"

WHEN the grave young scientist, Dr. Joseph Fry, was introducing his famous beverage in 1728, he found his best advocates were the quality, flavour and absolute purity of his Cocoa. Such, indeed, remain its best arguments today.

Fry's Purity Always First

For 200 years no demand, however great, has ever been allowed to cheapen or to hasten in the least degree the processes by which this famous Cocoa is made. It means something to know that 200 years of experience and adherence to century-old ideals of purity and care, are represented in that tin of FRY'S which you will buy today.

Eastern Kings Notes.

Messrs. Charles Dingwell, South Lake, Geo. McDonald, South Lake, and Colin Dixon, Baltic, were visitors to Souris last week.

Mr. Fred Dixon, East Baltic, is at present in Kingston, the guest of his uncle, Edgar Francis.

The many friends of Mr. Charles Young Red Point, will regret to hear that he passed away at his home last week.

Saturday, St. Patrick's Day, was a regular "pet" day, and very very Spring-like. Those travelling the highways report that the snow is fast disappearing. Souris was the scene of many people on Saturday, a "Trot" on the ice, being the magnet in this case.

Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Aitken, have returned to their home in Port-tune, after a visit to the City, Farmer's Week.

Messrs. Angus McDonald, Farmington, and Leonard Mooney, Greenvale, were visitors to Port-tune last week.

Miss Belle Townshend, Rollo Bay, is visiting in Greenwich, the guest of her sister, Mrs. Earle McEwen.

Miss Helen Adams, teacher, Annapolis, was a visitor to Fortune Friday evening.

Mr. Wesley Keefe, Stanley Bridge, was called to his home in Little River last week, owing to the sudden death of his brother, Percy. Another brother, Stanley, arrived from Boston to attend the funeral, which took place on Saturday and was very largely attended.

Another of Fortune's residents has been called to her Eternal reward, namely, Mrs. Margaret Meade, dearly beloved wife of Mr. Joseph Meade. Mrs. Meade had been in very good health, until last summer, when she suffered a slight shock, from which she never rallied, despite the best of care. The funeral was held to Bay Fortune cemetery, and a large cortege accompanied the body to its last resting place.

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Jackson, are the proud recipients of a new baby girl.

The Young People's Clubs recently organized at Bay Fortune, by Mr. Howard Simpson, are progressing favorably under the leadership of Messrs. E. Reid, Charles Coffin, Reid Underhay, Miss McKenzie and Miss Beatrice Johnson. Friday is the night for meeting. The girls have chosen for their Club name, "Pride of the East." Miss Minnie McKenzie was elected President, and Miss Mildred Coffin, Secretary.

On Friday March 9th, the Fortune Bridge Hall Committee held their annual concert. The night was quite favorable, although the road was not very good, and quite a large attendance was the result. The program was varied and met with much applause. The first number was instrumental music, J. LaPiere, Violin; Miss Adeline Webster, Organ; Fred McKenzie, Banjo. The next, a reading, entitled "Soliloquy of an Old Maid." This number was received with much applause, by a very youthful performer. Solo, Miss Hilda Francis. Following this was the first act of the two act play, entitled "Mr. Bob." Characters—Philip Royson—Mr. Aubrey Aitken; His Cousin, Kitty—Miss Clara Aitken; Their Aunt, Miss Luke—Miss Clara Coffin—Marion Bryant; Mr. Bob.—Miss Margaret Coffin; Mr. Brown who is mistaken for Mr. Bob.—Mr. Floyd McKenzie, Patty—(Maid who is of a dramatic turn of mind)—Miss Sadie McKenzie; Jenkins (a butler)—Mr. Lloyd Davidson. Instrumental music followed by a solo by the ever popular Mr. Ray Howlett (encored). Act II—Mr. Bob, Comic Solo in Costume, "Roll 'Em" (encored) by Mr. Fred McKenzie; Dialogue, "Keeping Him in Character." Mrs. Todd—Mrs. James McKenzie; Joan (the daughter)—Miss Myrtle Dingwell; Nell (Jean's Lover)—Mr. Harry Burke; Mr. Todd (who does his own papering)—Mr. Harry McKenzie; Aristocratic Visitors—Mrs. Guy Dingwell and Miss Mabel Keefe. Duet—Messrs. Banks and Norton (encored); Solo—Mr. Ray Howlett (encored); Instrumental music, duet—"Let Me Call You Sweetheart." Miss Mary Coffin, Soprano, Mrs. Wil Coffin, Alto, Duet—Mrs. James McKenzie and Mrs. Guy Dingwell; Minstrel Jokes—Messrs. Orrin Dingwell and Mr. Harry McKenzie; Mr. Geddie Coffin capably acted as Chairman and Mrs. George Jackson, Mrs. Reid Underhay, Mrs. Elby Howlett and Miss Adeline Webster were accompanists for the evening. Baskets were sold and the sum of one hundred and twenty dollars realized. Mr. Edwi Reid and Mr. Harry Burke auctioned the baskets.

Internal parasites in the shape of worms in the stomach and bowels of children sap their vitality and retard physical development. They keep the child in a constant state of unrest and, if not attended to, endanger life. The child can be spared much suffering and the mother much anxiety by using a reliable worm remedy, such as Miller's Worm Powders, which are sure death to worms.

Lesson No. 11 Question: How does emulsified cod-liver oil increase the efficiency of milk as a protection against rickets? Answer: Milk is deficient in rickets-preventing vitamin. A little emulsified cod-liver oil added to or taken with milk makes it a more perfect vitamin-food. Give it as SCOTT'S EMULSION

ST. PATRICK'S CELEBRATION IN GRAND RIVER HALL

An attendance that taxed to the limit the capacity of Maple Leaf Hall, Grand River, was on hand St. Patrick's night to witness the presentation of the play "Oak Farm" by the Grand River Dramatic players, under the direction of Mr. Linus C. McDonald. The remembrance of the excellence of this play as presented in the same place just sixteen years ago, together with the admirable reputation which the Grand River players have acquired as interpreters of dramatic art, combined in making such an appeal to the surrounding community that despite the unfavorable conditions of the hall was filled as it has seldom been under the most propitious circumstances. That this group of young players enhanced its reputation by the presentation of this play was amply evidenced by the thunders and spontaneous applause that greeted them throughout the play and at the end thereof.

Miss Beatrice Morrison in the character of Mrs. Silas Wetherby had one of the heaviest parts, and she filled it with that graceful ease and kindly manner so characteristic of her real self. Her husband Silas Wetherby was Mr. Carl McDonald, who has acquired an enviable reputation in the impersonation of elderly roles, and on this occasion he was up to his best. Their son Donald, about whom the plot centers, provided a different role, which was handled with ease by Mr. Angus Gillis.

Eileen Trombull, who is engaged to Donald, was played with consummate skill by Miss Helen McIntyre, teacher of Cross Rivers school. Miss Kathleen Praught and Mr. Willard McLellan, as Sally Smart and Joel provided the comic portions of the role they are adepts whose antics are most amusing.

Mr. Arnold Praught as Wellington Troy, a salesman, although unable to dispose of any of his saleables, gave a very realistic impersonation of the slick salesman. Jonathan Prune, the villain, was played by Mr. Harold McIntyre, whose skillful portrayal of the part left nothing to be desired. Dr. McEedith and Professor Spudge, as impersonated by Messrs. Celestine McLellan and Wil Gillis, gave an impish insight into the problem of why some men marry, while Miss Cynthia Warren with her two hundred and fifty thousand dollars, provided the answer. This part was taken by another of Grand River's native teachers, Miss Irene Morrison, whose graceful portrayal of the part belied the fact that it was her initial appearance before the footlights. The costumes and stage settings were beautifully arranged, and reflected much credit on those responsible.

Before the play a short address was given by the Rev. John A. McDonald, who in his usual happy manner, welcomed the audience and expressed the hope that they would enjoy fully the programme prepared for them. Specialties of a high order were introduced. Mr. Leo Praught, and were opened by the Grand River Brass Band, playing appropriate Irish airs. Vocal solos were beautifully rendered by the following ladies: Misses Catherine McDonald, George Phillips and Winnifred McLellan. Mr. James A. McDonald, in his step dancing as usual received tumultuous applause. Violin selections by Miss Irene Morrison accompanied by her sister, Miss Bertha Morrison and some old-time fiddling by Mr. Cecil Gallant, accompanied by Mr. Robert Kinnaird were heartily applauded. The management wish to thank all those who graced the occasion by their presence and especially those outside Grand River, who assisted in the inter-act specialties and in securing costumes.

IN MEMORIAM MRS GEORGE SEMPLE

Profound sorrow was caused by the untimely and unexpected death of Ethel Semple Kensington, which occurred on the 14th February. Deceased had been about as usual only the week before, and in company with her husband had attended at evening worship on the preceding Sabbath. Her was their usual time when she was compelled to keep her bed, but despite medical aid she rapidly lapsed into unconsciousness from which she never rallied and passed peacefully away. It all happened so quickly and unexpectedly that it occasioned no little shock to the whole community many never having over heard of her illness. Deceased, who was only 21 years of age, was an exemplary wife and mother, but found time to interest herself in matters extraneous to her domestic duties. She was connected with Kensington Presbyterian Church and in company with her husband was always to be found where opportunity for service presented itself. She was treasurer and a highly valued member of the young

Bedeque And Vicinity

Mrs. Roy Hill, Freetown, was a guest of Mrs. Fred MacQuarrie, Searletown, on Wednesday last.

Mrs. Heber Myers and Miss Selina Myers, North Carleton, were visitors to Chelton on Friday.

Among the ones attending Mr. Percy Allan's sale were Messrs. Earle Pearson, Charles Schuman, James Beers and Otto Doull, Chelton, Messrs. Stewart Wright, Alder Wright, Heber Myers, Walter Bartlett, North Carleton. There were never known such a sale for years, and everything going to the highest price.

Messrs. Frank Newson, Rose Valley and Linsom Newson, Linkletter were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Jewell, Searletown, on Wednesday last on their way to attend the sale.

Mrs. Henry Lowther, North Carleton, is visiting friends in Victoria.

His many friends and relatives will regret to learn of the very sad and unexpected death which took place in Searletown on Monday afternoon in the person of Mr. Hector Campbell. The end came very suddenly. He had been heard to say "he never felt better as he did this winter." He cared for his mother this last few years, and made everything a pleasure to her that could be had in her advanced age. He was never known to have anything else but a smile and a joke for everybody that knew him. His funeral will be held on Thursday at his late residence.

The open air rinks in this vicinity are broken up for this season. We should be well satisfied and not complain, as I think we have had our pleasure out of them this season, which should carry us on until next winter.

Mr. and Mrs. Leigh Owen, Hamilton, were visitors to Chelton on Sunday.

A surprise party was held for Mr. and Mrs. Walter Bartlett, North Carleton, at the home of Mr. Alder Wright's, when their many friends gathered to bid farewell to them before they left for their new home in Searletown. They were presented with two chairs and a well worded address. The evening was spent very pleasantly in games and music after which a sumptuous repast was held, each one doing justice to the innkeeper. When the wee sma' hours of the morning were beginning to show up, each one returned to their homes well pleased with the evening's fun.

Mr. Fred Murphy, Chelton, is busily engaged in hauling fertilizer from Carleton Siding.

Mr. and Mrs. Heber Myers, North Carleton, were guests of Mr. Ellis Bradshaw, Middleton on Monday evening.

Mr. Lloyd Best, Kelvin, spent this week end in Chelton.

Wind, be still, 'tis Spring! Sun, shine bright and clear! Birds fly Northward—sing! Spring is here! Snowdrifts, melt, 'tis Spring! Make her pathway clear. Make the forest ring. Spring is here! May shall bring us flowers, April, smile and tear, March prepares the hours—March is here!

people's society and was always in the way of every movement for its advancement of a quiet pleasant and unobtrusive disposition she was always cordially greeted wherever she went and her death removes one whose place can never be filled in the house and will be long vacant and difficult to fill in the circles in which she moved. It is which took place from her late residence was very large and representative, only a comparatively small number being able to get inside the house. The service was conducted by the Rev. Fred Williamson who also officiated at the committal in Kensington cemetery, where all that was mortal of the deceased was laid to rest in sure and certain hope of the resurrection to eternal life through our Lord Jesus Christ. There remains to mourn their loss her mother Mrs. John Doughart, a loving and devoted husband and one little daughter Mabel to all of whom goes forth a deep and intense sympathy in what is undoubtedly a very severe trial. On the casket were many beautiful wreaths loving tributes from relatives and friends to whom she had endeared herself in life and to whom her memory will ever be precious. Patriot please copy FREDERICK W. WOOLNER

Friday, March 16th, marked the close of a long and useful life when Frederick W. Woolner passed away at the age of 86, at the home of his son-in-law, Hammond J. Toombs of Kensington. Mr. Woolner belonged to an English family noted for its longevity and enjoyed excellent health till about a year ago, since that time he has suffered severely, and although tenderly cared for, and despite medical skill he succumbed to an attack of pneumonia after five days illness. On Monday, March 19th after a short service at this house the body was conveyed to the Cavendish United Church where a large gathering of old time friends and neighbours came to pay their respects to one who had been highly esteemed and loved. Rev. Peter Jackson delivered a thoughtful sermon from 2nd Timothy 1 and 12, a text which fittingly expressed the faith and trust of the deceased. He spoke most sympathetically to the bereaved family and relatives stressing the fact that while there must be sorrow on account of separation, there is also hope and comfort in the promise of a glorious immortality so wonderfully portrayed for us by the Apostle Paul. The hymns, "The Lord is My Shepherd," "Asleep in Jesus," and "Jesus, Lover of My Soul," were sung. He was laid to rest beside his wife who predeceased him eighteen years ago and other loved ones. The pall bearers were: John Laird, O. C. LePage, Russell McLure, O. M. Bernard, E. C. LePage, and Arch. Hartling. There are left to mourn the loss of a kind and loving father, two sons, R. Chester and Benj. C. of North Rustico, and two daughters (Flora) Mrs. H. J. Toombs, and (Mabel) Mrs. W. G. Simpson, of Kensington. Two daughters, Annie and Lucy (Mrs. John MacDonald), predeceased him. There are also quite a large number of grandchildren.

Ben's beans are ideal for Lenten meals

Ben's Beans make an appetizing dish that you can serve frequently — two or three times a week — during Lent. Ben's Beans are baked in the old-fashioned way, with extra fancy Barbados molasses and choice clear fat back pork. The flavor is tantalizingly tempting. To get it, heat in frying pan. You always have something good to eat in the house when there's a supply of Ben's Beans in your pantry.
