Some eight days ago two fishermen named Cadman and Robertson from Stenogus, N. B., were taking lobster gear when they were caught in a fierce gale. Their boat shipped a sea and sank before the eyes of others who were about a quarter of a mile distant. Yesterday the body of Cadman came ashore at William's Cove, near Cape Traverse, and was found by John McWilliam's lying face downward on the shore. Dr. Docherty, Coroner, was soon on the scene, empaneled a jury who gave a verdict of drowning by accident. Ed. Crosby, station agent at Cape Traverse, had instructions for some days to look out for the bodies of the men and immediately telegraphed to Mrs. Cadman the description of the body found which answered completely to that of her husband. A boat was immediately dispatched from Stenogus. James A. Chisholm undertaker, Tyron prepared the body for burial after which the boat sailed for the home of the unfortunate man. Cadman was a poor man and leaves to mourn their irreparable loss a wife and one small child. "The body of Robertson has not yet been discovered although it is expected it will be washed ashore before many days."

A large and representative gathering of the people of Grand River Parish took place Tuesday night in the Grand River Hall, the hall being taxed to its utmost. The occasion was the reading of an address and presentation to Dr. Brown by his fellow members and to bid farewell to a young and popular doctor. After the address and presentation, James Brown, of C. M. B. A., Moncton, eighth Grand Organizer for the Maritime Provinces, spoke a few words explaining the benefits and advantages to be derived from membership in the society. After this the gathering enjoyed themselves in dancing. Songs till the wee small hours of the morning; leaving or their homes satisfied that the night was a great social success. The address was read by Leo Praught, Rev. J. A. McDonald, the worthy pastor, spoke in Commendatory terms of the young doctor and on behalf of the Parish wished him success in his new sphere of life.

The following is the address: Dear Sir and Brother: We, the members of Branch 421, of the C. M. B. A., learn with profound sorrow that you are about to sever so closely for the past years, and the ties which have bound us together. Though fully conscious of the loss the Branch will sustain in your removal, yet we entertain no vain regrets, but rather a pardonable pride in seeing you enter upon a larger and more responsible duties of your chosen profession.

We have followed you with great solicitude through your successful student career abroad and take this opportunity to publicly congratulate you on the brilliant result of your examinations. It was not any surprise for us, indeed, to learn that your energy and ability had placed you in the very highest grade of this year's graduates of (St. Denis) Dental College, and we have the greatest confidence that the quality of character which made you a leader in the social as well as the Academic life of your college, will soon place you in the front rank of the Dental Surgeons of this Province.

On behalf of the Branch we beg of you to accept this small gift which may remind you in times of trial of our fraternity. We also wish to tender you the good wishes of the people of Grand River who came here to do you honor and it is the earnest wish of all assembled that you will succeed to your heart's desire. (Signed) Leo P. Praught, Pres. Cornelius McKellan, Joseph L. Cameron, Charles Morrison, Joseph P. Gillis, Committee.

A HARMLESS WAY TO DARKEN THE HAIR A Little Sage And Sulphur Makes Gray Hair Vanish—A Remedy For All Hair Troubles Who does not know the value of sage and sulphur for keeping the hair dark, soft, glossy and in good condition? As a matter of fact, sulphur is a natural element of hair, and a deficiency of it in the hair is held by many scalp specialists to be connected with the loss of color and vitality of the hair. Unquestionably, there is no better remedy for hair and scalp troubles, especially premature grayness, than sage and sulphur, if properly prepared. The Wyeth Chemical Company of New York put up an ideal remedy of this kind, called Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy, and authorized druggists to sell it under guarantee that the money will be refunded if it fails to do exactly as represented. This preparation is offered to the public at fifty cents a bottle, and is recommended and sold by E. A. Foster and McKinnon Drug Co.

OTTAWA, Aug. 24—It is estimated that the expenses of the Dominion general election will total close to $750,000. The number of polls will be upwards of 14,000, as vote has increased much heavier than was expected, in the West especially. Special to The Guardian. LONDON, Aug. 24—The British Railways lost considerably more than $500,000, as a result of the two days' strike last week. The returns published last night show an aggregate decrease of $465,000, whereas under normal conditions an increase of $600,000 might have been looked for. Joseph Chamberlain has contributed a notable preface to Archdeacon Cunningham's book, "The Case Against Free Trade." The veteran statesman says: "The future of the Empire lies henceforth, not in its power to annex new territory, but in its capacity to unite the existing Dominions and to develop the resources of the existing Dominions." "To this all our efforts should be directed while the Empire is still plastic. In another part he writes: "The great Dominions are willing; we alone refuse. Dominion open the door to us. In return we slam it in their faces."
