MONTREAL EXCHANGE

(C. P. By Guardian's Special Wire)

MONTREAL, Oct. 5.—A decidedly improved tone prevailed on the Montreal Stock Exchange today when more than half the list to appear in board lots rose to higher levels and only three issues closed lower. Volume continued moderately heavy and a few of the leaders made gains near the close of the trading period.

Bell Telephone was one of the strong features of the day's trading. It held a gain of one point at 122, a new 1934 high. Canadian Celanese Preferred rose two points to 110. Dominion Textile was a point higher at 80 and Hollinger was firm throughout the whole session, closing with a net gain of 50 cents at $21.00.

Steel of Canada was slightly firmer at 37 compared with yesterday's close at 37-3/8, allowing for deduction of the dividend of 43-3/4 cents, the stock having gone ex-dividend today. Brazilian Traction gained 1-4 at 11 5-8 while Canadian Pacific advanced 1-8 to 12 7-8. International Nickel declined 1-8 to 23 3-4 after holding steady most of the day.

National Breweries, which has been holding near its year's high of 28 7-8, rose 1-2 today at 28 3-4. Bruck Silk extended the forward movement it began earlier this week by gaining 1-4 at 18 1-4 in the last 15 minutes of the session after being unchanged during the previous part of the session. Canada Cement also advanced near the close, rising 1-8 at 7 1-8.

Among the stocks to gain fractions were Montreal Power, McColl Frontenac, Canadian Car, Canadian Industrial Alcohol "A", Shawinigan Power and Dominion Steel and Coal "B".

Moving against the trend, B. C. Power "A" declined 1-8 to 27 3-8 and St. Lawrence Corporation was off 10 cents at 150. Dominion Bridge, General Steel Wares, Bank of Commerce, Bank of Montreal, Cookshutt Flow, Howard Smith and St. Lawrence Paper Preferred

Spends Vacation Surveying Land

(By The Canadian Press) ST. JOHN'S, Nfld., Oct. 5.—The best type of vacation, according to E. G. Buxton of London, is one which accomplishes something useful. Before returning to England, he was able to announce that he had made a topographical survey of 20 square miles of land hitherto unsurveyed.

The tract was between the junction of the Colinet Road with the Placentia Road and his maps were placed at the disposal of the Department of Natural Resources. Mr. Buxton was attracted to Newfoundland land by an article in the London Evening Standard. He will return next summer on another vacation to resume his work.

MINIMUM WAGE SCALE ON PULPWOOD OPERATIONS

(C. P. By Guardian's Special Wire) SAINT JOHN, N.B., Oct. 5.—The New Brunswick Forest Operations Commission, meeting in Saint John, at the home of the chairman, Mr. Justice W. C. Grimmer, fixed the minimum wage scale for workers on pulpwood operations in New Brunswick at the same rates as applied to those working on the long lumber operations—$32 a month net. Some doubt had existed, since the mining wage scale set in the spring by the commission to apply to sap-peeled pulpwood operations was less than that for long lumber work. By the commission's action today the scale of wages on any pulpwood operations was brought up to that on long lumber work.

GRAND CIRCUIT

(A. P. by Guardian's Special Wire) LEXINGTON, Ky., Oct. 4.—The 1934 Grand Circuit season came to a close here today with the wind-up of the 62nd annual meeting of the Kentucky Trotting Horse Breeders Association. The feature event proved to be the 14-Trot in which David Thornton owned by Bell and Davis of Columbus defeated Dr. A. O. Taylor's Angel Child. David Thornton lowered the season's record for trotting gelding to 2:01 1-2.

(C. P. Cable) (By Guardian's Special Wire) BRIDGETOWN, Barbados, Oct. 4.—A spill on the home stretch brought down three cyclists well placed in the 15-mile marathon here today. A. C. Charles of Trinidad won the race while Chung Browne of Trinidad, J. D. Douglas of Barbados, and Barnet of British Guiana, were sprawling on the track. ## The SNAPSHOT GUILD INSIDE THE HOUSE

Light for this living-room shot came from broad windows at the right. The day was almost dull but the camera got every detail in an exposure of only a few seconds. Stairways almost always have rich picture possibilities. The stairs shown here have an unusual twist, which was capitalized by the snapshotter. But even the most "ordinary" of stairs can be made to give you striking and memorable pictures. All you need is a watchful eye and a handy camera.

If you've put off taking pictures of the inside of your home because of a vague notion that such pictures are difficult, banish that notion and get out your camera. Here are a few pointers that may help you in your first shots. In the first place, you will need to make time exposures. And for successful time exposures the camera must be absolutely steady. Use a tripod, if you have one, or mount the camera on some substantial support such as a table. Too, the camera must be level; otherwise corners and doors and windows will not be properly straight up and down. It is a good idea to place your camera so that you get only a little of the ceiling in the view-finder. There's more of interest nearer the floor.

The secret of success in indoor pictures lies in controlling the light reaching the various parts of the room to be pictured. To begin with, never point your camera directly at the window or door through which the greatest amount of light is coming. Keep the light behind or to the side of the camera. If, as sometimes happens, a sunny window is in a particular part of the house you want to take, you can eliminate sun-glare by a very simple trick. Pull the shade of that particular window clear down and keep it down for an exposure long enough to give you the other features and details. Then, close the shutter and run the shade up to its normal position. Now, go back to the camera and, without changing the film or the camera's position, open the shutter again for a half second longer. It's a good idea to use a very small lens stop in taking indoor pictures, because you want detail in everything. Focus on a point about half-way between the camera and the far side of the room, then, when the lens is stopped down you will find that practically everything is in sharp focus. Avoid including large pieces of furniture in the foreground, lest they take up more space in the picture than they deserve. Watch out for distracting reflections in mirrors or glass covered pictures. By putting a small wad of paper under one corner of a picture, thereby changing the angle of the glass, you can usually get rid of a reflection. Exposure time will vary, of course, with the brilliance of the daylight and the degree to which the walls reflect light. On a bright day, pictures in a predominantly light colored room can be taken with an exposure of five or ten seconds. On dull days, in dark rooms having only one window, you will need as much as five minutes, with the lens at f.16. If you've never tried interiors, you'll find them plenty of fun and the results will surprise you with their excellence. JOHN VAN GUILDER
