Increasing Need For R.C.A.F. Recruits
With the stepping up of the large-scale bomber attacks on the Axis countries, there is an ever-growing need for more and more qualified aircrew. The huge bombers now being used, Short Sterlings, Halifaxes and Lancasters, carry larger crews and consequently need more men than ever before. The crew of the Short Sterling, for instance, is composed of eight men: Captain, 2nd Pilot, Flight Engineer, Observer, Navigator, Wireless Operator, Air Gunner-Bomber Aimer and two Air Gunners. To operate this colossal, including air crew and ground crew, a total of fifty personnel is necessary. In addition to the aircrew previously named, a meteorological officer is required, an R.C.A.F. (W.D.) parachute packer, a flying control officer, a flight maintenance crew (numbering 12) a ground servicing crew (numbering 18), a bombing-up team (numbering 11), a bomber tractor crew, an oil bowser driver, and a gas bowser driver and helmer.

On the whole, however, the most urgent need is for men who are qualified to act as aircrew proper.

In addition the responsibilities of many ground trades can be taken over by the women. The job they are doing is a good job, well done. They enlisted at woman means the release of an airman for aircrew duties. Women are needed in dozens of trades such as, meteorological observer, equipment assistant, operations room clerk, cook, stenographer, general filling etc. and general duties.

The Mobile Recruiting Unit from this Centre will be in Charlottetown at the Armories on September 30, from 10 a.m. to 9 a.m., and on October 1, from 10 a.m. to 8 a.m. The first day will be for men applicants only, whereas the second day will be devoted to applicants for the Women's Division.

Investia said, the Germans were making fortresses of every building taken, and that driving them out is an operation of greatest hazard. One four-story house, the newspaper said, was recaptured despite the defence by 200 men, most of them automatic riflemen.

Documents taken from prisoners testified to the mounting German losses. A prisoner of the 76th German division said that only one-fifth of the officers and non-commissioned officers of several regiments survived. The notebook of a medical officer of a tank division said that almost all the 200 men of his company had been lost in the fighting up to Sept. 19.

War—25 Years Ago Today
SEPT. 26, 1917—Australians repulsed counter-attacks east of Polygon Wood in Ypres salient. It was the last day of the battle as the Australians improved their positions on Monte San Gabriele, taking some prisoners. German airmen made scattered raids on English counties of Suffolk, Essex and Kent.

We'll Make It SMALLER For the BIGGEST Job!

DOSCO does not build ships, yet Dosco plays a tremendously important part in our country's shipbuilding program—one of Canada's vital contributions to the Allied cause.

Ship-plate for ships: that is the constant cry from great Canadian ship builders. And Dosco—one of Canada's largest industries—gives all such demands the green light. Daily, we pour tons of steel—daily, tons of ship-plate roll forth to become cargo vessel, or corvette—daily, more Dosco steel is afloat on the waters of the earth.

Ship-plate is but one of the war matériels within the scope of Dosco's vast resources. And it will play its part in transporting Dosco shell-cases and gun-mountings. Steel! That's our regular business; but today we have, as well, a very special business—doing everything and producing everything we can to help win a war.

Dutch Naval Attache On Visit Here

Captain J. Blaauwer, Assistant Naval Attache of the Netherlands Legation at Washington is spending a few days holiday on Prince Edward Island. This is his first visit to the Province and he decided to come here after looking over one of our Tourist booklets which mention in an office in Washington. Previous to the outbreak of war Captain Blaauwer was in command of various steamers in the Dutch East Indies and other parts of the South West Pacific. He has been in almost every large port in the world. For a good many years his headquarters were in Java which is a small country with a population of over forty millions of people. Java is rich in natural resources such as coffee, rubber, oil, tin, rice, etc. Previous to the Japanese occupation most of the large plants were destroyed. At the time Holland was invaded he was in Italy but managed to get to the United States. It is now over a year since he has had any word of his family.

Owing to the fact that "Anne of Green Gables" the beautiful story written by Lucy Maud Montgomery was translated to the Dutch language and widely sold in Holland Captain Blaauwer is well acquainted with this story and expressed a desire to visit the old home and country which inspired

THE BAPTIST CHURCH
The morning sermon by the Rev. I. Judson Levy was "A Positive Faith". In the Gospel of Saint John 9:25, we read "whether he be a sinner or no, I know not; one thing I know, that whereas I was blind now I see." This man had listened to questions about Jesus, who? whence? what is his source of power? His answer brushed aside the unessential with the positive faith, "one thing I know."

Our century is one of doubts. It has been described as "a question mark on the warpath." Dr. Peirce in an address to young people said once begin your days with "I believe." We know that the Son of God has come, we know that we have passed from death unto life. We know that God is, we know that God revealed himself through Jesus. We know that they who accept Him pass into new life forever. He has brought life and light, he has transformed and remade. No other ever made his impress on humanity. He only, has expressed truly to us forever more the heart and character of God.

The morning sermon was "The O Come ye servants of the Lord." The evening sermon was the third in a series on "Attitudes toward Jesus," with the subject "Jesus as God saw Him." Handel's "O Lord we trust alone in Thee" was the evening anthem. Large congregations were present morning and evening. It was indicated that next Sunday, October 14th, would be Rally Day in church and church school and the widest cooperation by all was urged.
