Today's By-Election

Today's Federal by-election in Nicolet-Yamaska, Quebec, is a three-way contest for the seat made vacant in the House of Commons by the recent death of Mr. Lucien Dubois, who represented the constituency as a Liberal since 1930.

The constituency is one which never elected a Conservative. In 1945, it gave two rival Liberal candidates 14,631 votes between them, and only 944 to the lone Progressive Conservative, who also carried the label "Independent" to attract support.

Nicolet-Yamaska will be the 17th. contested federal by-election since the Liberal Government was returned to office in mid-1945. In the 16 contests held to date, the Liberal Party lost no fewer than five of the seats it won in 1945, and has made one gain, its margin in the House being thus reduced by four.

The total scores of the two major parties, and the two chief groups in the whole 16 contests were Liberals 8, Progressive Conservatives 4, C.C.F.-ers 3, Social Crediters 1. Of the eight Liberal wins, four were of no significance because they were merely cabinet minister returns for seats previously held by the Government.

The Progressive Conservative victories were Toronto-Parkdale, where their 1,607 margin in 1945 was reduced to 533; Portage la Prairie, Manitoba, where a Liberal plurality of 1,857 was converted into a Conservative lead of 668; Digby-Annapolis-Kings, Nova Scotia, where Rt. Hon. J. L. Ilsley's plurality of 4,577 was wiped out by Mr. George C. Nowlan, whose by-election lead exceeded 1,500; and Carleton, Ont., which returned Hon. George Drew with a record majority. The three C.C.F. wins were Yule, B. C., from the Progressive Conservatives, and Vancouver Centre and the riding of Ontario from the Liberals.

All parties and groups therefore except the Liberals have improved their positions in Parliament as a result of the whole by-election score to date. Today, however, the Liberals may be successful in turning back the latest attempt to further pare the Government's narrow majority in the House of Commons.

Conservation

Much has been learned and great progress has been made in soil and water conservation on the Prairies since the P. F. R. A. began work in 1935; but much more remains to be done, and the Agricultural Institute of Canada is currently urging upon the Federal and provincial governments a co-ordinated effort to push forward conservation work in Canada.

What the Institute wants is the co-ordination of all conservation measures across the country into a national soil and water conservation programme, with a national conservation council to devise policy, and appointment of a Dominion co-ordinator in the federal department of agriculture to direct national aspects of the programme.

The institute suggests that the Provinces, in which control of these resources is vested, be asked to provide the legislation, administrative organization, and educational services necessary to carry out such an over-all scheme, which will be built up on the present principle of local self help by farmers.

The dry summer and fall last year has aroused speculation both here and in the U. S. as to whether another period of low moisture levels is in prospect. If we are at the beginning of a new dry cycle, the representations of the Agricultural Institute are more than timely. The Institute thinks an over-all national conservation programme is needed in any case.

An Old Stalin Custom

Mr. Stalin has again been answering questions left in the post box inside the Kremlin gate by a Moscow correspondent.

This, comments the Ottawa Journal, is an old Stalin custom. He has now answered questions sent him over the past three or four years by the Associated Press, the United Press, European news agencies and the Hearst International News Service.

No change in Soviet policy ever followed Mr. Stalin's other statements; the same old aggression and aggrandizement invariably continued after professed desire for co-operation.

In the circumstances, what hope can exist for improvement because of this latest statement, one of the most qualified that Stalin has issued? What hope, seeing that Stalin's latest is accompanied by two revelations of the true Soviet temper? On the very day that Stalin was penning his reply to the International News—"No objection" to a meeting with Truman—the Kremlin was blasting the Atlantic Security Alliance, the while giving blunt hint to Norway that she had better not join it.

When Stalin wants peace — peace with justice and decency — he will not approach the West through the medium of some news agency. He will come, as he has ample facilities for coming, through appropriate diplomatic channels. Until that time, until Stalin matches talk and so-called "peace offensives" with action, the democracies had better beware him.

Encouraging Report

Elsewhere in today's issue appears a very encouraging report of the past year's activities of the Maritime Life Insurance Company, which shows the company to be in a sound and healthy condition, looking forward to greater operations and continued service. This is a matter of general Maritime interest, inasmuch as it is the only life insurance company which has its head office in these Provinces.

The report marks the completion of a quarter century of expanding operation, with business in force now amounting to thirty-seven and a quarter million dollars. This represents a valuable contribution to the economic life of the Maritime Provinces.

EDITORIAL NOTES

The proposed Workmen's Compensation Act will find support in principle from all sides. The toll of accidents to workmen falls heavily on the comparatively few, frequently without any fault on their part.

Pappy Day went over big this last year. The Canadian Legion's national poppy organizing committee reports that receipts of last year's campaign were enough to provide $295,000 for poppy relief funds and veteran shops. The committee said poppy sales showed "a considerable increase" over previous years.

This is White Cane Week, so designated by the Canadian Council of the Blind and the Canadian National Institute for the Blind. In this Province, perhaps because of our lack of industrialization, the number of blind people is fortunately small. It would be most unfair to ignore those we have because of that.

The resolution of the Canadian Horticultural Council urging that the Federal Government "make a comprehensive study of the utilization of potatoes for alcohol and glucose" is of the greatest importance to our farmers. An alternative market for surplus potatoes would go far to prevent disastrous price breaks in big crop years.

More Land Devoted to Food Production.—The amount of land to come under the plough in Britain this year will show a big increase. This is indicated by the Ministry of Agriculture's forecast of acreage to be devoted to food production during the coming twelve months. It is expected to total about 11,000,000 acres compared with 10,651,000 last year.

The statement by Hon. Paul Martin, federal minister of national health and welfare, that the federal government is matching dollar for dollar the cost of hospital construction in the provinces has caused some surprise in governmental circles in Quebec, though why is not explained. Mr. Martin said that aid totalling $737,000 has been granted two Montreal hospitals, the St. Joseph Sanatorium $563,000 and the St. Joseph Hospital for Convalescents, 173,599. Since St. Joseph Sanatorium will contain approximately 450 beds and the total cost $4,900,000 and the St. Joseph Hospital will have an additional 120 beds, and the cost per bed is about $10,000. This means dollar for dollar, Quebec will have to cough up $5,000,000.

Charles Dickens, English novelist, born this date 1812. Was a newspaperman turned storyteller. His novels and tales of old-time English life and characters are inimitable. Dickens has done more to keep the Christmas spirit alive and active than possibly any other writer. He began the production of The Pickwick Papers, periodical numbers in 1836, and practically the whole of England fell under the sway of Pickwick. This work was followed by Oliver Twist, Nicholas Nickleby, Old Curiosity Shop, Barnaby Rudge, Martin Chuzzlewit, A Christmas Carol, Dombey & Son, David Copperfield, Bleak House, Tale of Two Cities, Great Expectations, Our Mutual Friend, Edwin Drood. He is recognized one of the greatest realists in picturing with inexhaustible truth and detail, the surroundings and conditions of life in his time, his genius is essentially humorous and fantastic. "The words she spoke of Mrs. Harris, lambs could not forgive... nor worms forget."

Cost of living came down a decimal or two just before the recent by-elections. Now that these are over, there is a swing-back of the pendulum. We will probably have to wait until the approach of the general election before being advised that prices are slumping. Meantime almost everything that is not controlled shows a tendency to rise. The intelligence of the voter is the basis and the hope of anything calling itself democratic government. And if the voter is intelligent, he must be capable of realizing that the money which the government may give him in a handout, is, upon examination, very much like the money which the government extracted from him as taxes from results of his earnings. More than this, though much is taken, little is returned. Crumbs are given in return for the bread taken. The rest is lost in the handling which is the cost of living.

MY COUSIN LOONEY, (HE'S THE SCHOLARLY TYPE), REPLIES TO THE HEALTH MINISTER - "WE CAN LIVE TO-DAY AND STAY SANE - THINGS ARE NOT AS THEY WOULD SEEM."

Cartoon by J.C. Ruff. A man in a suit (Cousin Looney) stands on a platform, speaking to a crowd. He holds a sign that says "ON TAXES THE HALF MY SALARY THAT GOES TO THE GOVERNMENT IS OKAY - DIDN'T THEY SAY THEY COULD HANDLE IT BETTER THAN I'D KNOW HOW? AND IMAGINE THEM TRYING TO BUY AN A-BOMB, OR EVEN A JET WITH MY MONEY. A WAR SPENDING SPREE? RIDICULOUS!!". He points to a man in a military uniform (Health Minister) who is holding a sign that says "ON COST OF LIVING IF YOU MUST KEEP UP, YOU MIGHT TRY LIVING HIGH ON A PAIR OF STILTS - ENDING IT ALL IS NO SOLUTION - COST-OF-LIVING IS UP TOO!!". The man in the military uniform is also holding a sign that says "ON WAR THREAT RELAX, GENTLE READER DON'T WE HAVE THE WORD OF THAT PUBLICLY CONSCIOUS POLITICIAN, T. BLOWHARD ADDEBRANE, FRIEND OF THE BILIOUS MILLIONAIRE AND CHAMPION OF EVERY PROFITABLE CAUSE - 'MY PLAN IS HASTILY TURNING OUT DEFENCE EQUIPMENT WE'LL MAKE A BIGGER AND BETTER ATOM BOMB! FAH! ONE HEARS OF THOSE TO DESTROY CITIES AND STATES - THE ADDEBRANE BOMB WILL DESTROY THE WHOLE WORLD!'". The man in the military uniform is also holding a sign that says "ON INADEQUATE HOUSING THIS CAN BE REMEDIED, THE GOVERNMENT HAS UNHEARD-OF POWER WHEN FACED WITH AN ULTIMATUM. WE CAN REFUSE TO MARRY AND HAVE CHILDREN - THEN, WITH NO POPULATION, WHERE WILL THE GOV'T. GET TAXES?".
