THIS EVENING'S BALL GAME

A wind-up and a finger flip—a streak of something gray—A baseball or a bullet? But there isn't one to say; The batter sees the motion and he's ready for his bling. But it's awful hard to hit 'em when you only hear 'em sing. A wind-up and a follow-through—a ghost of something white! The batter's eyes are popping, but there's not a thing in sight. He sees the final motion, and he's all set for his hit, But it's pretty hard to sock 'em when they're in the catcher's mitt.

This evening's City League fixture between the Anchors and Rovers has all the earmarks of a hectic contest. If the Rovers annex the issue tonight they have a chance to tie up the first section of the League providing the Stars lose their remaining two games. Each team has played four games with two to go in the present section. If the Anchors take the north end crew into camp, it will then be a fight between them and the Stars. At all events the thousands who attend to-night's fixture are promised baseball par excellence. The present standing of the teams is as follows:

Stars	Won	Lost	T-Play	P-Cent
Stars	3	1	2	.750
Anchors	2	2	2	.500
Rovers	1	3	2	.250

GIRL'S TRACK MEET JUNE 19

The first women's Maritime amateur field and track championships will be held June 19th, this coming Saturday, on the Allison grounds, Saint John, under the auspices of the Saint John Y. W. C. A. It is expected that Halifax, Saint John, Moncton, Amherst, Charlottetown and other towns and cities throughout the Maritimes will be represented.

A number of local girls representing this city are expected to compete, and according to "Dams Rumor" will give a good account of themselves.

It is not known definitely the full personnel of the team, but it is expected that the Misses M. Macdigan, Viola Benoit, Viola Mullen and Isabel Trainor are among those entered in the different events which are as follows:

50 yard dash, 100 yard dash, 200 yard dash, hurdles, 60 yards, four hurdles; running high jump; standing broad jump; running broad jump, shot put, six pounds; basketball throw, 660 yard relay race in 220 yards, 110 yards, 220 yards and 110 yards.

As the track and field championships will be the first Maritime Provincials meet for women held under official auspices the results will be officially registered, each winner will make a record and consequently will enjoy the distinction of being a Maritime champion for the ensuing year.

Now girls, let's see you take a few Maritime records to Charlotte-town!

MARITIME INTERSCHOLASTIC MEET

One week after the above Meet the Maritime interscholastic meet will take place, June 26th, in Moncton when schools from all over will take part.

Queen Square and West Kent schools have a fine representation this year and undoubtedly will measure up with any school boys competing in the lower provinces. Among those in training from the two schools are: West Kent—F. Hall, P. Cameron, D. Finlayson and D. Grant.

Queen Square—A. Gormley, E. Hornby, L. Doyle and L. Duffy. These boys are hard at work every day conditioning and training in preparation for this coming track and field competition, and judging by some of the times clocked and distances made in the practices, other school athletes in the Maritimes had better look to their laurels.

As the date is yet two weeks hence, the boys would appreciate the rolling of the local track and some other necessary work done in order to complete their training. The boys state the track is quite lumpy and needs a few of the rough edges taken off.

INTERSCHOLASTIC BASEBALL

West Kent and Queen Square are again arranging a schedule of games to be played for the local school championship, the winners playing off with Summerside for the Island title. These games in the past have created no little interest and it is hoped that quite a following will patronize the schools' endeavors this year.

WHY NOT TRY TO KEEP THEM HERE

It is difficult to chide any athlete nowadays for capitalizing his powers and talent, and Johnny C. Miles of Sydney (N. S.), the brightest Marathoner of them all, is only following the example of hundreds of Canadian athletic youths who have bettered themselves by migrating to the United States.

It seems unfortunate, however, that Canada cannot provide positions and occupations adaptable to its star athletes and of sufficient remuneration to keep them in the Dominion.

Miles' sincere religious eloquence alone, as illustrated by his orations in Boston churches after he won the big race there, should have enabled him to make his way to a high position in Canadian ministry, particularly since the class of athletic preacher of which Canada was justly proud has dwindled down through death and promotion in the ranks of the clergy, to almost nothing.

And outside of that there seems to be many ways in which a bright energetic worker as Miles seems to be, could be used in Canadian commercial positions that would promise quick and substantial advancement.

IS JOHNNY OVERDOING IT?

Yesterday morning's despatches tell us that John Miles collapsed an eighth of a mile from the tape when pushing Stenroos the Finn for first place in the Melrose ten mile marathon.

The Finn and DeMar haven't been doing much running since the Boston Marathon and consequently seemed to be in better physical condition than Miles, especially Stenroos in the Melrose race. On the other hand the Sydney youth has been practically running his young head off since winning the big marathon at Boston. The question arises, is John Miles overdoing the long distance game? Is he burning himself out in order to please the present worshippers of running and the public in general? A runner of his youth may have the heart to stand the pace, but will the tissues making up the other parts of his wonderful body break under the strain.

The Melrose race is Johnny's first warning from nature and it had better be heeded, for when the tumult and the shouting dies, the same John Miles will be sadly forgotten in the crowding of a future champion. It's a hard experience and a bitter re-awakening for any world-beater, no matter what line of athletic endeavor he happens to scintillate in.

Stenroos and DeMar, veteran marathoners have been running since Miles wore rompers and are still winning world recognition at the game. These famous athletes have never over-stepped the mark, neither have their heads been turned in the score or more years listening to the plaudits of the multitude. They attended strictly to the business of running and are running still.

Johnny's head may not be turned, far be it for me to say, but the human frame can only stand so much and no more, and if over-worked only chaos can result.

FINNISH ENDURANCE

Charlie Hoff, Norwegian record smasher and world's champion pole vaulter, says many people have wondered why so many wonderful runners come from that one little country, Finland. Hoff says he thinks it is easily explained. The Finns live farther away from modern civilization than we do; in other words they are more natural than we, and they are the offspring of a sound race. The Finn's energy is famous, and the vigor with which he exerts himself has set himself a goal is enormous.

Of course the Finns have used other methods than those of other people for long distance training. They must have used principles rather unknown to others. One might think that their training is very complicated, and that they invent and use details which other people overlook, but that is not the case. The training of a Finnish long distance runner is very simple, but the feature of this training which brings about such wonderful results is that it is very thorough.

A Finn does not know the word comfort when he is training. If he goes in for a thing he does it thoroughly; he gives up all his comforts and pleasures. The satisfaction of seeing himself getting in better form day by day is a greater one to him than any other.

A Finn knows the importance of quick movements, even for a long distance runner. While other long distance runners use the method of running around and around on the track all the time they are training, a Finn may train for short distances as eagerly as a sprinter, because he knows that short distance training can also be endurance training when done intensively.

City Baseball League

The seventh game in the City Baseball League will take place this evening at the Abegweit grounds between the Anchors and Rovers and promises to be one of the best so far played, as the Rovers are going out to win in order to keep in the running of the first section and say that they can duplicate the feat of the previous tilt, when they marched off the field with a 5 to 1 victory tucked under their belts.

On the other hand the Anchors are going to try hard to come up on even footing with their old rivals the Stars, so that all in all it has a most promising outlook of a hard fought contest.

Owing to the expense of keeping sufficient baseball outfits on the diamond to keep the game running smoothly the players have been anxious to see the fans do their part in attending to the collection end of it and have requested a little deeper dip of the wherewith to meet these expenses, which is a good idea.

Again in making such a request they should not forget that a little more baseball for the extra dip would not go astray.

Six or seven innings of baseball does not prove the worth of the competing players, and is not a satisfactory way of playing the game, when one evening a game goes nine innings and in the next game to be called at the end of the sixth, both games starting approximately at the same hour, there must be some delays that could be livened up a bit to give the fans a little more baseball and then there should be no question as to the extra dip for the coin.
